

OFFICE OF THE CITY CLERK

REPORT

TO THE GOVERNMENT EFFICIENCY AND OPENNESS COMMITTEE

DATE: July 29, 2005

REPORT NO.: CC-05-07

SUBJECT: RECORDS MANAGEMENT STATUS REPORT

ISSUE:

The Office of the City Clerk was asked by the Government Efficiency and Openness Committee to report on the status of the Records Management Program in the City. We were also asked to report on the retention policy for appointment calendars for City Councilmembers.

BACKGROUND:

The City's Records Management Program is mandated by the San Diego Municipal Code (SDMC) Article 2, Division 26. Administrative Regulation (AR) 85.10 directs the City Clerk to operate an efficient and orderly Records Center. In addition, Council Policy (CP) 000-25 assigns the various responsibilities of records management throughout the City to department heads and the City Clerk. Attachment 1 includes the above referenced SDMC Article 2, Division 26, A.R. 85.10, and Council Policy 000-25.

The City launched its Records Management Program in April 1980. The Office of the City Clerk hired qualified records personnel, established the Records Center, and assisted City departments, Council Offices, and the Mayor's Office in creating records retention and destruction guidelines, called Records Disposition Schedules (RDS). In addition, the Program utilized in-house technologies such as micrographics to transfer paper records to microfilm to save space and provide a better and easier medium to access and view requested documents. Subsequently, the City's Records Management Program was recognized nationwide. In both 1988 and 1989, the program was awarded the "William Olsten Award" for excellence in Records Management Programs. Additionally, the Program received the first International Institute of Municipal Clerks (IIMC) award for the best Records Management Program in a city with a population over 20,000.

Due to the high volume of paper records generated by various City departments, the Records Center reached maximum capacity in the early 1990s. Since that time, we have been unable to accommodate all of the departments' needs to transfer records to the Records Center. In addition, due to budget cuts, the Clerk's Office has been unable to update existing technologies or to implement new ones to address the ever increasing amount of paper records generated by the City. The Program's staff has been reduced over the years due to the City's financial hardships. In the early 1990s, the Program employed eleven (11) employees compared to the five (5) employees that we have at this time.

DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS:

The Records Management Program is mandated by the SDMC and further clarified by the City Council Policy and Administrative Regulation. The main responsibility of establishing a Records Management Program and operating an efficient Records Center is given to the City Clerk, although the responsibilities of maintaining records and ensuring they are kept and disposed of appropriately, is shared with the department heads.

It has been a challenging task to run an effective Records Management Program due to limited space in our storage rooms, and staff and budget cuts. The Records Center stores approximately 20,000 boxes in multiple storage rooms that are scattered in the basements of the City Administration Building (CAB), the Development Services Center (DSC), and the World Trade Center (WTC). In addition, 4,500 boxes are stored off-site with a private vendor. The lack of space has forced other City departments to pursue their own storage options and in some instances, to set up their own records management systems. For example, some departments utilize office space to store their records and others use private vendors.

The micrographics section of the Records Management Program is at a minimum staffing level. If more boxes could be put on microfilm, space could be freed up in the storage areas. The increasing use of technology such as imaging or expanding micrographics could play a great role in eliminating hundreds, if not thousands, of boxes from the Records Center. Many government entities across California and the United States have benefited from imaging technologies.

Recently in our efforts to revitalize the Program, our Office has been aggressively pursuing a new space for the City's records. We have been working with the Real Estate Assets Department to find a warehouse storage space to create a true Records Center. In addition, we have updated our record barcoding system to a new, up-to-date Records and Information Management System (RIMS). Working with the City Attorney's office, we also put together a General Records Disposition Schedule (GRDS).

The GRDS was passed unanimously by the City Council in November 2003. The purpose of the GRDS is to provide consistency and uniform retention policies for the records common to most departments in the City. The GRDS makes it easier for City departments to create or revise their individual schedules since these schedules will only need to include the records unique to the department. In collaboration with the offices of the City Attorney and City Manager, we have distributed an ambitious time schedule for all City departments to update their Records Disposition Schedules (Attachment 2.)

Our staff surveyed several cities across California and the United States to see what kind of programs there were in other cities. We found that many cities have established effective records management programs and invested the time, staff, and money to create such programs. For example, in the City of Phoenix, a city comparable in size to San Diego, their Records Center stores 22,000 boxes of records and they employ 116 employees in their Records Management Program.

The following are some of the benefits to having an effective Records Management Program and a centralized Records Center:

1. To comply with State law and local codes, regulations, and policies.
2. It is cost-effective to have a centralized records location. Utilizing warehouse space for storing City records is less costly than utilizing office space for the same purpose. Many department records can be transferred to the Records Center which would free up office space in those departments as well as reduce the cost of equipment used to store and maintain these records. See attachment 3 for cost comparisons.
3. It is more efficient to maintain all City records in a central location managed by knowledgeable and professional staff, whose main job duties are the maintenance, management, and disposition of records.
4. The Records Management Program's staff will ensure that department records are retained and disposed of according to the law and the respective department's Records Disposition Schedule.
5. A central location for all City records will reduce the City's liability by ensuring that records are retrieved quickly and efficiently in compliance with the State of California Public Records Act.
6. We can improve customer service: Internal and external customers will request records from a central location instead of guessing which department is keeping which records.

As a part of our efforts to review the record retention for various types of documents to create consistency, the retention of City Councilmembers' calendars was changed to two years. Prior to July 2000, the retention period for such calendars was permanent. After much research and working with the City Attorney's Office, we determined that a two year retention for Councilmembers' calendars was reasonable and is consistent with most jurisdictions in California.

SUMMARY:

The Records Management Program is mandated by the SDMC and further clarified by the Council Policy and Administrative Regulation. The City's Records Management Program was established in April 1980 and was a model nationwide. At that time, the Program was run efficiently and effectively. It had adequate budget and staffing levels, the appropriate storage space, and City departments maintained up-to-date Records Disposition Schedules.

Currently, the Program lacks adequate staffing to provide comprehensive Records Management to all City departments and the public. The Program also lacks the needed storage space to meet the ever increasing production of the City's paper records. Furthermore, the Program lacks the needed funding to utilize new technologies to provide imaging and electronic formats, which would assist in addressing the space issues.

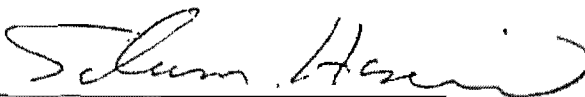

Despite all the challenges mentioned above, the Office of the City Clerk continues to provide customer service to internal and external customers at excellent levels. We continue to respond to requests under California's Public Records Act. We also provide records to City departments, members of the public, grand juries, and in response to subpoenas. All requests are responded to within the legal deadlines, if not much sooner. We believe enhancing and strengthening the Records Management Program is in the best interests of the City and will save the City money and time almost immediately. To achieve a truly efficient Records Management Program and effectively manage City's records, the following steps should be taken:

1. Restore staffing levels in the Records Management Program to previous levels.
2. Find a warehouse type of space to serve as a true Records Center for all of the City's records and provide the needed funding to operate an orderly and efficient Center.
3. Provide funding to improve existing technology and to deploy new technologies to deal with the ever increasing number of records.
4. City departments must update their Records Disposition Schedules. Despite the established timeline for updating their Records Disposition Schedules, very few City departments have completed revising their Schedules. Records Management needs to be a higher priority within City departments.

Our Office has been working to accomplish these steps. We have included the Program's budget needs in our 5 year financial forecast submitted to Financial Management earlier this year (Attachment 4.) This will help us move forward on steps 1-3 mentioned above. In collaboration with the City Attorney's and City Manager's offices, we have issued a timeline schedule for departments to update their Records Disposition Schedules by the end of 2005. We believe for our efforts to be successful, a strong commitment and support is needed from the City Council and departments' management.

SUBJECT: Records Management

This memorandum is sent to you to provide direction and guidance regarding your departments' Records Disposition Schedules (RDS).

The City of San Diego Municipal Code Article 2, Division 26 dictates the establishment of a uniform Records Management Program. The City Clerk is responsible for administering this program and assisting all City departments in matters related to records management. In addition, Council Policy 000-25 assigns the various responsibilities of records keeping to the City Clerk and department heads.

In the early 1980s, most City departments had current RDSs that addressed the maintenance, retention, and disposition of their records. Among other reasons, due to numerous reorganizations over the last decade, most departments' RDSs are obsolete. Up-to-date RDSs serve as the basis for an effective Records Management Program and the ongoing review and updating of records schedules is required by Council Policy 000-25.

In collaboration with the City Attorney's Office, the Office of the City Clerk's Records Management Program created a General Records Disposition Schedule (GRDS). The purpose of the GRDS is to provide uniform retention policies for the records common to most departments in the City. The GRDS makes it easier for City departments to create or revise their individual schedules since these will only need to include the records unique to the department. The GRDS was passed unanimously by the City Council in November 2003.

City departments must create or update their RDSs to provide appropriate retention guidelines. We have attached a schedule with proposed timelines to accomplish this task; see Attachment. The goal is to have current RDSs for all City departments by December 2005. The staff of the City Clerk's Office will be available to assist your departments with writing or updating these schedules. Should you have questions, or if you would like to negotiate your proposed timeline, please contact the City Clerk's Office Records and Information Management Deputy Director Salam Hasenin at (619) 533-4024.
