CAMPBELL'S CORNER

From Councilmember Jennifer Campbell

Hello Neighbors!

Since my inauguration in December 2018, few issues have been more ubiquitous in our beach and bay communities than scooters. Whether calls, e-mails or conversations in the community, I have heard loud and clear from constituents about the pros and cons of these micro-mobility options. In February 2019, the Active Transportation and Infrastructure Committee, a committee that I do not sit on, moved the Mayor's proposed scooter regulations on to the full council. Now, for the first time since being in office, I will publicly weigh in on this issue when our city's proposed dockless regulations (scooters, e-bikes, etc.) come to the City Council on April 23rd. CAMPBELL'S CORNER

Since the day they were first placed in San Diego, scooters have been both popular and divisive. When used correctly, they are a valuable, low-emission mobility option for a large population of San Diegans.

Yet in our communities we're seeing speeding, dual-riding, underage use, and parking on sidewalks & handicapped ramps. While only a percentage of riders are making these bad personal decisions, they impact the public perception of micro-mobility.

Currently, with no formal agreement and no accountability, our sidewalks and boardwalks are unsafe and reckless rider behavior leaves a significant strain on our City resources and services. (page 3)

CAMPBELL'S CORNER

That's why, on April 23rd, I plan on bringing up a number of points, including:

- Safety, for both users and non-users
- Accountability from companies to ensure safety and best user practices
- Permit fees paid to the city
- Remove dockless mobility options from the sidewalks
- Data sharing between the City and operators

It's clear that regulations are needed and long overdue. I look forward to weighing in on the new set of regulations on April 23rd. I also hope that members of the community will come to City Council to make your voice heard to all councilmembers regarding scooters.
