CITY OF SAN DIEGO | FEBRUARY 2017

CHRIS CATE

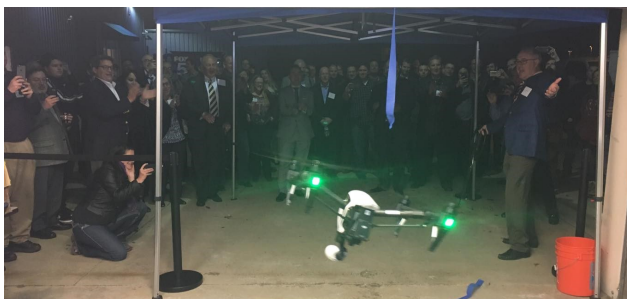

Now in Sorrento Valley

On January 17th, I visited Hera Hub's Sorrento Valley location. Hera Hub is the first international female-focused coworking space: a shared, flexible work and meeting space where entrepreneurial women can create and collaborate in a professional, productive, spa-like environment.

Drones

On January 26th, I attended the grand opening of the Hornets Nest at Coleman University. Drone companies showcased their technologies and/or demonstrated their platforms at the indoor drone range.

Prepared. For Life.™

Thanks to the Rancho Peñasquitos Cub Scout Pack 621 (and friends) for inviting me to speak at the January 24th meeting. The Rancho Mesa District serves communities including Rancho Peñasquitos, Mira Mesa, Miramar, and Sorrento Valley.

We All Count

On January 27th, James, Allen, Ian and I woke up before sunrise to participate in the Regional Task Force on the Homeless' annual We All Count. We counted sheltered and unsheltered homeless individuals and families in Clairemont.

Year of the Rooster

On January 28th, I attended the 12th Annual Mira Mesa Tết Festival. Chúc Mừng Năm Mới! This year's theme was "Spring to New Horizons."

Celebrating One Year

James and I had a great time on January 28th at Pure Project Brewing's 1-year anniversary. We sampled their "new fashioned" anniversary brew.
