Hundreds of local fifth and sixth grade students who participate in the School Safety Patrol program at their school will be treated to the San Diego Police Department's annual holiday party and carnival for their work throughout the school year. The students are tasked on a daily basis with the safe movement of pedestrians and vehicles at nearly 90 schools throughout the city.

The highlight of the day will be the promotion of fourteen specially selected members. These students were chosen for their leadership and contributions to their school and community.

Chief Lansdowne will present awards at the ceremony which will take place in the Serra High football stadium. Following the awards ceremony, all participants will enjoy a day of carnival games, food and a raffle.
