City Council Rescinds the One Paseo Project

SAN DIEGO --- Today the San Diego City Council voted unanimously to rescind the One Paseo development project in Carmel Valley.

“I am extremely pleased that the Council has voted to rescind the approval of the previous One Paseo project,” stated Council President Lightner. “After working for six years toward a suitable compromise on this project, a settlement has been reached and signed by all parties involved in the litigation surrounding the project. Today’s vote to rescind invalidates the previous project approvals, allowing the developer to move forward immediately in working with the community to develop a substantially smaller revised mixed use project that preserves the amenities the community desires while minimizing major impacts such as traffic congestion and the bulk and scale of the project.”
