

Professional Bio for Ines Nefzi, Grantville

Ines Nefzi is San Diego ART Matters Communications Coordinator. A Transfronteriza Chicana and Arab artist, Ines is rooted in the dynamic borderlands of San Diego and Tijuana. Immersed in the local art scene for over 15 years, she has actively contributed to art collectives, movements, and galleries throughout San Diego. In her journey as a self-taught artist, Ines primarily utilizes acrylic paint, and her artistic repertoire spans from traditional portraiture to vibrant floral expressions.

Beyond her artistic pursuits, Ines serves as a teaching artist, imparting creative techniques and expressive methods to youth at various non-profit organizations throughout the San Diego region, at community centers, and after-school programs. These experiences have provided her with real-life experience in the value, impact, and necessity of the arts on the individual, community, and society as a whole. Emerging into her role as an arts advocate, Ines dedicates her efforts at San Diego ART Matters to ensure that the people of San Diego benefit from a strong creative sector.
