Sherman Urges Chargers Faithful

to Attend NFL Public Hearing

Showing the NFL the Strength of Chargers Fan-Base Important to Keeping Team in San Diego

SAN DIEGO – Despite the challenges in keeping the Chargers in San Diego, Mayor Faulconer and city leaders have continued working hard, speaking directly with NFL representative and meeting with other NFL owners.

Councilmember Sherman is calling on the Chargers faithful to attend the public hearing to show NFL Representatives first-hand the strength of the fan-base here in San Diego. Though registration for the public hearings is closed, fans can still show their support by demonstrating outside the theater if no more room is available at the hearing

Free parking is available at the Evan V Jones Parking Garage located within walking distance of the Spreckles Theater, the location of the public hearing.

When: Wednesday
7:00 PM: Hearing begins

Where: Spreckles Theater
121 Broadway #600
San Diego, CA 92101

Parking: Edward V Jones Parking Garage
1276 First Ave.
San Diego, CA 92101

Why: “The Chargers have been a part of San Diego’s cultural DNA for over a half a century. Our passionate fans have supported this organization through the good times and the bad. It’s time representatives from the NFL see this passion first-hand.” – Scott Sherman
