Parks, Plazas, and Open Spaces

As an economic and cultural center of San Diego's Asian Pacific-American community, the Convoy corridor attracts visitors from across the City. New parks and plazas can create inviting, community places for gathering.

Active Spaces and Frontages

Spaces and buildings oriented to pedestrians can improve connectivity, interaction, and safety. An active, engaging network of paseos, urban paths, and storefronts can enhance the uniqueness of the neighborhood and help businesses thrive.

Streetscapes and Gateways

Augmented streetscapes can accommodate multiple travel modes while creating a sense of place. The Convoy Corridor can draw more visitors with distinct and memorable gateway and design features.

Mobility Hubs

Enhanced transit and parking strategies paired with a suite of mobility services, wayfinding, and mobility hubs can bridge the distance between points of interest and increase opportunities for visitors and businesses to connect.
