City of San Diego ▪ District Three

Friends,

This week is an exciting one for the City of San Diego. I will lead a discussion on the City's infrastructure, help unveil a toolbox to address family homelessness, and discuss job building tools that could be implemented locally. Whether you are interested in these or other issues, please take the time to drop by my community coffee this Saturday at the Japanese Friendship Garden and let me know what's on your mind.

Committee Tackles Infrastructure Challenges

As Chair of the Budget and Finance Committee, I am focusing tomorrow's meeting on infrastructure. The Committee will work to develop a comprehensive plan to address the City's deferred capital infrastructure needs, discuss ways to streamline completion of capital improvement projects, investigate City staffing and capacity issues, and tackle funding options.
