JULY 2018

This information bulletin describes the approval process and submittal requirements for Placemaking projects.

I. WHAT IS PLACEMAKING?

Placemaking is the temporary use of public right-of-way and private property that activates streetscapes by enhancing the pedestrian experience and providing neighborhood-serving activities, experiences, or spaces and includes temporary, small-scale development specifically designed to support that temporary use. Projects that may qualify as Placemaking uses include, but are not limited to, those that provide areas for pedestrians to briefly rest (e.g., plazas, shade structures, and benches), promote the use of underutilized space (e.g., landscaping and decorative lighting), and improve and promote pedestrian activity and other uses of the public right-of-way (e.g., bicycle racks and refuse containers). (SDMC §113.0103).

Placemaking projects are privately funded, typically have broad community support and are often planned in concert with community oriented organizations, such as a Business Improvement District, Civic Association, Community Parking District, Community Planning Group, Maintenance Assessment District, Property Business Improvement District, Town Council or other similar non-profit organizations. SDMC § 113.0103, 123.0402, 123.0406, 129.0710, and 141.0421.

II. PERMIT DURATION

Placemaking projects can be permitted for up to five years. After five years the Placemaking project must be removed and the area returned to its original condition, unless a new permit for Placemaking is obtained. Placemaking projects may also be test projects to determine the feasibility of permanent public improvements.
