Woman Thrown from Balcony in San Ysidro, Boyfriend Arrested

San Diego – A woman was thrown from the third-floor walkway of her apartment building during a fight with her boyfriend. The boyfriend was arrested at the scene.

On May 12, 2025, at about 7:21 p.m., witnesses called San Diego Police Communications and reported seeing a man throw a woman from a third-floor balcony at 517 W San Ysidro Boulevard. A suspect description was provided. When officers arrived minutes later, they located the suspect and took him into custody. He has been identified as 57-year-old Albert Turner and is described as a Black male.

The female victim, 61-year-old Irene Williams, was found by officers in the courtyard with severe head trauma and a broken femur. She was transported to a local hospital, but did not survive her injuries. She is described as a Black female.

Investigators believe the two had been in a dating relationship and had been involved in an altercation inside the apartment earlier in the evening. At some point, Williams began throwing Turner's belongings over the railing of the balcony corridor. Turner then threw Williams over the railing onto the concrete below. Turner was booked into county jail for one count of murder.

Anyone with information regarding this incident is asked to call the Homicide Unit at (619) 531-2293 or Crime Stoppers at (888) 580-8477.
