SDPD Investigators Identify Suspects in Ocean Beach Assault

San Diego – San Diego Police detectives have identified and are in the process of requesting arrest warrants for four suspects involved in an assault in Ocean Beach. On November 18th, at about 11 p.m., a man was walking his dog near the 5000 block of Newport Avenue. There was a confrontation between the man and another group of people which resulted in the man and his dog being physically assaulted.

The next day, on November 19th at 2:02 p.m., San Diego Police Communications received a call for service from the victim reporting the crime. Officers took the initial report and detectives immediately began investigating the case. Investigators searched for witnesses, evidence, and any videos of the incident. Throughout the Thanksgiving holiday weekend, detectives worked on building this case.

On December 1st, detectives requested arrest warrants for three adults and one juvenile. Their names are being withheld at this time. SDPD thanks the community members who have come forward regarding this case. Detectives are asking that anyone who might have witnessed the crime or have information, to come forward. Anyone with information regarding this incident is asked to call the San Diego Police Department or Crime Stoppers at (888) 580-8477.
