Subject: Webinars on How to Submit a Building or Land Use Violation Online and How to Apply for a Construction Noise Permit

Next week, the Development Services Department (DSD) will host two webinars to help customers navigate new, useful online tools. The interactive Zoom webinars will be facilitated by senior DSD staff and recorded for viewing online 24/7.

How to Submit a Code Violation Online

On Monday, July 17, at noon, DSD staff will demonstrate how to submit a request for investigation for Building and Land Use Code Violations using a new online tool, such as:

- Dangerous or unsafe structures.
- Discretionary Permit violations.
- Disturbance of environmental resources.
- Hoarding and storage violations.
- Inadequate barriers for swimming pools or spas.
- Leaking sewage.
- Live, exposed electrical wires.
- Uninhabitable living conditions.
- Unlicensed contractors or subcontractors, when required.
- Unpermitted businesses.
- Unpermitted construction work or grading.
- Unpermitted garage conversions.
- Unpermitted night or Sunday construction noise.
- Vacant or unsecured structures or properties.

Monday, July 17 (Noon to 1 p.m.)
