

Rolando Street Fair: March 24, 2013

The 17th Annual Rolando Street Fair takes place on Rolando Blvd just south of El Cajon Blvd. from 10am-6pm on Sunday, March 24th. Over 100 vendor booths and non-profit community organizations will participate with hand-made items for sale, delicious food, and services to offer. There will also be a Kids' Corner with rides and activities. The annual spring event is free and attracts over 15,000 people.

This year the stage has another great musical line-up, 100% local! Acts will include Victims of Authority, composed of four 11- and 12-year-olds who are influenced by rock legends such as ACDC and Aerosmith. NeveReady -- also featuring a Rolando native, Jay Sanchioli on bass -- will blow you away. Locked out of Eden, Quino and Len Rainey and the Midnight Players will close out the rockin' day.

Volunteers are still needed for day of and/or pre-distributing flyers in the neighborhood, please contact Jerrett Emmerick at: rolandostreetfair@gmail.com or call (619) 987-8855.

This ambitious event depends upon support from the College Area Business District, College Neighborhoods Foundation, City of San Diego Commission for Arts & Culture, and Marti Emerald Councilmember for District 9, for all of which RCC is grateful.

Please "like" the new Rolando Street Fair Facebook Page for updates on the event: www.facebook.com/RolandoStreetFair2013. For more information and vendor applications, visit www.rolandocommunitycouncil.org.
