A Message from the Mayor vetoing an ordinance directing the purchase of fire hose, is presented and read, viz:

"November 26, 1912.

To the Common Council

of the City of San Diego, California.

I herewith return Document No.56363, filed November 20, 1912, in the office of the City Clerk, being an ordinance directing the purchase of fire hose, without my approval for the reason that said ordinance empowers and authorizes the purchase of personal property, of the value of one thousand six hundred dollars, which seems to me is in direct violation of the provisions of the Charter of the City of San Diego.

Prior to 1909 the purchase of such property would come under the jurisdiction of the Department of Public Works, and Section 14, of Article 5, dealing with said Department of Public Works provided that "all public work authorized by the Common Council and all contracts for materials and supplies in an amount exceeding $300.00, required by the Common Council or any of the Departments of the City, not otherwise provided for in this Charter (unless otherwise provided by ordinance) shall be done under written contract, except in cases of urgent necessity, as hereinafter provided. Before awarding any contract authorized by this Chapter the Board shall cause notice inviting sealed proposals therefor to be posted conspicuously in its office and published for not less than five days, and in case the estimated cost exceeds $2000.00 to be so posted and published for not less than ten days."

This provision by Charter Amendment of 1909, was repealed and the powers of such Department of Public Works were merged into one body, known as the Common Council.

I submit that the provision of the Charter is the limitation of the powers of the Common Council, and under Chapter 2, of Article 2 of the Charter, dealing with the powers of the Common Council, in none of the fifty-three enumerated powers can be found the power to purchase personal property.

And I therefore conclude that the only powers possessed by the Common Council are the powers and duties formerly had, possessed and exercised by such Boards as are now vested in the Common Council, and the provisions and restrictions surrounding the powers formerly in the Board followed the powers after the same were vested in the Common Council.

Respectfully submitted,

James E. Wadham,

Mayor of the City of San Diego."

The report of the said Board of Underwriters was entirely satisfactory, and the Chief of the Fire Department, who was present at the tests, and who has examined the apparatus, and the contract for purchase of same, reports that he has found the engine to be up to specifications in every respect, with the exception of a few minor details which have been corrected. He reports that in every detail the engine exceeded its rated capacity.

I therefore recommend to you that said Gorham Pumping Engine No.6 be accepted and paid for at the contract price.

Respectfully,

To the Common Council

Gentlemen:-

I herewith return the petitions of Fischer & Richter, Wahl & Wolf, and Mission Wine Company, requesting the remission of the unexpired portion of the period of suspension awarded them by the Council of their respective wholesale liquor licenses, under Resolution No. 12542, adopted December 27, 1912.

There is another firm, Rifkind & Kleinman, whose license was also suspended for the same period.

The licenses of these four firms named, Fischer & Richter, Wahl & Wolf, Mission Wine Company, and Rifkind & Kleinman, were suspended for thirty days; the four firms also forfeited $25. each in the City Justice's Court.

I have had an interview with all of these parties named, and they assure me that they will absolutely comply with the liquor ordinances in the future.

I therefore recommend that the unexpired portions of the suspensions from January 11th, at five o'clock A.M. be remitted.

Very respectfully,

report of Supt. Fire & Sewers on
The petition of Ed Fletcher in regard to fire alarm whistle, is read and adopted viz:

"To the Honorable,
The Common Council of the City of San Diego.

Gentlemen:-

Herewith I return two communications re the fire whistle.

I concede there is ground for objection to the fire whistle, as also there may be objection to the motor drawn apparatus of the Fire Department traversing the congested streets of the city when an alarm is given. I also admit that the public alarm has the result of attracting many people to the vicinity of a fire, much to the annoyance of the firemen.

On the other hand, the alarm as given, serves to call firemen who happen to be off duty, as well as the regular "call men" who have no other method of knowing where to respond. It also aids the Police Department in sending Patrolmen to aid in the protection of life and property.

As the city becomes larger, and this method becomes impracticable, the fire whistle must be abandoned, but to those in actual touch with the situation, it is deemed advisable to continue the whistle on the broad, humanitarian principle that it is better to jar the nerves of a few sensitive citizens than to lose the life of one human being for want of proper notice to those who may be able to prevent such a catastrophe.

A.E. Dodson,
Superintendent of Department Fire and Sewers."

The following Message from the Mayor vetoing an ordinance regulating public dance halls and providing for the licensing thereof, is presented and read, viz:

"March 27, 1913

of the City of San Diego, California.

I herewith return Document No. 60353, filed March 17, 1913, being an ordinance regulating public dance halls and providing for the licensing thereof, and regulating public dances and providing for the granting of permits therefor and prescribing penalties for the violation thereof, without my approval, for the following reasons:-

1st. The ordinance is invalid, unconstitutional, and consequently unenforceable for the following reasons:-

(a) (a) The ordinance is partial and discriminatory. The ordinance is calculated to apply to all public dances and dance halls within the City of San Diego, but Section 2 thereof expressly excepts from its scope and operation "hotels maintaining at least twenty-five sleeping rooms for guests, and also excepting incorporated philanthropic societies, incorporated fraternal organizations and military or naval organizations of the United States or the State of California." This exception, in my judgment, unquestionably invalidates the measure.

Ordinances must be fair, impartial and uniform in their operation. An ordinance cannot make a particular act penal when done by one person, corporation or class of persons and impose no penalty for the same act when done under like circumstances by another person, corporation or class of persons. Any and all discriminations in ordinances against those of the same class are bad. No arbitrary distinction between different kinds and classes of business can be sustained, the conditions being otherwise similar. Classification for legislative purposes, though permitted, must be reasonable; and differences which would serve for classification for some purposes do not always furnish classification for legislation. The differences which will support class legislation must be such as, in the nature of things, furnish a reasonable basis for separate laws and regulations, and in my judgment the difference that exists between the hotels maintaining at least twenty-five sleeping rooms for guests and hotels maintaining less than this number offers no such difference, as will support class legislation of the character which this ordinance purports to be.

Referring to the opinion of Mr. Justice Field in a case before the Supreme Court of the United States, reported in the 113 U.S. 703; being a decision involving the constitutionality of an ordinance of the City of San Francisco, we find the following language:-

"The specific regulation of one kind of business which may be necessary for the protection of the public can never be a just ground of complaint because like restrictions are not imposed upon another business of a different kind. The discriminations which are open to objection are those where persons engaged in the same business are subject to different restrictions or are held entitled to different privileges under the same conditions. It is only then that the discrimination can be said to impair that equal right which all can claim in the enforcement of the laws."

While the constitutional requirement of uniformity does not necessarily prohibit a license tax on any particular business or calling, yet such requirement is violated by a tax or license which does not fall alike on all persons engaged in the particular business or avocation taxed.

(b) The ordinance attempts to delegate a delegated power.

Chapter 2, of Section 1, Paragraph 35 of the Charter of the City of San Diego, confers upon the Common Council the power "to license for regulation or revenue any other business or occupation conducted or carried on in the City of San Diego."

Section 4 of the ordinance delegates the power of granting and revoking licenses to the Chief of Police. This is an unauthorized delegation by the Council of discretionary powers to an individual. It is an axiom familiar to one acquainted with the rudiments of the law that "a delegated power cannot be delegated." and as a proposition of municipal law it is elementary that where a power is conferred on a municipal corporation to license any calling or business the municipality cannot delegate such power to any person or authority.

This section, meaning section 4 of the ordinance, is further objectionable in this, that after providing the necessary steps to be taken in securing a license the matter of such issuance is placed entirely in the hands of the Chief of Police, leaving to his judgment entirely whether the requirements of the ordinance have been observed but whether <sup>not</sup> "a dance will be conducted in the proper manner and be in every way of a good character and will be in every respect for the best interests of the community and those attending." As I view this last provision a most strict compliance might be had with reference to the written application and the filing of the same and yet the Chief of Police might well say that the proposed dance was not "in every respect for the best interests of the community and those attending," and his judgment in this matter would probably be supported by no small percentage of the citizens of the City of San Diego.

This particular provision could easily be made the means of an unjust and unwarranted action on the part of the Chief of Police.

The provision for appeal from the decision of the Chief of Police, though it recommends itself highly to me, fails to cure the defects pointed out; moreover paragraph "C" of section 4, which provides for the appeal, places no limitation upon the action of the Common Council in the matter, the question on appeal being left entirely to the unrestrained and unregulated discretion of the Common Council.

It is a well established principal of law that notwithstanding the fact that express power may exist to enact, an ordinance must provide a uniform rule of action. It must contain permanent legal provisions, operating generally and impartially for its enforcement cannot be left to the will or unregulated discretion of the municipal authorities or any officer of the corporation.

It is equally well settled that municipal ordinances, placing restrictions upon legal conduct or the legal use of property must, in order to be valid, specify the rules and conditions to be observed in such conduct or business and must admit to the exercise of the privilege all persons alike who will comply with such rules and conditions, and must not admit of the exercise, or the opportunity for the exercise, of any arbitrary discrimination by municipal authorities between citizens who will so comply.

The ordinance in question specifies the conditions to be observed, it is true, but does not guarantee to anyone so complying with such conditions the privilege sought but leaves the matter, in my judgment, to the exercise, or at least to the opportunity for the exercise, of arbitrary discrimination by municipal authorities.

(c) The ordinance attempts to regulate personal liberty and association.

Section 6 of the ordinance, after prohibiting the attendance of minors under the age of eighteen years, provides as follows:

"Nor shall there be allowed to attend said dance any prostitute or inmate of any house of ill-fame, or any person of a lewd or dissolute character."

And further in the same section provides:

"The person or persons making application for a permit herein provided, and the matron of said dance, shall be held directly responsible for all conduct at said dance and for the enforcement of the provisions of this ordinance and shall be deemed guilty of the violation of this ordinance if any of the regulations herein contained are violated."

This provision is invalid and objectionable. It is invalid in this, that any ordinance making it an offense for any person to knowingly associate with those who have the reputation of being bawds, prostitutes, inmates of houses of ill-fame or persons of a lewd or dissolute character, or to permit such persons entrance to any public place, are invalid and have been held to be unconstitutional as being an invasion of the rights of personal liberty because the law takes no notice of, and has no concern with mere guilty intention unconnected with any overt act or outward manifestation.

This particular provision is objectionable for the reason that it makes the matron in charge judge, at her peril, of the character of those attending the dance, and at the same time imposes and confers upon her a responsibility which no good woman would accept or desire, and an authority not consistent with personal liberty, nor the theory upon which is based present social institutions of America.

Respectfully submitted,

James E. Wadham,

Mayor of the City of San Diego."

A Message from the Mayor vetoing an ordinance authorizing a majority of the Council to enter into a lease with Fenton, Sumption, Barnes Co. for certain tide lands, is presented and read, viz:

"April 2, 1913.

To the Common Council
of the City of San Diego, California.

I herewith return Document No.61017, being an ordinance authorizing a majority of the members of the Common Council of the City of San Diego to enter into a lease with Fenton, Sumption, Barnes Co. for certain tide lands, without my approval, for the reason that the ordinance fails to in any wise describe the lease of tide lands except a general description of the property.

Furthermore the ordinance attempts to delegate the authority of entering into this lease, the terms of which are absolutely unknown, to certain members of the Common Council. I submit that it would be impossible for an executive officer to pass intelligently on the ordinance as presented and that any lease entered into under such ordinance would be absolutely null and void, and without authority.

Respectfully submitted,
James E. Wadham,
Mayor of the City of San Diego."
