DESCRIPTION

- 7b. Briefly describe the present physical appearance of the site or structure and describe any major alterations from its original condition:

Present Use: Subdivision Boundary Markers Original use: Subdivision Boundary Markers

These rectangular subdivision markers, eight altogether, are situated at both entrances of Kalmia Place. Two tall piers flanked by two shorter piers straddle both street ends, forming a gateway for automobiles. The tall and short piers straddle each sidewalk, forming a gateway for pedestrians. Each pier is composed of a base, shaft and capital. The concrete base and capital are painted a rust color. The shaft is composed of concrete blocks approximately one foot high and are painted white. The tall piers have seven layers of blocks, while the short ones have five. Each capital has a pyramidal tip slightly overhanging an approximately one inch neck. These rest on a broader, flat square abacus about one inch thick that slightly overhangs the shaft and base. Each base is about one foot high and is nearly one inch wider than the shaft. A vertical notch runs from the abacus to the bottom of the base along each of a pier's four corners.

DESCRIPTION

7a. Architectural style: Spanish Colonial Revival

7b. Briefly describe the present physical appearance of the site or structure and describe any major alterations from its original condition: Legal Description: Blk A, Lot 2 S 74 ft. Lot 1 & S 74 ft., Burlingame

The Burlingame Villa Court is a U-shaped arrangement of five single-story attached Spanish Colonial Revival bungalow courts (with a detached garage unit) situated behind two detached commercial units along the east side of 30th Street between Kalmia and Juniper Streets. The bungalows are built in mid-1920's Spanish Colonial Revival style vernacular architecture. The flat roof, stucco-clad bungalow units open onto a narrow central garden area with red tile roof hooded entries. Access to the court's auto garage is provided by a narrow alleyway running east-to-west along the south side of the garage. The most distinguishing architectural feature of Burlingame Villa Court is the decoration of the two flat-roofed commercial units in front of the bungalow court. A heavily-decorated raised parapet and paneled frieze, keystone arched central entryway and corbel braced transom panels highlight the units' Spanish Colonial Revival detailing. Alterations to the commercial units include the remodeling of the recessed entryways with false brick-covered spandrels, painted-over transom windows, aluminum-frame display windows, and the replacement of the southwest corner display windows with placed and acceptance of the southwest corner display windows with placed and acceptance of the southwest corner

	Both the commercial units and the bungalow court were built c. 1928 by Samuel and Isedor Bauman, pawnbrokers. Due to the increased building and commercial activity in the North Park area in the mid-1920's, the Bauman Brothers built Burlingame Villa Court as speculative units. A series of small businesses operated out of the store-fronts over the yearsnotably florist and beauty shops. The property was bought by George M. Clayberg in 1935.  Burlingame Villa Court is a unique mid-1920's example of mixed-use commercial and residential land use. Situated adjacent to an operating electric streetcar system along 30th Street, residents of the bungalow court had access to all San Diego's business, commercial, leisure and recreational amenities. Likewise, the streetcar provided customers for the various businesses operating out of the four storefronts along 30th Street.  The court reflects the popular Spanish Colonial Revival architectural style prevalent in San Diego in the early to late 1920's. The elaborate architectural detailing of the commercial storefronts is unlike any found in the entire North Park/ Burlingame area. It is more akin to the elaborate Spanish Renaissance-inspired buildings of the 1915-16 Panama-California Exposition buildings in Balboa Park.
