

Rafael Perez is running to build trust in government and be the responsive leader residents want.

Since becoming a first generation college student over 25 years ago, Rafael has answered the call to serve our neighborhoods too often overlooked and families too often pushed aside. That's earned him recognition for service and leadership. He knows your frustration with infrastructure delays, rising fees, trash costs, and parking fees. He is running to put working families first and make government transparent, responsive, and accountable.

Rafael Perez is a proven problem solver who delivers results:

- As Chair of a housing non-profit, helped expand housing and homeownership opportunities.
- Helped secure over $1 million in flood relief
- Fought to pass a law repealing discriminatory bans.
- Delivered improvements to local community center
- Served on city commission fighting for equal opportunity.
- Oversaw major infrastructure improvements at our airport as a board member.

That's why Rafael's endorsed by women's and equal rights leaders, organizations, Working Families Party and elected officials across San Diego.

Rafael Perez is not a career politician or insider. He is a community tested leader ready to fix what is broken, restore trust in government, and help District 8 families move forward.
