FY 2023 Proposed Budget Overview

Key Budget Issues

The Budget is Structurally Imbalanced

- While the Proposed Budget is balanced in that proposed $1.9 billion in expenditures equal proposed revenues, it remains structurally imbalanced
  - One-Time Resources ($150.1 million) exceed One-Time Expenditures ($104.5 million) by $45.6 million
    - One-time resources like federal American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA) revenues are being used to support ongoing expenses
  - This, combined with not funding City reserve to targeted levels, may lead to a significant budget shock when those one-time revenues run out absent any new revenue source
  - The spend down of ARPA funds and not making reserve contributions creates a net budget impact of $116.2 million in FY 25

FY 2023 Proposed Budget Overview

Key Budget Issues ctd

Infrastructure funding remains insufficient to address growing capital backlog

- Budget includes $107.4 million for General Fund capital infrastructure but needs total $141.2 million in FY 2023
- Total Capital Infrastructure Backlog over next 5 years totals $4.3 billion
- Absent a new funding source, the City's capital backlog will continue to grow as well as risk associated with failing infrastructure

FY 2023 Capital Improvement Program Expenditures
Vacancy levels continue to impact City services

• The City’s compensation levels for City employees have historically been lower than other private and public entities
• The City’s recruitment and hiring process is longer than many other comparable agencies
• These factors combine to put the City at competitive disadvantage in hiring and retaining employees
Next Steps in the Process
