Statement: Councilmember Campillo Comments on City Trash Fee Lawsuit Settlement

SAN DIEGO — Following today’s decision to settle a lawsuit against the City of San Diego that challenged the trash fee, Councilmember Raul Campillo (District 7) released the following statement:

“As the only councilmember who voted against both the trash fee and Balboa Park parking fees, I am pleased that the City Council has agreed to this settlement. Today, we are reducing the cost of living in San Diego and beginning the process of rebuilding San Diegans’ trust in their city government. Seniors who live on a fixed income and families struggling to pay their bills will see more money in their pockets, and small businesses and museums in Balboa Park will see their customers return.

“I will continue to advocate for the City to live within our own means instead of charging our residents more, and for the City to help small businesses and non-profits that provide good jobs and services to our region.”
