Fiscal Year 2024 Annual Action Plan

Public Comments

The City will consider comments and views expressed by residents, public agencies, and other interested parties either in writing or orally at public meetings. In each 5-Year Consolidated Plan, Annual Action Plan, CAPER, substantial amendment or Citizen Participation Plan submitted to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD), the City will provide as an attachment all written communications received and a summary of each oral comment during the applicable 30-day public review period; the City's subsequent action; and the reasons for non-action, if none was taken. This information will also be made available to the public as part of the final document.

Following are the questions and comments received on the Draft Fiscal Year (FY) 2024 Annual Action Plan (AAP). Responses were provided by staff, where warranted. Public Comments and Staff Responses

Following are the oral comments provided by members of the public, the City Council and the Consolidated Plan Advisory Board (CPAB) during the three public meetings for the Draft FY 2024 Annual Action Plan. Where warranted, the response from staff follows the comment.

April 12, 2023 – Economic Development and Intergovernmental Relations (ED&IR) Committee Meeting

On April 12, 2023, the ED&IR Committee forwarded the FY 2024 Annual Action Plan to the City Council with a recommendation to approve.

Office of the Independent Budget Analyst (IBA)

Nicky Benner, IBA, noted the difference between FY23 and FY24. In FY23 there was a $1 million CDBG allocation provided to the homelessness response center and in FY24 there is no CDBG allocation to the homelessness response center. The IBA's office acknowledged the City is continuing the program with other funding sources.

Councilmember Comments

Council President Pro Tem Monica Montgomery Steppe, District 4

Council President Pro Tem noted that the Annual Action Plan public comment period ends May 4th, it's coming to Council before comment period closes, and asked why.

Staff Response: Christina Bibler, Director, Economic Development Department, commented that it is a matter of timing, as there usually isn't a Council date scheduled in a timely fashion for the matter to be heard prior to the Action Plan submittal deadline to HUD. Even if a public comment is received after the Council meeting, it will still be recorded in the final version that goes to HUD.

Council President Pro Tem Montgomery Steppe asked if the 20% admin cost is standard.

Staff Response: Christina Bibler, Director, Economic Development Department, stated that the 20% admin cost is the regulatory cap for CDBG funding. CDBG has a high labor intensity for administration and monitoring, and it's also where we include our consultants. In the times of COVID we shored it down to 15%. She stated we will continue to watch those costs. The goal is to have what we need to make sure the funds are deployed appropriately.

Additional staff response (not stated during the council meeting): It is important to note that administrative funds are used not only for staff salaries and supplies, but also training, publication of notices and collateral material for community outreach. These admin funds pay for consultants to lead or assist with efforts like the Nonprofit Accelerator, Consolidated Planning Community Engagement and Needs Assessments, and the City's Fair Housing Program, which includes a hotline, enforcement efforts, and educational workshops.

Council President Pro Tem Montgomery Steppe noted that Southwestern Community College would receive funding- is it within the boundaries of the City of San Diego or does the proposed program serve only City of San Diego residents?

Staff Response: Michele Marano, Community Development Coordinator, Economic Development Department, stated that the program is serving City of San Diego residents. Christina Bibler added that when we partner with an organization outside of City boundaries, CDBG funds only go towards city residents and the organization is required to report on it.

Council President Pro Tem Montgomery Steppe asked if a partner has been selected yet for the nonprofit accelerator capacity building program.

Staff Response: Christina Bibler, Director, Economic Development Department, said a partner has not been selected yet. Economic Development is working with the Office of Race and Equity on background to identify a partner. Economic Development has also identified the accelerator piece as important instead of just the academy.

Council President Pro Tem Montgomery Steppe noted that she will be reaching out about the JFK park project, as she wants to see it get off the ground.

Councilmember Kent Lee, District 6

Councilmember Lee stated that he was curious about the 54 initial organizations that expressed an interest, and why it whittled down to 27. He asked why there is such a high drop off rate.

Staff Response: Michele Marano, Community Development Coordinator, Economic Development Department, said there are standard reasons for organizations dropping off, between RFQ and RFP, for example, many are disqualified because they don't have audited financial statements. Of the proposals from the 45 qualified organizations, some fell off because they didn't provide required materials (such as, SAM.gov registration, etc.). Also, there was an organization that proposed an activity that did not fall within HUD eligibility guidelines. To ensure organizations have the resources they need to successfully complete grant applications, we hold workshops and provide multiple technical assistance appointments. That's also why we're recommending the nonprofit accelerator program.

Councilmember Lee stated that he's applied for CDBG funding before, and it can be extremely challenging. When he saw 31 received almost full funding for what was requested, he wondered whether the excess dollars will be carried over to the nonprofit accelerator academy.

Staff Response: Michele Marano, Community Development Coordinator, Economic Development Department, confirmed the accelerator program will be funded through admin funds, and then once the nonprofit organization completes the accelerator, additional CDBG funds will be granted to the nonprofit organizations in the categories of Public Service, Economic Development or Facility Improvements.

Councilmember Lee said it feels like we should be seeking additional applicants, when everyone is funded in full it makes it different. He'd like to see more organizations be qualified in the future.

Staff Response: Christina Bibler, Director, Economic Development Department, said prior to COVID-19 the goal was to get new nonprofits and get them federally ready. We're finally at the point where we are able to resume that work, we've seen a few come in now that are new and looking to find funding.

Councilmember Raul Campillo, District 7

Councilmember Campillo thanked staff and stated CDBG funds are one of the most complicated funding sources legally and financially but, stated CDBG and HOME funds are critical.

Public Comments

Joy Sunyata thanked staff and expressed support for the Action Plan. She stated that she didn't like the first pie chart, showing 20% for administrative services, which seemed too high. She provided a general overview of HUD relationship, knows it's a rocky relationship and lately it seems rocky. Too many cooks in the kitchen.

Staff Response: Please see prior response related to the 20% CDBG administration cap.

Blair Beakman commented on the importance of mixed-income housing ideas. 2029 is when it's mandated to be in effect in California, but he hopes it can be earlier. Bringing together income levels and bringing in Tijuana would be helpful. Couple Tijuana with the work we do, it would be a helpful relationship for the future.

Consolidated Plan Advisory Board (CPAB) Meeting on April 12, 2022

On April 12, 2023, the Consolidated Plan Advisory Board voted to send the FY 2024 Annual Action Plan to the City Council with a recommendation to approve.

CPAB Member Yegin Chen

CPAB Member Yegin Chen thanked the Housing Commission for attending and asked if the prior year's HOME funds had been expended.

Staff Response: Jessica Adamo, Housing Programs Manager, San Diego Housing Commission, answered that they had not, that the program was set for multiple years of funding and that there was a large amount of program income. HUD requires grantees to draw down program income first. For the Housing Commission, that amount ranges from 3-5 million dollars annually. They also noted that construction can take a while to draw down funds, so certain funds have been committed but not wholly spent.

CPAB Member Yegin Chen asked how the loans work.

Staff Response: Jessica Adamo, Housing Programs Manager, San Diego Housing Commission, replied that 75% of a project is funded at escrow close, once the project is 50% complete, 10% more goes out. Then once a project is complete, an additional 10% is paid. Once the loan is converted to a permanent loan, the final 5% is paid, so it takes a while for payment to go out. The $20 million reflected in the action plan is already committed, but not expended yet.

CPAB Member Yegin Chen asked at what point the money is financed back to the City.

Staff Response: Jessica Adamo, Housing Programs Manager, San Diego Housing Commission, replied that sometimes the projects don't generate a lot of cash flow, so only a percentage goes back as a repayment. When funds are repaid, it's documented as program income.

CPAB Member Victoria Barba

CPAB member Victoria Barba noted that regarding CIP's, bids came back higher than anticipated. She asked since they aren't all funded at once, how much wasn't used? Also, did the increase in costs happen because it took a long time to fund the project, or did the bids come back higher than anticipated?

Staff Response: Michele Marano, Community Development Coordinator, Economic Development Department, said the bids came back higher than expected and introduced

Capital Improvement Projects Community Development Specialist, Alicia Martinez-Higgs who clarified that costs for construction are skyrocketing, so they are seeking additional CDBG funds for the projects.

CPAB member Victoria Barba asked how long they were in the bidding process for.

Staff Response: Alicia Martinez-Higgs, Capital Improvement Projects Community Development Specialist, Economic Development Department, said it varied, one project (John F. Kennedy Neighborhood Park Improvement) was from FY22, University Avenue Complete Street was from FY20 and Coral Gate is a brand-new project. They are trying to move quickly. She noted once July 1st comes, they are entering a contract process with Parks & Rec.

CPAB Member Peter Dennehy

CPAB member Peter Dennehy asked if there had been any relief in construction costs yet.

Staff Response: Alicia Martinez-Higgs, Capital Improvement Projects Community Development Specialist, Economic Development Department, said there has been no relief, and that's why the Economic Development Department is pushing projects to have leveraged funds. The Department extended FY20 and FY21 projects due to COVID-19, but that is not the norm. Materials are still taking longer than expected so EDD specifically looks for shovel-ready projects so that costs will not increase due to a delay.

CPAB Member Abena Bradford

CPAB member Abena Bradford asked who the capacity building funds are for, already approved projects or non-profits that are potential CDBG applicants. She also asked if the entitlement funds are related to the gap (overage) in funding that was identified.

Staff Response: Michele Marano, Community Development Coordinator, Economic Development, confirmed that, in the categories where there are excess funds, those funds will be made available for grants to nonprofits who successful complete the nonprofit accelerator program. It is anticipated the nonprofit accelerator program will last six months and help nonprofits become ready to receive future money. The goal is to develop a competitive and transparent process for nonprofits to apply to be a part of the program, however, there is a cohort cap for public service-related proposals due to the 15% CDBG regulator cap on public service projects.

City Council meeting on April 24, 2022

On April 24, 2023, the City Council unanimously approved the FY 2024 Annual Action Plan.

Public Comments

Community Member Truth stated that one million in federal debt dollars will be wasted on the U.S. Department of Transportation's street plan for University Avenue, three roundabouts, a new median, and wider sidewalks. Everything to disincentivize driving because of this [money]. They commented that it is interesting that the City of San Diego shelter program has no idea of a location for an emergency shelter or even the number of units. Because there's $531,000 in debt dollars waiting to be scooped up. The Bridge to Home program will spend $8.3 million in debt dollars, and we also have $7 million for the HOME program, and $15 million in CDBG funds. Truth stated that the Consolidated Plan only received input from 344 people, only 0.001% of the 3.2 million people here.

Community Member Lori Saldana commented that she thinks the recommendations and programs are good, especially a Day Center program for adults to provide them with safe places to go, escape the elements and provide services. We desperately need that. The question is, these are anticipated funds as we still haven't seen the final distribution. She mentioned earlier that we had seen zero funds from a competitive program (Continuum of Care Competition for Unsheltered and Rural Homelessness Assistance Awards). She thinks it would be worth the Council investigating why the City of San Diego received zero dollars from that program. The CDBG funds are essential, she sees a lot of programs that have continued over the years and rely on the funding, but we're losing ground on homelessness and housing. So, since it is a crisis and the Mayor and Council continue to stress that it is a crisis, if it is a priority why did the City get zero dollars in the competitive Continuum of Care Competition. Los Angeles got $60 million, San Jose and Santa Clara received over $11 million. They are putting it to work on rental assistance and things San Diego desperately needs as well. She realizes many on the council were in Washington, D.C. last week, she hopes they had fruitful discussions with federal representatives, and she hopes they asked what San Diego can do better to be competitive for HUD funds.

Community Member Joy Sunyata commented on the pie chart and stated that 20% of funds to cover administration costs is not good. Council President Pro Tem Montgomery Steppe raised the same issue and asked for details. She also appreciated the Council Pro Tem raising the issue of the public comment period extending past the point where Council approves the Annual Action Plan. She stated that she does not like that public comment will be added as an addendum.

Staff response: Please see prior response related to the 20% CDBG administration cap and timing of the public comment period.

Community Member John Stump stated that maybe we should set a weight limit. Why do they need to spend the full amount of administration costs? He asked, if Council could adopt a policy that this year the City only wants to expend 19.5% on admin, then next year 19%, so that among cities our size we spend the least on administration? There must be a way to save on the 20% and to put it towards the homeless and the poor.

Community Member Blair Beakman it's his understanding that FY24 and FY25 there will be some interesting community projects in the works for California cities. They are hopeful, positive projects that he thinks people could get excited about. He thinks we need to be working on good terms to get to that space. It's important to work towards it. He's against recessionary thinking and disaster capitalism ideas. He's been in San Jose where they use HUD funds to bridge digital divide issues and it's not just bridging, it's good open public policies and working hand in hand towards a good future.

Community Member John Brady commented he didn't get to see what the line-item number was for the Neil Good Day Center, but he believes it was $531,000. He knows that Father Joe's is closer to $750,000 a year, just to maintain existing hours and services that had been cut back previously. He wants to encourage City Council to address the significant deficits in capital around that facility.

Councilmember Comments

Councilmember Kent Lee, District 6

Councilmember Lee stated that he was happy to move to adopt the staff recommendations on this item. He thanked staff for the presentation, and he wanted to thank the members of the Consolidated Plan Advisory Board. In ED&IR he spoke about the CDBG competitive grant process, with 54 applications expressing interest, and ultimately 31 projects were funded at the full request. He stated it is exciting to carry the additional funding over to the nonprofit accelerator program. He hopes to see new nonprofits applying in the future, especially if we want to equitably support our communities. He believes there are plenty of programs that would be deemed eligible with additional technical assistance and support. He's hopeful to see the results of the accelerator program.

Councilmember Joe LaCava, District 1

Councilmember LaCava thanked the Consolidated Plan Advisory and staff for their service. His memory of his time on the CPAB is of continuous improvement. He seconded the motion to approve the staff recommendations. He asked if the Day Center for Adults Experiencing Homelessness/Neil Good Day funding would allow the center to return to its normal operating hours.

Staff Response: Sarah Ferry, Assistant Deputy Director, Homelessness Strategies and Solutions Department, said the CDBG funding combined with other proposed funding would support the current program, as well as potentially adding new operating hours. The plan is to get it back to how it originally was in prior operating years.

Councilmember Marni Von Wilpert, District 5

Councilmember Von Wilpert echoed colleagues' sentiments and was glad that this funding is going to nonprofits, infrastructure projects and supportive programs. She asked about Attachment 4 in the backup materials, stating that there is not a lot of information about where the money is going for the homelessness supportive programs. It's a problem she sees across the City's homelessness programs. She stated the Paul Mirabile information was good, however, she does not believe $245,000 will actually fund 350 beds for a year.

Staff Response: Sarah Ferry, Assistant Deputy Director, Homelessness Strategies and Solutions, said that historically the interim shelter program has been supported with General Funds in addition to CDBG and ESG funds.

Councilmember von Wilpert brought up that we are allocating $500,000 to the City of San Diego Family Shelter Program but said location number of units to be determined, so she wants to know where the money is going.

Staff Response: Sarah Ferry, Assistant Deputy Director, Homelessness Strategies and Solutions Department, said the money is going towards the new shelter opening at the Travelodge site, where they will be moving the families that are currently residing at the Golden Hall shelter.

Councilmember von Wilpert stated her overall concern is how the money is actually going to be used. She is struggling to approve homelessness funding because she doesn't know where it goes but is ultimately accountable. She said she will vote for it today but in the future, she needs a better understanding of where these funds go.

Staff Response: Christina Bibler, Director, Economic Development Department, the funds in this category in coordination with the Homelessness Strategies and Solutions is a part of Council Policy 700-02. Funds support legacy programs that have been part of the Council Policy for about 8 years. With the Consolidated Planning process, there will be an opportunity to revisit the policy to determine if the funds need to be deployed in different ways, if the numbers need to change, etc. She will see recommendations from staff on how to adjust, maybe more regulations or specificity. She asked Council to keep in mind that the HUD compliance team is on point and not a dollar goes to those who don't qualify.

Councilmember von Wilpert said she understands that and is not questioning the team's sincerity but noted that the Governor of California threatened to cut homelessness funding to all major cities because it is not being tracked well, and Mayor Gloria had to go to Sacramento and ensure that did not happen to San Diego. It's hard for her to piecemeal the homelessness budgets together.

Council President Sean Elo-Rivera, District 9

Council President Elo-Rivera echoed the appreciation to the Economic Development Department for their work on the Annual Action Plan. He called out one project, approximately $1 million for University Avenue. It is one of the deadliest stretches of road in San Diego County. He can't imagine a better investment in public safety than fixing an area where people are maimed or killed.

HUD's National Guidelines allow for-profit agencies to apply for CDBG funding to administer economic development micro-enterprise support to businesses in the community. WeeCare's economic development programs provide business and technical support to childcare providers. These are some of the most important small businesses in the community, they are the foundation to a healthy workforce. Without them, many of the working families in San Diego would need to leave the workforce, costing the economy millions in lost wages, productivity and replacement costs. We urge the City Council to consider aligning with HUD's National Guidelines to allow for-profit agencies to equitably participate in the CDBG RFP process and compete for funding. Many of the childcare providers in San Diego were looking forward to this funding to help sustain their operations and grow their businesses. If you would like to learn more, please reach out to Kat Fuentes at kat@weecare.co

Staff Response: The current Consolidated Plan defines the annual competitive CDBG NOFA process, and it limits project proposals to nonprofit organizations. The upcoming Consolidated Plan update for FY 2025 through FY 2029 will be an opportunity for the public and the City Council to consider revising this policy.
