FAREWELL TESSA!

Reflection

This internship has truly been a crucial stepping stone in my career. Thanks to the team at OCYS, I've been able to grow both professionally and personally while genuinely enjoying the work I've done. This opportunity has opened my eyes to a world of potential career paths and passions I hadn't previously considered. It has shaped the expectations I have for future job opportunities and deepened my love for working with organizations that serve the community, especially those supporting the youth of San Diego.

Favorite Project

Throughout my time at OCYS, I have absolutely loved supporting, and now leading, the creation of our Monthly Newsletter. The project brought out a new sense of creativity in me that I never knew I had, and I was proud to pick up the process so quickly.

Future Plans

Although I will truly miss working at OCYS, I am excited to graduate from SDSU this spring with my bachelor's degree and begin the search for meaningful full-time work in San Diego. I am eager to take the next step in my career and hope to join a changemaking organization that creates a positive impact in our community. After graduation, I also look forward to the potential opportunity to travel and explore parts of the world that may inspire my future endeavors.

LIBERTY STATION

Office of Child
and Youth Success

Liberty Station first opened in 1923 as a naval training center. After officially closing in 1997, the space was reimagined into the cultural destination it is today. From its roots in service to its role in San Diego's creative future, Liberty Station continues to evolve while honoring the past.

Liberty Station is one of San Diego's most creative and community filled spaces. What used to be a Navy base is now a go to destination for art, food, and culture. From mural-covered walkways to pop-up markets, galleries, and live events, Liberty Station brings together everything you'd want in one place. Whether you're looking to explore, hang out, or get inspired this is where it's happening.

Liberty Public Market history extends back to 1923, originally opened as the Mess Hall and Commissary. Many years after the sites decommission, Liberty Public Market opened up in 2016 as San Diego's first food hall. Check out their site to explore and experience a variety of cuisines, shop locally from vendors, and attend fun upcoming events!

Liberty Station is made up of five unique districts each with its own vibe, purpose, and experience.

- The Arts District is the creative core, Home to local artists, galleries, small businesses, and year-round performances, events and workshops. Visit the Open-Air Galley, a curated outdoor collection of temporary public art installations.
- The Quarter is where the community comes together for events and public celebrations.
- NTC Park is your go-to for open green space, yoga, skating, and chill weekend hangs.
- The Neighborhood blends homes, schools, and walkable streets into a space built on learning and connection.
- South Point the hotel district is where you can relax, recharge, and enjoy the views. Whether you're here to explore, create, or just unwind, Liberty Station has a spot for you.

Youth H.O.P.E Month

Youth H.O.P.E (Homelessness, Outreach, Prevention, and Education) month also known as National Homeless Youth Awareness month, was first declared as a rising and alarming issue in our country among Congress in July 2007. The purpose of establishing November as H.O.P.E month is to shine light to the underlying causes of youth and families experiencing housing insecurity and uplift the network of organizations and community partners working towards prevention and ending homelessness.

Housing Our Youth (HOY)

A program led by YMCA County of San Diego in collaboration with 6 other partnering agencies: San Diego Youth Services, SBCS, North County Lifeline, Urban Street Angels, The San Diego LGBT Community Center, and Home Start, that provides specialized assistance to young adults up to the age of 24 who are at-risk or experiencing homelessness. The program is designed to intercept youth experiencing homelessness and provide them with immediate housing and wraparound support, while searching for more permanent and stable housing opportunities.

Crossroads San Diego founded by student Hayden Hughes, in partnership with PATH collaborated to create a digital platform for people seeking services and experiencing homelessness.

Crossroads SD is an informative site that aims to centralize support and resources for San Diegans. As the site continues to grow momentum, do not miss your chance to participate in your community by spreading the word of this platform with your peers. Connect with Crossroads SD here to support the cause!

Wear Green November 13th to show solidarity. Organizations such as The National Child Traumatic Stress Network (NCTSN), NAMI, SAMHSA, and The California Homeless Education Technical Assistance Center (HETAC) provide vital resources that bring awareness and destigmatize the negative perception of people experiencing housing insecurity. Check out their sites below to learn more.

Drop In Centers

Through out San Diego there are safe spaces for youth to drop in and access resources that best match their needs, whether that is a safe place to hang out, access to a free meal, shower, a change of clean clothes, or talk to a licensed specialist about mental health, shelter, and housing support.

SDYS has drop in centers located at 2220 Broadway, San Diego CA 92102, and 3845 Spring Dr, Room 13 Spring Valley, CA 91977.

Seek similar support at Urban Street Angels, South Bay Community Services, and Homestart.

The Center offers a variety of supports mentioned above and many more for LGBTQ+ and nonbinary youth. Visit either location at 514 Pennsylvania Ave, San Diego CA 92103

November is nationally recognized as Native American Heritage Month. The Kumeyaay are the first people of the San Diego region, and their territory once extended from the Pacific Ocean to the Colorado River. San Diego County has the most Native American reservations of any county in the United States, with 18. Out of those 18, there are 12 different bands of Kumeyaay in San Diego County, along with other active communities of other tribes in the region, such as the Cupeño, Quechan and Pai Pai. Watch this documentary presented by KPBS Explore San Diego to learn more about the history.

"We cannot rewrite the past or undo the misrepresentation and erasure of these first peoples' valuable contributions, but we can acknowledge, educate, share and embrace their history and legacy." -Ruth Ann Thorn

YOUTH WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT AND CAREER PATHWAYS COMMUNITY CONVERSATION

OCYS UPDATE:

A warm thank you to the 67 individuals across 34 organizations that joined our Community Conversation event last month focused on youth workforce development and career pathways. Our office is dedicated to providing a safe platform for community partners, members, organizations, businesses, educators, and funders to collaborate to develop and strengthen existing workforce career pathways for youth.

We intend on continuing the conversation and encourage more community partners to join and expand on the factors that have been identified and discussed in regards to the youth workforce development and career pathways ecosystem. Please fill out this response form to help us shape collaboration moving forward. We value your input and expertise of knowledge. Contact Tara Ryan for further information (tryan@sandiego.gov)

Youth Summit Partner Form

If you did not have the opportunity to attend and join the conversation, here is a quick recap:

- We reviewed and discussed samples of data extracted from the forthcoming Youth Well-being in San Diego Report produced by the Policy Innovation Center in partnership with San Diego Foundation, Prebys Foundation, and OCYS.
- The high cost of living continues to offset educational and economic progress, especially for youth of color and other marginalized groups.
- Regional wealth is not equitably distributed, leaving key communities without the resources needed to strengthen systems, infrastructure, and opportunity.
- Youth must be centered in decision-making, with greater access to career exploration, non-traditional pathways, and skill-building opportunities that lead to quality jobs.

We want to hear from youth!

- Please take some time to fill out our feedback form.
- This will be shared among the organizations that joined us to discuss how we can collaborate to improve and break down barriers for youth workforce development and career pathways.

Youth Focused 2026 Youth Summit Form

Continued Recap:

- Programs and supports need to be better aligned, comprehensive, and responsive to basic needs, rather than surface-level or fragmented.
- Stronger cross-sector collaboration among government, business, education, and nonprofits is essential to reduce duplication, ensure accountability, and scale impact.

IT'S FAFSA & DREAMS ACT TIME!

NOVEMBER 2025

As fall settles in and everyone is attending Friday night football and soccer games or supporting your local high school band. It's Time to talk about money for college and completing the FAFSA and/or California Dream Act (CADAA). Here are some helpful hints to help you along your way to successfully completing and submitting your FAFSA and/or CADAA.

IT'S FAFSA & DREAM ACT TIME! YOUR FIRST STEP TO COLLEGE FINANCIAL AID

It's that time of year again — financial aid season! Whether you plan to attend a university, community college, or vocational program, completing the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) or the California Dream Act Application (CADAA) is the key to unlocking money to help pay for your education.

What Are These Applications?

- FAFSA – The Free Application for Federal Student Aid is for U.S. citizens and eligible noncitizens. It gives you access to federal grants, loans, and work-study programs, as well as state and college-based financial aid.
- California Dream Act Application (CADAA) – Designed for undocumented students, DACA recipients, U Visa holders, and TPS students who attend college in California. The Dream Act opens the door to state-based financial aid, including the Cal Grant, Middle Class Scholarship, and institutional grants at many California colleges and universities.

Why It's Important

- Filling out the FAFSA or CADAA is the only way to find out how much financial aid you qualify for — and most colleges require one of these applications, even for scholarships. Many students are surprised to discover they qualify for free money (grants) that never have to be repaid.

Don't Wait — Apply Early!

- Applications open every fall, and funds are often awarded on a first-come, first-served basis. Submitting early ensures you don't miss out. The priority deadline in California is typically March 2, but don't wait until the last minute!

You'll need:

- Your 2024 tax information (and your parents' if applicable)
- Your Social Security number (for FAFSA) or ITIN (for Dream Act)
- A list of colleges you plan to apply to

Get Started Today

- FAFSA: <https://studentaid.gov>
- California Dream Act: <https://dream.csac.ca.gov>

Need help? Many schools, community organizations, and libraries host FAFSA/Dream Act workshops to walk you through the process.
