and the Department of Health and Human Services, challenging NIH Notice No. NOT-OD-25-068, entitled “Supplemental Guidance to the 2024 NIH Grants Policy Statement: Indirect Cost Rates.” This Notice announced that all indirect costs for existing and new NIH grants would be capped at 15%, effective February 10, 2025. Overall, the amicus brief made two points. First, the brief asserted that NIH’s decision to change funding is unlawful, arbitrary, and capricious given the substantial reliance interests of universities, hospitals, and other recipients. And second, the brief discussed the importance of indirect costs to research institutions like UC San Diego and San Diego State University. By way of example, in fiscal year 2024, UC San Diego received over $560 million in NIH grants to fund its medical research efforts in Neuroscience, Pharmacology, Family Medicine, Pediatrics, Psychiatry, and Obstetrics and Gynecology. Also in fiscal year 2024, San Diego State University received nearly $43 million in NIH research funds. The brief also addressed local impacts with respect to job loss, hiring freezes, lab closures, and economic harms to cities and counties nationwide.	Wallace W.
