To the Common Council of the City of San Diego, California.

I herewith approve the attached Ordinance, being Document No. 46834, fixing and determining the strength of the Police Department, and fixing the salaries therefor, but I cannot refrain from suggesting to the Common Council that the provision for the maintenance of nine detectives on the police force is an unnecessary and unwarranted expense to be maintained by the City of San Diego. I cannot help but feel that had the detective force been reduced and more motor-cycle men added that the Police Department of San Diego would be more proficient.

Respectfully,

ORDINANCE NO. 4618.

AN ORDINANCE REQUIRING ELECTRICALLY CHARGED WIRES ON CERTAIN STREETS TO BE PLACED UNDER GROUND.

BE IT ORDAINED By the Common Council of the City of San Diego, as follows:

Section 1. All wires, cables or other contrivances heretofore used and hereafter to be used for the transmission of electricity for light, heat, power or telephone messages, or for any other purpose, on the following described streets in the City of San Diego shall, prior to the 31st day of December, 1912, be placed under ground in conduits at least eighteen inches below the surface of the pavement of such street, and the bottom of all which conduits shall not be at any place more than six feet below such surface, except in places where it may be necessary to place a conduit lower in order to avoid some artificial obstruction in such street, in which case the Common Council may, in its discretion, grant a permit for such deviation. That all conduits shall be of vitrified pipe, or other material as suitable, for such conduits. High voltage wires shall be encased in a concrete or other envelope, equally suitable, for enclosing high voltage wires. All such conduits shall be of sufficient size to accommodate all underground wires, cables and conductors in use at the time such wires are being placed under ground, as well as all that may be reasonably anticipated to be hereafter necessary, for the person, firm or corporation owning or operating that particular system, to install in such street. That there shall be located at the street crossings of each one of the streets in which such a conduit is placed a man-hole of suitable size, the covering of which shall be flush with the surface paving of the street, and there shall be stamped or cast on such covering the initials of the person, firm or corporation owning or leasing such system of wires. All lateral connections to be installed shall extend from the junction boxes at the conduit with which they connect to the curb line.

All transformers shall be placed in man-holes or basement vaults and all such man-holes or vaults shall be constructed of concrete or masonry. All such vaults shall be provided with metal doors, and with no other kind of doors. In the discretion of the Superintendent of the Department of Fire and Sewers, such man-holes shall be drained into the sewer system of the city; but no such connections can be made, excepting with the consent of said Superintendent thereto first obtained.

The streets of said City within which said lines are to be so placed underground, as aforesaid, are the following:

Any conduit containing a wire or cable of high voltage shall be placed on the south side of the streets running east and west, and on the west side of the streets running north and south, as the case may require; and any wire carrying a voltage of not over ninety (90) volts shall be placed on the north side of the streets running east and west and on the east side of streets running north and south, as the case may be; provided, however, that no conduit now laid on any of the streets named herein need be removed. Upon the recommendation of the Inspector of Gas and Electricity, the Common Council may grant permission to construct such conduit in the side of the street opposite to that herein named.

After beginning the work of constructing any such conduit, or the installation of wires or cables therein, or other work, all such work shall be prosecuted diligently until all of the contemplated work shall have been fully completed; and all streets and sidewalks shall, within a reasonable time after the same have been opened, be restored to the condition in which they were before the work began.

Immediately upon any such conduit being made, or any wires or cables installed therein, maps and diagrams of all such work shall be filed in the office of the City Engineer, which maps and diagrams shall show the true location of all such conduits in the street, the size of the conduit, and the size and nature and number of wires, cables and other appliances placed therein.

Section 3. Immediately upon the placing of any wire, cable or other appliance mentioned in this ordinance, for the transmission of electricity for light, heat, power, or telephone messages, or any other purpose, in the conduits, as hereinabove provided, all poles, wires, cables and conductors, of all natures and kinds, which have heretofore been^{used}, shall be removed from the surface of the street, except so far as may be necessary in order to carry on such business with and by means of the said underground transmission.

Section 4. All wires, cables, conductors or laterals laid under the provisions of this ordinance shall be under the inspection and subject to the approval of the inspector of Gas and Electricity, and shall be so placed and protected that no leak or electrolysis may occur.

Section 5. It shall be the duty of any person who may be the owner or lessee, either in whole or in part, of any wires, lines or cables as mentioned or described in this ordinance, or of each and every agent, manager or superintendent of any corporation owning or operating any such wires, lines or cables, to do each and every of the things required in this ordinance to be done, and every person who, being an owner, in whole or in part, or a superintendent, manager or agent of any such corporation, shall fail to do any of the things required in this ordinance to be done, within the time, or in the manner herein required, or who shall violate any provision or requirement of this ordinance, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be fined in any sum not exceeding five hundred dollars, or imprisonment in the city jail not exceeding six months, or may be both fined and imprisoned.

Any corporation having or operating any wires, lines or cables, as mentioned or described in this ordinance, and which shall fail to comply with any of the requirements hereof, or which shall violate any provision of this ordinance, shall be subject to a penalty of five hundred dollars, which may be recovered in a civil action.

Section 7. That every day that any such corporation or person shall fail to do any of the things hereinabove required to be done, after the time shall have fully expired within which such act is under the provisions of this ordinance required to be done, shall be deemed a separate offense, and subject the offender to the penalty hereinabove provided.

Section 8. This ordinance does not apply to the poles, span-wires or trolley wires necessarily used in the operation of any line of street railway.

Such notice shall be served at least forty-eight hours before the hour required for such removal.

Section 2. Before any building is moved across, upon or through any street, road, avenue, boulevard, alley, lane, or other public place or highway, the owner of said building, or the house-mover must first make written application to the Building Inspector of the City of San Diego for a permit to move said building, stating the route over which it is desired to pass. AN ORDINANCE TO BE KNOWN AS THE BUILDING ORDINANCE,
REGULATING THE CONSTRUCTION, ALTERATION, REPAIR AND DE-MOLITION OF BUILDINGS AND STRUCTURES AND PARTS THEREOF, AND PROVIDING FOR FIRE PROTECTION: REGULATING AREA
WAYS AND MATERIALS AND MACHINERY, AND USE OF STREETS IN CONNECTION WITH BUILDING OR WRECKING OPERATIONS.

BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COMMON COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF SAN DIEGO, AS FOLLOWS:

Section 1. There shall be a building inspector and such assistant inspectors as the Common Council may deem necessary, appointed by and holding office at the pleasure of the Common Council. No person shall be appointed either as inspector or assistant inspector who has not had at least ten years practical experience either as a designer or constructor of buildings.

It shall be the duty of the building inspector to make such inspections as may be necessary to see that the provisions of this ordinance are complied with. The building inspector is hereby given authority to enter any building in the City of San Diego in the performance of his duties, and is further given authority to order and compel the suspension of any or all work, or the occupancy of any building on which any work is being done, or which is being occupied in violation of the provisions of this ordinance.

Section 2. It shall be a violation of this ordinance for any person to continue the construction or use of any building or part thereof if the building inspector has directed in writing that such construction or use be suspended. The posting of a written or printed notice on the building shall be considered a sufficient notification as required in this ordinance, and it shall be a violation of this ordinance to remove such a notice except by the permission of the building inspector. The building inspector is hereby given authority to delegate any or all of his powers to his assistants at his pleasure.

Section 3. Whenever the building inspector shall find that any structure or part thereof is in a condition dangerous to persons or property by reason of any defective construction or unsafe condition rendering the building unsafe for the purpose for which it is used, or does not comply with the regulations enacted for the protection of life and property in case of fire he shall notify the owner, or post a notice on the building calling attention to the defects in the building or part thereof, and within forty-eight hours after such notice has been served or posted, work must be begun on, and the building or part thereof, made to comply with this ordinance.

Where the public safety requires immediate action, the building inspector may, and is hereby given authority to, enter upon the premises with such assistants as may be necessary, and cause the said structure to be made secure or taken down without delay at the expense of the owner or party interested, and such expense shall constitute a lien against the property.

Section 4. The building inspector is hereby given authority to rule as to the meaning of the various provisions of this ordinance, and to allow the substitution of equally strong or serviceable construction in place of any specified by this ordinance, but in any case where a ruling is made by the building inspector regarding substitute construction or in deciding any disputed question as to the meaning of any part of this ordinance, a written copy of such decision shall be posted in a conspicuous place, easily accessible to the public in the office of the building inspector, and these decisions shall be kept permanently on file in a place as noted above, and in such a manner that they may be easily consulted by anyone wishing to examine them.

Section 5. In case of dissatisfaction with any ruling of the building inspector, except in the case of unsafe buildings requiring immediate attention, the question in dispute may be referred to a Board of Appeal, the decision of a majority of whom shall be binding. Such Board shall be composed of three persons qualified to decide the question at issue, one appointed by the building inspector, one by the party making the appeal, and the third by the two members already chosen. Members of the Board of Appeal shall each receive ten dollars for their services in ^{the} case of each appeal for each day or part of a day that their services are required. Appeals from the decision of the building inspector shall be made by filing with the building inspector a specific statement of the question that the appellant desires passed upon. The appellant shall deposit with the building inspector the sum of thirty dollars at the time the appeal is made. This appeal must be made within five days after the building inspector has passed upon the question in dispute. If the Board of Appeal shall decide in favor of the appellant, the deposit made shall be returned and the expense paid by the city, but if the decision is against the appellant, the deposit shall be used to defray the expenses of the Board of Appeal.

The power of the Board of Appeal shall be limited to passing upon the true intent and meaning of the various provisions of this ordinance or upon the substitution of equally good or more desirable construction, but they shall not have power to otherwise modify any of the provisions of this ordinance.

Section 6. It shall be unlawful for any person to commence or proceed with the erection construction, alteration, repair, moving, or demolition of any building or other structure within the City limits (other than buildings or other structures erected by the City of San Diego, County of San Diego, State of California, of the United States of America), unless a permit to do such work has first been obtained as herein provided. Any person desiring such permit shall file with the building inspector on a blank to be furnished by said inspector, an application therefor, together with a proper set of plans and specifications covering work to be done.

No permit shall be issued until drawings and specifications have been approved by the building inspector, and in any case requiring special calculations or knowledge of strength of materials, the building inspector may require such strain sheets or copies of calculations as he may see fit. When plans and specifications are within the meaning of this ordinance, they shall be accepted, and a permit issued, and the building inspector shall stamp plans and specifications as follows:

"Plans accepted for construction, subject to the requirements of the building ordinance of the City of San Diego, California."

When permit is given, a card shall accompany it showing number of permit, and this card must be posted in a conspicuous spot on the building at all times during construction.

If such permit has been granted, plans shall not be changed, except in minor details not effecting structural parts, stairways, elevator shafts, fire escapes or means of communication or of egress or ingress, without notice having first been given to the building inspector and his approval obtained, and if such change increases the cost of the proposed work, the building inspector shall be paid an addition fee for such change in accordance with the schedule of fees hereinafter provided, such work to be charged for as an additional permit, and in any case where separate or additional permits are taken out on any work, such permits are to be charged for as additional permits in each case.

Before a permit shall be issued for any building other than one intended for private residence, the floor plans shall have plainly marked on them the net load per square foot that the floors are designed to carry, and in the case of post and girder or skeleton construction being used, a schedule of loads shall be given, showing the total load that each different member including the footings, is designed to carry.

If, upon examination, the building inspector shall find that the plans and specifications of the contemplated work are not in accordance with the ordinance of the City of San Diego, he shall indicate such deficiency in writing on a "correction sheet", and return the drawings and specifications with such correction sheet to the applicant for the permit, and no permit shall be issued until such drawings and specifications have been corrected accordingly.

If any work shall have been done on any building or part of a building, for which a permit is required by this ordinance, before such permit shall have been taken out, and such permit shall be subsequently issued, double the fees herein provided for shall be collected.

Section 8. If the work authorized by said permit is not begun within ninety days from the date thereof, said permit shall be thereafter void, and all fees except one dollar shall be returned on demand, and before such work can be commenced, a new permit shall be taken out, and the same fees as herein fixed for the original permit shall be paid.

Section 9. It shall be unlawful for any person to conceal the joists and partitions in any manner in any building until the plumbing, electrical, gas and building inspector's cards showing that work has been inspected, are posted on the building, if there is work requiring such inspection in building.

Section 10. When any existing building or part thereof, is to be demolished, a statement shall be filed with the building inspector stating the work to be done, and if this is approved, a permit shall be issued. The building inspector is hereby given authority to compel the person or persons doing the ~~wrecking~~ work to do such work in a safe manner, and the same regulations shall apply to the use of streets as required in case of new buildings. Any dry materials such as plaster must be wet down to lay dust.

Section 11. It shall be unlawful to enlarge alter, raise any building or move upon any lot within the fire limits, any structure or building, or part thereof, which does not meet the requirements laid down for new buildings, except that on petition of two thirds of the property owners in the block, the Common Council may modify this restriction.

It shall be unlawful to erect any building or part thereof in the fire limits, which does not meet the requirements of either class "A", "B", or "C" construction.

When any frame or other building within the fire limits is damaged by fire, decay or other cause in the estimation of the building inspector to the extent of forty per cent of its actual value, it shall be unlawful to repair or reconstruct such building.

Section 12. It shall be unlawful to erect any building in the City of San Diego over 100 feet in height, measured from the sidewalk level to the top of the cornice, but parts of the building may exceed this height provided all such parts shall fall below a line drawn upward at an angle of 45° from the line of intersection of the top of the cornice with the building line on the street front, or fronts. Class "A" buildings shall be what are ordinarily known as fire proof buildings. The walls must be built of fire proof materials consisting either of masonry walls or of filler walls carried on a skeleton construction of iron or steel beams, or of reinforced concrete, the floors and roof consisting of some sort of masonry construction carried on iron or steel beams which must be properly fire proofed, or of reinforced concrete. Trim, window frames, finished floors, sash and doors, and all of what is ordinarily known as the interior trim of a building, may be of hardwood in^a class "A" buildings below the level of the ninth floor, but above this level all trim, and floor surfaces, doors, window frames and sash must be of metal, or wood covered with metal, or other incombustible material. All partitions extending to the ceiling must be of fire proof material. All buildings over six stories or 80'-0" must be Class "A".

Class "B" buildings shall be what are known as mill or slow burning construction, the outside walls constructed of fire proof materials, No class "B" building shall exceed six stories or 80' 0" in height.

Class "C" buildings shall be buildings whose outside walls are of masonry or other fire proof material, the floors and roof carried on wooden joists supported on the walls or on wooden, iron or steel beams and columns, or any combinations of these, and no partitions shall be used for the support of floor joists in any class "C" buildings, except that in two story buildings and in three story buildings, the upper two stories, may be carried on stud partitions, No buildings of class "C" construction shall exceed in height 60'0", and the number of stories shall not exceed four, exclusive of basements.

Class "D" buildings shall include all buildings not of class "A", "B", or "C" construction and must not exceed three stories or 40'0" in height.

Section 13. Class "A" or fire proof buildings must meet the following minimum requirements: Exterior walls built as filler walls, that is walls which are carried at every story by beams of fire proof construction, shall be not less than four inches thick for reinforced concrete, and not less than eight inches thick for other masonry. Interior court walls not less than three inches thick if of reinforced concrete, or six inches thick for other masonry. All hall partitions or interior permanent partitions shall be built of fire proof materials.

All wood trim must be backed solidly. Where skeleton steel construction is used, cast iron columns may be used where height of building does not exceed five stories. Where cast iron, wrought iron or steel columns are used, they must be protected by a masonry casing not less than three inches in thickness on all sides unless concrete is used, in which case the minimum thickness shall be two inches. Where encasing masonry is other than concrete, there shall be a space of not less than one inch left between the masonry and the column, which space shall be filled solidly with liquid cement grout as the courses are laid up. This inch may be figured as part of the thickness of the casing. Where masonry of any description is used it must be thoroughly bonded together with metal rods or wire. Wrought iron or steel girders in outside walls shall be similarly covered with masonry tied and bonded, but the extreme outer edges of the flanges or beams and plates or angles connected to the beams, may project to within one inch of the outside surfaces of the masonry casing.

A facing of granite, marble or other stone which is subject to disintegration by heat shall not be considered as fire proofing. In no case shall a granite or marble column be used to carry a wall exceeding one story in height. No pipes, electrical wires or conduit of any kind shall be incased in the fire proofing surrounding any column, girder or beam of steel or iron, but shall be placed outside of such fire proofing.

Where the fire proof protection of columns may be exposed to damage from trucking or handling of merchandise, such fire proof protection shall be jacketed on the outside for a height not less than four feet, either with heavy sheet metal, or hard-wood strips not less than two inches thick. All exposed sides of iron or steel beams used to carry any portion of the load in the building shall be entirely incased as specified above for beams and columns.

The filling between beams of fire proof floors when other than of reinforced concrete, must correspond to the requirements of the building code of the National Board of Fire Underwriters as required in the edition of 1909.

Section 14. Reinforced concrete construction when used in any building, must meet the following minimum requirements: Reinforced concrete shall be considered class "A" construction provided that the minimum thickness of concrete surrounding reinforcing members of columns shall be two inches, of girders and beams one and one-half inches of floor slabs, one inch. Drawings for reinforced concrete buildings must specify the details of reinforcement. In calculating the strength of the different parts of reinforced concrete structures the following limitations must be observed:

The size of columns, girders or beams to be taken to the outside of the reinforcing material only. Concrete outside of reinforcing materials to be considered as fire proofing only except in partitions which carry no loads, on which there shall be no such limitations.

In isolated beams where steel is figured to develop full strength, the area of tensile reinforcement must not exceed one per cent of sectional area of beam, excepting that excess tensile reinforcement may be allowed if compressive reinforcement equal to one and three-fourths times the excess area of tensile reinforcement is used. The following shall be the minimum requirements:

Maximum allowable fibre stress in steel, 16,000 lbs. per sq. in.

Maximum shearing stress on concrete, 50 lbs. per sq. in.

Maximum direct compression allowed on concrete, 500, lbs. per sq. in. except in hooped columns where 750 lbs. will be allowed.

Maximum shearing stress in steel, 10,000 lbs. per sq. in.

Adhesion of steel to concrete, plain bars, 50 lbs. per sq. in. of surface of bar, deformed bar, 75, lbs.

Ratio of moduli of elasticity of steel to concrete, 15 to 1.

Design for reinforced concrete construction must conform to standard engineering practice, and special care must be taken to see that proper precautions are followed when pouring, to prevent weakening the structure. In no case must forms or supports be removed before the cement is properly set, and not within fourteen days in the case of slabs, beams and columns.

The building inspector shall have authority to compel proper precautions being taken to insure correct casting, but this section shall not be construed as holding the building inspector or the City liable for defective construction.

The contractor must be prepared to make load tests of twice the intended safe load if required by the building inspector on any portion of a reinforced concrete or steel constructed building thirty days after such portion has been erected, and the parts so tested must ^{not} show a deflection of more than 1/400 of the clear span. All cement used in reinforced concrete work must be tested by a responsible tester. The building inspector may, if he wishes, accept manufacturers' tests. All of these tests to meet the requirements specified by the American Society for Testing Materials.

All concrete for reinforced concrete construction must be mixed in a machine which mixes one complete batch at a time. All concrete shall be thoroughly mixed to a homogeneous mass before being placed in the forms. Hand mixing may be used, provided ten per cent more cement is used than would be required by machine mixing.

The concrete must be of such proportions that it will resist a crushing strain of two thousands pounds per square inch, after hardening for twenty-eight days, but for reinforced or plain concrete columns, the mixture shall not be leaner than one part of cement, three of sand, and five of the coarser aggregates, in any case. In case where the building inspector is in doubt as to these requirements being met, he may compel tests being made at the expense of the builder.

Section 15. Mill constructed buildings to meet requirements of Class "B", shall have exterior walls of masonry or other fire proof material, and must meet the following minimum requirements for interior construction. All interior loads shall be carried on post and girder construction, minimum size of post 10 inches square, except those supporting roof which square, minimum width of floor girders ten inches, roof girders, may be 8", floor beams 6", minimum depth beams and girders, 10".

Floors to be solid, constructed not less than 3" thick, planking tongued and grooved or splined. Floor beams must rest on top of girders or on iron or steel plates in walls. Girders shall rest on iron or steel plates in walls, and on iron or steel caps at columns, or in case of wood construction on heavy wood corbels, girders and joists to be self releasing at wall bearings. Columns, girders or beams of iron or steel shall be fire proofed with metal lath and plaster, or other approved material. Roof shall be of three inch planking and covered with metal or other approved incombustible roof covering. Partitions shall be of three inch planking, metal lath and plaster or of incombustible material. Other features of construction must meet class "C" requirements.

Section 16. Slow burning construction shall be construed as meaning any building which would meet the requirements of a class "C" building, but having column and girder construction and all parts of the columns, girders, ceilings and partitions entirely covered with metal lath and plaster, tile or similar incombustible material so applied as not to be easily dislodged, and having all floors double, when less than 3" planking is used.

Apartment houses must meet the requirements of the State Tenement House Act (See Appendix.)

Section 19. The following shall be the minimum requirements for any building. Joists must be at least 2" thick, and of the depth given below.

Depth of beam or joist	Maximum Span	Distance of centers.
6"	10'	16"
8"	14'	16"
10"	16'	16"
12"	20'	16"
14"	24'	16"

Beams and joists shall be figured to have a deflection of not more than $1/360$ of the span under full load. Maximum fibre strain for Washington fir or what is ordinarily known as Oregon Pine, must not exceed 1200 lbs. per sq. in. Where beams are short, their carrying capacity must be determined by their crushing strength at the bearings, and on long beams their carrying capacity must be figured so as not to exceed the deflection given above where plastered ceilings are used. Joists or girders shall not be cut in any manner on the under side for pipes or other purposes, and where joists are the minimum depth required for the span, they shall not be cut on the upperside more than one foot distant from the bearing partitions on which they rest. Where joists or timbers are cut for the purpose of running plumbing or steam pipes, piping, or for other purposes, such joists and timbers must be properly framed to sustain all floor loads as required by this ordinance.

Every wood beam except header beams must have a bearing at each end at least four inches long, and every girder or truss shall have a bearing of not less than eight inches long. The maximum crushing strength on joist and similar bearings shall not exceed five hundred pounds per square inch. Where joists ends rest in a masonry wall, the ends shall be cut to a bevel of at least 3" in their depth.

All timber, columns and posts in mill, or post and girder construction, must be cut square at both ends at right angles to their axes, and capped with timber or iron or steel caps and provided with base plates. Where the cap plate of a wood post supports a wood girder and a post above, the bottom of the upper post shall extend to, and rest on the cap of the post below, and posts and corbels must be rigidly fastened to each other so that in case of failure of beam resting on one side of corbel, the beam on the other end will be held in place. All beams must be self-releasing, and in any case when floor load exceeds 75 lbs. per sq. foot, iron or steel bolsters shall be used and bolted or lag screwed to column in such a way as to make a rigid connection, and beams must be so fastened as to make a tie, but be self-releasing in case of fire.

Corbels of wood may be used in post and girder construction where wooden posts and beams are employed, but the safe crushing strength of the material must not be exceeded.

Every wood header beam more than four feet long used in any building except class "D" construction, shall be suitably framed and hung to the trimmer beams in stirrup irons of proper thickness for the size of timbers. Ends of tail beams shall be properly framed into the header beams or shall be carried with stirrup irons hung on the header beams. These requirements shall not necessarily be enforced in residence work.

Studs in class D buildings must not be less than 2x4" for the upper two stories, and lower stories not less than 2x6". The distance on centers in any case to be not more than 16". In three story buildings 3x4 studs may be substituted for 2x6 in the lower story. Studding in all outside walls and main bearing partitions must be placed with the greatest dimension at right angles to the course of wall.

In non-bearing partitions and one story cottages having not more than 12' studs, the studs may be 2x3".

In bearing partitions, a single two-inch plate may be used underneath the studs, but at least a double two-inch plate must be used for the top plate when the construction is carried up story by story.

Where the span of wood joists exceeds eight feet, there must be at least one row of 1x4" or 1½x3" or 2x2" cross bridging for every 12' or fraction thereof. When joists are lathed and plastered or concealed, a block or fire stop not less than 2" thick must be cut in between the joists over each bearing partition completely filling the space.

Every stud partition over nine feet high ~~shall nine feet high~~ shall have a two inch bridging or fire stop the full width of the studs, cut in midway between floor and ceiling, and when plates are not used, for any height of studs, there must be a 2" fire stop at top and bottom.

In all buildings over one story high, the joists must be securely tied to each other, making a continuous tie from wall to wall, and where class B or Class C construction is used, proper means must be taken to tie joists to masonry walls as specified under masonry construction.

Where posts and girders are used under small buildings of class D construction, the posts must be at least 4x4" spaced not more than 6' centers, and no girder shall be less than 4x4".

Rafters in class B or C buildings shall not be placed further apart than 24" on centers, and must be covered with boarding not less than 1" thick. All roofs in class B and C buildings shall be covered with metal or some fire resisting composition roofing.

Section 20. Buildings of Class D construction over one story in height, shall have a continuous masonry foundation not less than 8" thick below floor level, and extend not less than 6" above finished grade. If such foundation is not more than 10' high, it must be 8" thick if built of brick or 6" thick if built of masonry other than reinforced concrete, and for every successive 10' of height thereof, below the top 10', the walls shall be increased 4" in thickness. The footing for such a wall shall be not less than 50% wider than the wall resting on it. Under no circumstances shall a foundation of any brick or stone building be built on filled or made ground. Foundations shall be proportioned to the actual load they must sustain in the completed and occupied building, and must be at least 4" thicker than the walls next above them, unless otherwise specifically provided for in this ordinance. Details of foundations are subject to the approval of the building inspector, and must conform with good engineering practice.

Foundation walls for Class A, B and C buildings, the foundation walls shall have sufficient depth to be approved by the building inspector. A greater depth may be required by the Building Inspector if it is necessary in his judgment in order to obtain the necessary stability.

Piers shall be built of concrete or good well burned brick laid in cement mortar, except that ornamental piers fronting on the street may be built of stone. Every masonry pier buttress or pilaster exceeding in height four times its least dimension, and carrying two-thirds of its safe load shall be bonded each 4' with cast iron plates or reinforced concrete slabs or with heavy galvanized wire mesh, of not less than #16 wire and not larger than $\frac{1}{2}$ " mesh. In brick piers where wire mesh is used, it must be laid in full size of the pier every seventh course, and for piers fronting on a street bond stone to conform with the kind of stone for the trimming of the front may be used above the sidewalk level. Piers other than those in the front wall must be capped with iron or steel plates of proper strength and size under all columns or girders. No stone post or pier for the support of posts or columns shall be used in the interior of any building, and marble or granite columns shall not be used for the support of any wall over one story high.

Retaining Walls, within ten feet of any property or curb line in any basement, or any walled embankment over 4' high, shall have the design and specifications, (and if required by the building inspector, strain sheets and calculations) placed on file with the building inspector and approved by him before any construction shall commence. A permit for this work shall be issued and charged for in the same manner as a building permit.

Basement or foundation walls and piers must have footings of concrete, or be built of other approved masonry laid up in cement mortar, proportioned to the sustaining value of the soil, and the loads to be imposed thereon. Such footings shall be not less than 75% wider than the walls which they carry, unless otherwise provided for in this ordinance.

Filler Walls, Light Courts, and Shafts, must be as specified under class A construction.

In class A buildings shall be constructed of masonry of a thickness, and supported as required for other masonry walls, but if built of skeleton construction, such walls shall have a minimum thickness of 6" for masonry and 3" for reinforced concrete, and openings into such light shafts shall be equipped with standard fire doors and shutters or with wire glass and metal frame windows.

In buildings of class B and C construction, the walls of all light courts and shafts whose ground area exceeds 25 sq. ft., shall be constructed the same as required for class A buildings excepting that the minimum thickness of the masonry may be reduced to 4". For interior light shafts in class C buildings, the walls may be fire proofed by covering with metal lath and plaster on the exposed side, if sheeted solidly behind such plaster with $\frac{7}{8}$ " sheeting.

If not over three stories high, masonry light court walls may be carried either on a masonry wall or a steel or concrete beam, and must be backed with stud and tight board sheathing if walls are built of tile. Light court walls of masonry when used in class B or C construction and not resting on other masonry walls must be securely supported directly underneath the wall by post and girder construction.

The walls and piers of all buildings shall be properly and solidly bonded together with close joints filled with mortar, and in no case shall any wall or walls of any building be carried up over one scaffold in advance of any other wall without the special permission of the building inspector.

All brick walls shall be bonded every seventh course or less with full header courses. In walls faced with cut stone Terra Cotta, or any such material, and where such facing is not bonded with header courses as specified above, such facing shall not be considered as part of the wall, and the wall must be built full thickness without considering such facing. Flemish bond work shall have full headers every third course. When face brick or Ashler are tied to masonry walls with metallic wall ties, at least one metallin wall tie shall be used to each two square feet of wall surface.

In estimating the thickness of wall required for any building when table #1 is used, stories must not be taken to exceed the following dimensions:

12 ft. for the basement and 16 ft. for the first story, and 12 ft. for upper stories excepting top story, which may be 16 ft. when no ceiling joists are used. When table #2 is used, the clear height of stories shall not exceed 11 ft. for the basement, 14 ft. for the first story, and 11 ft for the upper stories except the top story which may be 14 ft. to the roof timbers, when no ceiling joists are used. If any story exceed theforegoing heights, given in either table, walls of such story and the walls below that story shall be increased 4" in thickness.

The external walls of all buildings used for the sale, storage or manufacture of merchandise, office buildings,,livery, boarding and sales stables and all public buildings and all other buildings over four stories in height, shall be of a thickness not less than that indicated by the following table.

Buildings over 100' in length shall have the side and bearing walls increased 4½" in thickness over that specified in the above tables, for each additional 100' or fraction thereof in length unless such walls are strengthened by proper piers or buttresses.

In any horizontal section in any wall, if there shall be more than 50% of openings, then such walls shall be increased at least $4\frac{1}{2}$ " in thickness and the walls below increased proportionately.

In all walls, the same amount of material indicated by the tables may be used in piers pilasters or buttresses, with proper filler walls between, or have hollow walls, but when such construction is employed, it shall be subject to the approval of the building inspector.

Nine inch filler walls may be permitted in one story buildings if strengthened by not less than 13x17" piers spaced not more than 17' on centers. All hollow walls shall be properly bonded together with brick, steel and Terra Cotta or with galvanized iron or steel ties not over three feet apart in any direction.

When an offset or corbel is used in a wall, a chimney or masonry construction, the offset shall not exceed 1" for each course of brick.

Furred masonry walls shall be provided with fire stops at each floor, and at least one point intermediate between the floors. When a chimney breast is furred out, the space between the chimney and the breast shall be so built that the passage of fire and smoke shall be prevented.

All girders and joists shall be so anchored to the walls and to each other, as to make a continuous tie from wall to wall in each direction. The beams may be united by suitable iron ties of not less than $\frac{1}{4}$ " sectional area spiked, bolted or so fastened as to develop the full strength of the tie. lugs turned up into the beams, and with a----- lug extending down into the brick work at least 4" at a point in the brick work not more than 4" from the outer face of the wall, or $\frac{5}{8}$ " round anchors may be used as hereinafter required for joists. Joist anchors shall be of $\frac{5}{8}$ " round iron at least 18" long with $\frac{5}{8}$ x10" "T" head or a 6x6" iron washer not less than $\frac{3}{8}$ " thick, securely fastened to the end. Such head or washer to be not more than 4" from the outside face of the wall. All anchors shall go through walls where possible. The inner ends of the anchors shall be securely tied to the beams or joists in such a way as to make the anchor self-releasing. Inner ends of joists may be spiked for a continuous tie.

When joists run approximately parallel with the walls, they shall be anchored to the walls with anchors of a cross section of at least $\frac{1}{4}$ " sq. in. in sectional area. These anchors to extend over at least the second joist from the wall, and to be fastened in the walls in the same manner as described for the anchors above.

Anchors shall not be more than 8' apart in all walls, and at each tier of joists above the first tier.

Fire Walls shall be anchored as described under fire walls.

When iron or steel girders are used, they shall be anchored back into the wall securely with anchors approved by the building inspector. Every girder or truss used with masonry construction, shall have a bearing of not less than 8" in length and the total load on such bearing shall not exceed 500 lbs. per square inch. A bond of at least #16 galvanized iron netting not over $\frac{1}{4}$ " mesh, 2" less than the width of the wall shall be placed two courses below each tier of floor and ceiling joists of each building over three stories in height, and run around the entire walls of the building and lap full width at intersections. The ends of all wood floor and roof beams where they rest on brick walls shall be cut with a bevel of 3in. in their depth. The walls between joists must be carried up solidly, full width to the top of the joists, and each wood beam entering the masonry wall must be separated from any other beams entering such wall, by at least 8" of solid masonry.

Party Walls shall not be less than $4\frac{1}{2}$ " thicker than required for external walls in the preceding tables, or walls may be built of the thickness required in the tables, and the corbeled ledges be built out to carry the joists. In case the wall is corbeled, the corbeling shall be carried to the top of the joists.

Existing party walls built before the passage of this ordinance, and used or to be used as party walls, and whose thickness at the time of their erection was in accordance with the requirements of the then existing laws, but which do not now meet the requirements of this ordinance, may be used if in good condition for the ordinary use of party walls, provided that the height of the building is not increased, and it can be shown to the satisfaction of the building inspector that such walls will carry the loads to be placed thereon.

All exterior or party walls over 15' high shall have parapet walls not less than 8" in thickness carried 2' above the roof. For warehouses, factories, stores and other buildings used for commercial or manufacturing purposes, the parapet walls shall be not less than 12" in thickness, and all party and division walls shall be carried three feet above the roof. Parapet walls must be laid in cement mortar, and properly coped and where such walls extend over four times their thickness above the roof, they shall be securely braced with iron braces not less than 3/4" in diameter, every 12' in length of wall.

Every opening in a masonry wall shall have an arch of masonry, or a lintel of stone or reinforced concrete. In class B buildings, openings less than 6' in width may have wooden lintels on the inside with relieving arches above. The design and calculation for all arches and lintels shall be subject to the approval of the building inspector.

No recess for any pipe shall be made in any wall more than one third of its thickness. No recess shall be made nearer than 6' to any other recess in the same wall. No horizontal recess or chase in any wall shall be made exceeding 4' in length.

No veneering of brick, stone or Terra Cotta, on any frame building, shall be over 40' in height, from ground level to upper wall plates. All veneered buildings must be sheathed solid with 1" boards, and veneering must be fastened to the building with either 20d spikes or 1/8" galvanized bond wires bedded into mortar joints and well secured to the studding. Such spikes or bonds must be not farther than 12x16 inches apart.

All walls piers and girders used as underpinning in class A, B and C buildings shall be constructed of concrete, hard brick, or steel. The designs, specifications and calculations for such walls, piers and girders shall be submitted to the building inspector and approved by him before construction shall commence.

All chimneys and flues hereafter constructed in buildings of two stories or more, shall be of brick or masonry. Flues where wood or coal are used, shall be not less than 7½x7½". Their enclosing walls must be at least 4" thick, and except in dwellings, apartment houses and Tenement houses, shall if less than 8" thick, be lined on the inside with burnt clay or Terra Cotta flue lining, not less than 3/4" thick, and such lining shall start at the lowest point where any smoke enters the flue, and shall be continuous to the top. Where flue lining is not required, the inside of the chimney shall be plastered smoothly for the entire height, and on the outside where passing through joists or roof. Terra Cotta or cement flues may be used on one story cottages, when approved by the building inspector. Chimneys in all buildings other than one story residences, must start from concrete base laid on the ground. In one story residences, chimneys may be carried on top of posts or studding, extending straight down, and there must be at least 8" of solid masonry below the end of the flue. None but Terra Cotta Thimbles shall be used, and plastering must be done directly on the brick or masonry around thimble, or wire lath may be used, but no wood lath must approach within 5" of any thimble.

Top of thimbles must be at least one foot below the ceiling, and at least 6" from side-wall. Flues larger than 200 sq.in. must have walls at least 8" thick. Flues larger than 500 sq.in. must have walls at least 12" thick; for a height of 15' above the inlet, and 8" thick the remaining height. Flues larger than 100 sq.in. shall be proportionately increased in size, and shall be lined with fire brick for at least 20' above the inlet. The brick work of the smoke flues of all low pressure boilers, furnaces, bakers' ovens, large cooking ranges, large laundry stoves, and flues used for commercial purposes, shall be at least 8" in thickness, and where subjected to high temperatures, must be lined on the inside with well burned clay or Terra Cotta pipe, and shall be properly capped with coping.

Where any flue is subjected to a very high temperature, the building inspector may require additionally thick walls and a lining of fire brick or other material. Chimneys built outside of frame structures or in light walls thereof, shall be well stayed at intervals of not less than 10'.

All chimneys and flues shall extend 2' above the highest point of a flat roof or fire walls, and at least 18" above the ridge of a peaked roof except when a chimney is 10' from the peak, it may be stopped level with the same. If a chimney rises above the roof for more than six times its least dimension, it shall be anchored to the roof with an iron rod or pipe, not less than 1" in diameter, running clear through the chimney and properly secured to it, and all such chimneys shall be laid in cement mortar.

Chimneys and stacks connected with steam boilers shall extend not less than 10' above the wood-work of the roof or any adjacent roof within 50' and if sawdust and shavings or wood are used for fuel, the chimney shall extend 20' above such roof and be provided with a spark arrestor. Spark arrestors shall be placed upon all chimneys and stacks when deemed necessary by the building inspector for the safety of property, or to abate a nuisance.

Where a building is situated adjacent to one taller, and it is necessary to carry chimneys to height of taller building, the owner of taller building must allow attachment of flue to his building.

Chimneys and flues from boilers, restaurant and hotel ranges, bakers' ovens and similarly unusually hot flues, must be left exposed to the ceiling of the room in which connection is made with the chimney. The building inspector may order a higher chimney when necessary to abate a nuisance or for safety.

All fire places and chimney breasts where mantels are used (except gas grates), whether maintained for an ordinary fire place or not, shall have trimmer arches to support the hearth. Arches shall be of brick, iron or masonry, at least 24" wide, measuring from the face of the chimney breast, must extend clear across the chimney breast. Hearth shall be of fire proof material. All fire places with wood mantels, must have the fire place openings surrounded with not less than 6" rim of non combustibile material, between the fire place opening and wood mantel. The backs and jambsof all fire places shall be not less than 8" thick of solid masonry and openings must be lined with at least 2" of fire brick, Terra Cotta or asbestos composition, or if the lining of the fire place opening is of soap stone, tile or cast iron this 2" lining thickness shall be met by filling in with some non-combustible material. All wood beams shall be trimmed away from all flues and chimneys. The trimmer beams shall be not less than 4" from the outside of a chimney breast and the header beams not less than 2" from the outside face of the brick or masonry work of the flue.

The header beam carrying the tail beams of the floor, and supporting the trimmer arch in front of the fire place, shall be not less than 24" from the chimney breast.

Section 21. Hollow tile may be used for bearing walls in buildings three stories or less in height, or for enclosure walls of skeleton constructed buildings of any height where the wall is carried on beams at each story, but not in party walls which must be built solid. Thickness of walls must conform to the following schedule:

	First	Second	Third
One Story	6"

Two Stories	8"	6"
Three Stories	12"	10"	6"

Where tile work is exposed to the weather the outside must either be plastered or some approved means taken to water proof it. Where a girder or beam rests upon a wall so that there is a concentrated load of two tons or over, some means must be taken of supporting the end of the girder either by filling the tile solidly, or with a concrete or iron plate.

No tile shall be loaded to an excess of 150 lbs. per sq. inch of net section in compression, if set on end, or 75 lbs. if set on side, unless a special permit shall be issued by the building inspector for some special method of construction.

All hollow tile for exterior walls or bearing partitions, must be laid in cement mortar. A bond composed of wire mesh not less than 20 guage for $\frac{1}{4}$ " mesh, or 16 guage for $\frac{1}{2}$ " mesh shall be placed the full width of the wall every fourth course. This mesh must be not coarser than $\frac{1}{2}$ " and galvanized wire.

Where there is a concentrated load some approved method must be used to take care of the load at that point.

Hollow Block and Artificial Stone must meet the same requirements as laid down for hollow tile and masonry construction.

Artificial stone made of Portland cement and incombustible and fire proof material, may be used as a substitute for any natural stone, provided, it will maintain a crushing load of 2000 per sq. in. of net area.

Section 22. All excavations shall be so guarded and protected as to prevent the same from becoming dangerous to persons or property. When necessary, precautions must be taken to prevent the caving in of the sides, and the building inspector is hereby given authority to order such to be done when necessary. The depth of 11 ft. below the adjacent curb level is hereby fixed as the standard depth of foundations.

Basements under sidewalks must not extend farther from the building than to within 3' of the curb line.

Sidewalks shall be designed and constructed to sustain a safe live load of 250 lbs. per sq.in.

No openings shall be placed in any sidewalk extending beyond the property line except such openings as are herein expressly authorized. There may be openings provided they are covered by metal sidewalk trap doors, the outside edge of which shall be not less than 4' from the outside edge of curb. Every such opening shall be provided with proper guards extending 3' above the height of the sidewalk, and surrounding the opening when sidewalk doors are opened. There may be also openings in the sidewalks properly covered for the admittance of fuel, or for meters. All sidewalk openings must be covered with metal doors designed to sustain same load as the sidewalk, and with the top properly roughened to prevent slipping. No permanent gratings or openings of any form shall be allowed in any sidewalk.

No bay window shall be allowed to project beyond the property line, on any public street or alley. Balconies constructed of iron or steel or masonry, may project not over 3' from the lot line if constructed to sustain a live load of two hundred pounds per square inch, but such balconies must be at least 10' in the clear above sidewalk. Main entrances of buildings may project not to exceed 12" beyond the property line. Bases of columns and pilasters other than at the main entrance may project beyond the building line not over 9", but other than these no projections shall be allowed.

Where floor lights are used, the glass in no case shall be less than $\frac{3}{4}$ " in thickness and if any glass measures more than 16 sq.in. it must be provided with strong wire netting, either cast in the glass or suspended blow. Such floor lights and sidewalk lights must be constructed to sustain the same load as required for the floors or sidewalks in which they are placed.

Before any public street alley or sidewalk is partially occupied or obstructed in any greater degree than specifically allowed by this section, or used for any purpose in connection with work governed by this ordinance, a permit for such use must first be obtained from the building inspector, for which a fee of one dollar shall be charged. When any excavation is completed, which occupies sidewalk area of a public street, it shall be compulsory that there be constructed over such excavation, a substantial temporary walk so constructed and maintained at all times as to afford safe and free and unobstructed passage for pedestrians. This sidewalk must be maintained at a level with the surface of the street at a not greater elevation than 4' above the same, and must be not less than 6' in width. Around any excavation which fronts directly on the street a substantial fence or railing must be maintained on such street frontage, but no fence, signs or similar obstructions shall be placed higher than 6' unless inside the center line of the sidewalks next the property line.

It shall be unlawful to erect any building on a property line at the sidewalk unless during the erection of such building, if within the fire limits a temporary canopy is maintained at least 10' above the sidewalk, the full length of the front of the building, and extending the full width of the sidewalk. The top of such canopy shall be constructed of 2" planking, and properly carried on posts and beams.

This canopy must be constructed in such a manner as to afford ample protection to any person passing on the sidewalk, but the side of this temporary structure next to the street must not be boarded up or covered with signs, but where raised above the street level, must be protected with a railing.

Sidewalks, streets or alleys must be occupied only in connection with the actual erection repairs, alteration, removal or demolition of a building, and it shall be unlawful to occupy or obstruct any part of any street, alley or sidewalk unless such operations are actually in progress on premises abutting on such part of street, alley or sidewalk.

At least one-half of the width of the sidewalk and not less than 10'0" of the width of any alley, must be left unobstructed and clear in every way at all times, and it shall be unlawful to occupy more than one-fourth of the width of the roadway of any street in connection with any building operation. If there be a car track on any street, there must be a clear space at least 4'0" wide left alongside of such track. It shall be unlawful to store earth from excavations, or rubbish or material taken from any building on the sidewalks or the roadway of any street or alley, but the same must be removed from day to day. Proper precautions must be taken to lay the dust from all rubbish being handled in connection with building operations. When any material is stored on any sidewalk or in any street or alley, a red light must be maintained during the whole of every night at each end of any such obstruction.

Section 23. The following data shall govern all calculations made in connection with this ordinance.

The dead loads in all buildings shall consist of the actual weight of walls, floors, roofs, partitions, and all permanent constructions, and the live loads shall consist of all loads other than dead loads. Every floor and roof shall be of sufficient strength in all its parts to bear safely upon every square foot of its surface a total load consisting of the dead load and the following live loads:

Pounds.

Dwelling Houses	30
Apartment Houses	50

	Pounds
Tenement Houses	50
Lodging Houses	50
Hospitals	50
Hotels	50
Stables	85
Garages	100
Office Buildings, 1st floor	100
Office building or floors above first	75
School houses and places of instruction	100
Auditoriums or places of public assemblage	125
Ordinary Stores	100
Buildings for light storage	150
Roofs	30
Buildings for light manufacturing	150

Buildings not classified in the above table must be designed to safely carry the loads to which they may be subjected.

Every column or vertical support shall be of sufficient strength to bear safely the weight of the portion of the floor depending on it. When calculating the necessary strength of columns in all buildings over five stories in height, it shall be permissible to reduce the live load 5% for each succeeding floor below the top floor until 50% of the live loads fixed by the preceding section is reached. When such reduced loads shall be used for all remaining floors down to and including the second floor, but the full live load shall be taken on the first floor. All beams and girders must be calculated to support the full live and dead loads.

The weight placed on any floor of any building shall be safely distributed thereon, and the building inspector may require the lightening or re-distribution of any such load when he deems it necessary. When any part of any building is used for the storage of any materials or for manufacturing purposes, there shall be posted in a conspicuous place on each floor on a form to be supplied by the building inspector, a statement as to the load that the floor may safely carry per superficial foot, and the floor must not be loaded beyond this capacity, computation of this load to be made by the building inspector. It shall be deemed a misdemeanor to overload such a floor.

When no test of the sustaining power of the soils is made, different soils shall be deemed to safely sustain the following loads per superficial foot.

Soft clay, 1 ton; ordinary clay, and sand together in layers wet and springy, 2 tons; loamy clay or fine sand dry, 3 tons; very firm coarse sand or still gravel, 4 tons; hard pan, 4 tons.

When a test is made of the sustaining power of the soil, the building inspector may modify these requirements, but he shall be notified when such test is to take place, and may be present either in person or by representative. The report of the test shall be filed in the office of the building inspector, and when doubt arises as to the safe sustaining power of the soil upon which a building is to be erected, the building inspector may order borings or other tests to be made to determine the safe load. For estimating the load on footings, the following conditions must be observed.

Warehouses and factories, full dead and full live load to be taken; in stores and buildings for light manufacturing purposes, and in buildings for public assemblage or amusement, full dead load, and 75% of the live load; in office buildings hotels, apartment houses, dwellings, stables, a full dead load and 60% of live load. Footings must be so designated as to make the load as nearly uniform as possible.

Safe bearing load on brick work shall be taken as eight tons per superficial foot when lime mortar is used. When lime and cement mortar are used, 11½ tons; when cement mortar is used, 15 tons. For rubble stone work, 5 tons, per superficial foot shall be the minimum load when lime mortar is used, 8 tons when cement mortar other than Portland is used; 7 tons when lime and cement mortar are used; 10 tons when Portland cement mortar is used. A safe bearing load for concrete shall be taken at 8 tons per superficial foot when other than Portland cement is used, and 15 tons when Portland is used.

Materials used in the construction of buildings shall be of good quality for the purpose intended. Cement must meet the requirements of the American Society for Testing Materials, and steel shall meet the standard requirements. Should any doubt arise as to the quality of materials, the building inspector may order tests to be made under his supervision, and a certified copy of such tests shall be filed with him.

Section 24. Every projection beyond the wall line of class B or C building, shall be made of incombustible material excepting as hereinafter provided. Metal cornices shall have riveted joints, and shall be supported by heavy steel or iron brackets properly braced. Such Brackets must be capable of sustaining a test load of three times that which they are designed to carry, and must be properly anchored through the masonry wall or attached to the roof. The roof covering of any cornice may be sheathed with wood, provided that such sheathing is entirely covered with metal or composition roofing. It may extend to within 6" of the front edge of the cornice, but this 6" must be covered with metal, and the brick fire wall must be carried solidly to the underside of the boarding forming the top of the cornice.

In all buildings of Class "C" construction, the ceiling of every cellar or basement shall be metal lathed and plastered or otherwise fire proofed.

No wall or part of a wall in any existing building nor in any building hereafter erected shall be removed to produce a larger floor area than herein specified. Openings in fire walls of buildings shall in no case exceed three in number, nor be over 8'0" in width, nor more than 10'0" in height, and there must be a curtain wall at least 3'0" high between the top of such door openings and the ceiling line above. These openings must be provided with approved automatic self closing fire proof doors on both sides of the wall.

Floor areas in any building must not exceed the following limitations, In all stores warehouses, or factories of Class A or B construction, and in all buildings of Class C construction, no single floor area between fire walls shall exceed the following limitations:

	Class A	Class B	Class C
Fronting on one street only	10,000 sq.ft.	7,500 sq.ft.	5,000 sq.ft.
Fronting on corner or extending from street
to street.....	12,000 " "	10,000 " "	6,750 " "
Fronting on three streets	15,000 " "	11,250 " "	7,500 " "
With permanent open space at least
30'0" wide on all sides.....	20,000 " "	15,00 " "	9,000 " "

In class A and B buildings when the occupancy is other than stores, warehouses, or factories, the above specified areas may be increased one third.

In case buildings covered by the above provision, are equipped with an approved system of automatic sprinklers, the areas given above may be increased 50%. The automatic sprinkler system including the water supply, shall be kept in perfect working order by the owner, lessee or occupant of the premises. When more than two buildings communicate, although protected by double standard fire proof doors, they shall be provided with an approved system of automatic sprinklers where occupied as stores, warehouses, or factories.

Roofs of Class A Buildings must be constructed throughout with fire proof materials, but may have a top coating of asphaltum or composition roofing. On all Class B or C buildings, metal or composition roofing may be used, and rafters must not be less than 24" from center to center, covered with 1" boarding.

Every building within the fire limits shall be provided with iron or steel water conductors with sufficient capacity to convey all surface drainage from the roof to the street or alley. Such conductor must be extended to the curb line, and discharge into the gutter, and must be below the surface of the sidewalk, and where buried in the ground, must be of cast iron. Every conductor pipe must be constructed with an overflow 4" above the level of the roof at its lowest point.

The space between the ceiling of the top story and the roof in any class B, C or D building, shall be divided by light partitions of 1" boards into sections having an area not exceeding 2500 sq.ft. Some means of entering each one of these sections must be provided, so that easy access may be had from the roof.

There must be a hatchway, provided with a stairway or a permanent ladder, in the roof of each class A, B or C building. The cover of such hatch must not be locked in place, but may be provided with a bolt or some means of fastening, so that the hatch may be easily opened from the inside at any time.

All sky lights in class A, B, or C buildings, other than over elevator or stair shafts, shall be of wire glass not less than $\frac{1}{4}$ " thick, set in metallic frames or prismatic glass set in concrete. Sky lights over elevators and stair shafts must be made of glass not more than $\frac{1}{8}$ " thick and covered above and below with strong wire netting, and wire glass must not be used. Over elevator shafts there must be a sky light of at least three fourths the area of the shaft, and there shall be a skylight over every stair enclosure of at least $\frac{3}{8}$ the area of the shaft, the same as required for elevator shafts.

Elevators shafts in Class A buildings must be completely enclosed and constructed of fire proof materials throughout, and shall extend from the basement to at least 3'0" above the roof. All door openings in such elevator enclosures shall be provided with standard fire doors and the sills shall be of incombustible material. Wire glass may be used to form part of such enclosure, and must be not less than $\frac{1}{4}$ " thick in fixed metal frames and sash.

When the lower end of the shaft is open to accommodate machinery, such machinery must be enclosed in a manner similar to the shaft, so that the shaft and machinery covering form one complete fire proof enclosure. In Class B and C buildings, elevators must be enclosed in a shaft similar to class A, except in this case, stud partitions may be allowed to be substituted for the fire proof construction if covered with metal lath and plaster on both sides $\frac{3}{4}$ " thick, and all doors in such shafts may be constructed of metal or metal covered with wood or wire glass, and the room containing the elevator machinery shall be of the same construction as required for the elevator shafts. The elevator cage must be made of fire proof materials excepting the floor which may be of hard wood.

Every passenger elevator car or hoist shall be provided with proper automatic apparatus to prevent its falling in case of accident. Immediately below the cheave beams of elevators, there shall be placed a strong metal netting of not less than $\frac{3}{16}$ " round iron, and having a mesh not exceeding two inches and above this netting, there shall be a like wire netting not exceeding $\frac{3}{8}$ " mesh all of which must be properly and firmly supported.

Every elevator and its carrying beams and cables shall have a capacity of not less than 100 lbs. to the square foot of cage floor, and a factor of safety of ten. Every elevator must be provided with an automatic device which will stop the car at the top and bottom floors, and with safety devices which will bring the car to a stop in case of excessive speed or failure in any part of the apparatus.

Freight Elevators when enclosed, shall have enclosures meeting the requirements as given above for passenger elevators, and when not enclosed, trap doors shall be provided at each floor, which shall close automatically or be held back by fusible links so arranged as to allow the doors to fall shut when links are fused. Such trap doors must be covered with lock jointed tin or metal on the underside.

Dumb Waiters shall be enclosed in a shaft of the same construction as required for elevators or the shaft may be of metal or metal lining, and in any case all openings to such shafts shall be provided with doors or curbs.

Chutes or shafts in class A, B, or C buildings must be of the same construction as required for dumb waiter shafts.

Pipe, vent and other ducts: Class A, B or C buildings must be constructed to meet the requirements of dumb waiter shafts, but if thoroughly fire stopped at each floor, doors will not be required over openings, otherwise standard fire doors must be provided at each opening.

Ventilating shafts in class A, B or C buildings must be of fire proof construction. In case of B or C constructed buildings, metal lath and plaster or metal lining will be construed as meeting the requirements. Vents from coolers, or stove hoods, or any vents if cut through from floor to floor in buildings of any class other than residences, must be constructed to meet these requirements. Vents from coolers must not open into air shafts in which any bath room or toilet room opens.

No stairway shall surround or run alongside of an elevator shaft or open hole unless separated from the same by a partition or wall of fire proof materials, or unless there is in the same building another stairway not adjacent to an elevator shaft or well hole, and in no case shall any floor of more than 10,000 sq.ft. area have less than the two stairways from the top floor to the second floor. Where two stairways are required in any building, they shall be placed as far as possible from each other. Class B and C buildings shall have one main stairway not less than 4'0" wide from the first to the highest story, and in any building having more than 6000 sq.ft. area on any floor, there shall be not less than two stairways from the top to the second floor, and there shall be in any case one permanent flight of steps not less than 2'8" wide to the roof. Every basement used for the exhibition or the sale of goods at retail, shall be provided with a separate stairway at least 5' in width, for every 5000 sq.ft. of floor area thereof in such basement, and such stairways shall be without winders and must have a hand rail on each side, and shall be as far removed from each other as possible, and shall have aisles of at least the width of the stairways connecting the stairways, which shall be kept open and free from obstruction at all times.

In all warehouses and factories, the stair or stairs shall be enclosed in the same manner as required for elevator shafts except that open stairs may be permitted from the first to the second floor for ornamental effect. All door openings in such stair enclosures shall be provided with standard self closing or automatic fire doors, and all window openings shall be protected as required for elevator shafts. At least one of such enclosed stair walls in each building shall have a similarly constructed enclosed hallway on the first story extending to the street. Any hotel building having an area requiring more than one stairway, shall have at least one such continuous and enclosed stairway, and stairways from the first floor to any basement or portion thereof which is used for storage or for the maintenance of service for the hotel shall be enclosed as specified above.

Pent houses and bulk heads in class D buildings, if used for storage only, one stairway will be required, 3'6" wide, extending from top to bottom floor.

Used for the enclosure of tanks the machinery of elevators and all other pent houses or structure on buildings not over four stories in height, may be constructed of wood covered with metal, provided their heights shall not exceed 10'0" nor their superficial area 10% of the area of the building. Any such pent house, if within, 3'0", of a party or division fire wall, such wall must be carried up three feet higher than such structure for a distance of at least 3'0" on each side. Where pent houses exceed the area given above, they must be constructed entirely of fire proof material.

Tanks having a capacity of over five hundred gallons placed on or above the roof of any class A, B or C buildings, must be supported by an iron, steel or reinforced concrete beam, the ends of which must rest on masonry walls or other fire proof construction. There must be a short outlet pipe in the bottom of each tank with a valve not less than 4" in diameter which can be easily and quickly opened to drain the tank in an emergency. When possible, tanks shall be placed at the corner of the building, but must not be placed over stairways.

No part of an awning shall be constructed over a sidewalk, but a metal canopy may be used over the main entrance, to any building, provided it covers no part of a store front or store entrance. Such canopy shall be constructed of metal, and be supported entirely by metal frames, and supports, but the use of wired glass not less than $\frac{1}{4}$ " thick will be allowed. Such canopy must be supported entirely free of the sidewalk, and no part of such canopy shall come closer than 8'0" to the sidewalk, measured in the clear. Proper provision must be made to carry water from the top of the canopies down through a conductor pipe on the face of the building. The supporting members of all canopies shall be figured with a factor of safety of six.

Canvas awnings placed over the sidewalk must clear the sidewalk by 8'0" at their lowest point but hanging borders at the bottom and supporting brackets will be permitted to come within 7'0" of the sidewalk.

Wooden signs will not be allowed on the face, walls or roof of any building, within the fire limits. Before any overhanging signs shall be placed on any building, a permit for its erection shall be procured from the building inspector, for which a fee of one dollar shall be charged. The construction of such signs to be subject to his approval.

Before any room or building shall be used for the purpose of smoking meats, a detailed statement must be filed with the building inspector showing the location of such room or building, all doors and windows opening in the same, and the location and heights of any building within 20'0" of such room or building. Such smoke house or room shall be built entirely of masonry or fire proof construction including the trim, doors and windows, and the sills of all doors entering rooms used for such a purpose, must be 2'0" above the floor. Vents from such smoke house must be arranged so that the smoke will not blow in any window within 50'0"

No room shall be used for a bath room or toilet room unless it is ventilated by means of a window opening directly into the open air or into a suitable fresh air shaft with an air intake at the bottom. Any bath room containing a gas water heater shall have an air intake from outside of the building entering the room at the floor line at about the location of the heater, and must also have a vent at the ceiling connecting with the outside air. Each of these vents to be at least 8x12". Any vent shaft for toilet room must be at least 2'0" square and must contain at least 56 square inches of cross area for each water closet or urinal situated in any room opening on such shaft.

No safe shall be placed in any part of any building above the basement level until a permit has been obtained from the building inspector. The building inspector shall inspect the strength of the floor and a permit shall be refused or granted by his decision.

Section 25. Whenever cooking ranges, (except in residences,) ovens, candy kettles, coffee roasters or similar apparatus in which fires are maintained, are set on any wooden floor, the floor underneath such apparatus must be protected by a continuous metal plate of not less than #12 iron, and all joints securely fastened. Such plate must extend at least 2'0" in front of such apparatus, and must be the full length of the same. The top of the plate must be covered with at least 3" of hollow tile laid in cement mortar, so laid that the hollow spaces in the tile form a continuous opening from end to end. This tile is to be covered with one course of brick laid in cement mortar or with 1" of concrete. Such apparatus as named above must not be set nearer than 12" to any wood work or wooden stud partition, and if nearer than this to such a wall or partition, a hole must be cut out of such wall at least 4'0" higher and 1'0" wider than such range or apparatus, and the wall filled in solidly with masonry or fire proof construction. Where a ceiling above any large range in any hotel, restaurant or boarding house is composed of wood or lath, and plaster, such range shall be guarded with a metal hood, leaving a clear space of at least 9" between the hood and the ceiling, and a ventilating pipe shall be carried from such hood to the outside air or connected to a brick flue. Such vent pipe must be covered with 1" of asbestos, and no pipe nor flue shall be used for any other purpose, but shall have vent carried at least 9" from any wood or plaster or other combustible material.

In buildings already constructed, a double flue may be substituted if made with a continuous air space of 3" all round the inner flue.

Portable ranges and stoves shall have a metal shield under the same extending 12" beyond the stove and if placed nearer than 20" to any woodwork or wood lath and plaster work such work must be protected by a metal or asbestos shield with at least 1" air space behind it. Wood floors under large gas ranges shall be protected with metal over asbestos or 1" of masonry. Where a protecting shield is required behind a stove or other apparatus, such shield must extend 3'0" above the top of the stove.

No grate, log, heater or any apparatus burning gas which is permanently attached, shall be used in any building unless a vent is provided for carrying off the fumes from such apparatus and where a vent pipe is attached to the apparatus itself, such vent pipe must be carried full sized its entire length. Where vents are not subjected to intense heat, they may be carried either to the outside air, or to a ventilated place, underneath the roof. Vents must be at least three inches in interior diameter, in any case, and no vent from any automatic heater shall connect with any chimney or flue into which there is any other connection. No gas heater of any description shall be installed in a closed closet. Such vents must be made of galvanized iron or other fire proof material. Where vents are subjected to high temperature special precaution must be taken to see that surrounding wood work is protected.

All vents as required above, when concealed, must be covered with asbestos weighing at least ten pounds to 100 sq. ft.

The top of each heating furnace set in brick must be at least 2'0" below the joists above it, and the top of the furnace must be covered with sheet iron and brick supported by iron bars with at least 2" of sand on top of the brick.

The top of portable heating furnaces or smoke pipes from the same, must be kept 3'0" below the underside of joists and girders unless such woodwork is protected by a metal plate suspended in such a way that there will be a 1½" of air space all around such woodwork, and brick must extend one foot beyond all smoke pipes or furnaces in every direction. In no case shall smoke pipe or furnace be within 15" of any woodwork. Every furnace used for heating purposes must be set on a masonry floor and no woodwork will be allowed within 2'0" of such furnace unless it is protected with metal plates in the manner above described.

Where any liquid fuel is used under any furnace, such furnace must be in a masonry pit 6" below the surrounding floor level and such pit must be at least 2'0" larger on all sides than the furnace.

All concealed wall pipes, register boxes and fittings shall be completely covered with two thicknesses of eight pound asbestos paper securely cemented to the pipe, and no heated air

Under any condition shall be circulated through a wooden vent flue or any wooden construction, but must be carried in metal pipes or other fire proof construction.

Steam heating pipes shall not be placed within 2" of any timber or woodwork unless such is protected by metal or asbestos when the distance may be decreased to not less than 1" Where such pipes pass through floor, ceilings or lath and plaster, or wood partitions, pipes must be surrounded by a metal tube passing entirely through such work with a clear space of $\frac{1}{2}$ " on all sides of steam pipes, and all steam pipes must be so sheathed when concealed.

Pipes used for conveying live steam under high pressure shall in no case be brought within 8" of any woodwork unless protected by a fire proof pipe covering at least one inch thick, when the distance may be decreased to not less than 2"

All walls surrounding the boiler room shall be of masonry construction for their full height, and the ceilings of the entire room shall be either of fire proof construction or metal lath and plaster. In class C or D buildings, the walls may be made of metal lath and plaster. Every boiler room shall be provided with a sump hole or blow off chamber and the water or steam from the boiler shall in no case be allowed to blow or discharge direct to the sewer. No wood shall be used in the construction of the floor of any boiler room. Every boiler room shall be provided with a stand pipe not less than $1\frac{1}{2}$ " in diameter with at least 25'0" of fire hose of the same size attached.

Any opening into a boiler room from the interior of the building must be protected with a fire proof door arranged to close automatically in case of fire, and where liquid fuel is used under the boiler, a sill of masonry must be placed under the door at least 6" high.

In frame buildings where a surface fire protection is required, unless masonry construction is specified, metal lath and plaster will be deemed to fulfill the requirements provided that the metal lath is of at least 28 guage and the plaster $\frac{3}{4}$ " thick. On each building within the fire limits, on exterior windows opening above the first floor, unless such windows face on the street or there is no building within 50'0", and excepting private dwelling houses and churches, there shall be wire glass windows in metal frames or fire proof doors or shutters, and such shutters must be closed and fastened at the end of each day's business.

Section 26. For the proper and necessary protection of life and property, the following fire escapes will be required; On every building, any part of which is more than two stories high, that is occupied or designed to be occupied above the first floor for offices, workshops or public entertainments or assemblages, or as a theatre, hospital, asylum, place of instruction hotel, rooming house, factory or for manufacturing, shall be provided with fire escapes as follows: Such fire escapes to be so placed as to be easily reached from doors or windows at each story. All buildings over three stories in height, shall have a metallic stand pipe in connection with every fire escape as required above, and where there is more than 5000 sq. ft. of floor area on any story above the first, the building shall be equipped with an additional fire escape for every 5000 sq. ft. or fraction thereof of area. Buildings of Class A construction not over six stories in height, and not used for manufacturing purposes above the first floor, shall be exempt from the requirements of this section as to fire escapes.

Before any permit shall be issued for any new building on which fire escapes would be required by this section, the location of every such fire escape shall be shown, and shall be approved by the Chief of the Fire Department before a permit is issued.

On buildings already erected which require a fire escape, before such fire escape is built, a permit shall be obtained from the building inspector, for which he shall collect a fee of one dollar. Such application shall be made on a blank to be furnished by the Building Inspector, and must show the location of the building and the details of construction of the fire escape, and such details of the construction of building as may be required by the building inspector to determine whether such fire escape is meeting the requirements of this ordinance. Such permits will be subject to the same provisions regarding commencing work and forfeiture of permit as laid down in this ordinance in connection with regular building permits.

It shall be unlawful to occupy any portion of any building above the second floor on which a fire escape is required unless such fire escape has been installed, and has been inspected and approved by the building inspector.

If the building inspector shall find upon inspection that any building is not properly provided with fire escapes, he shall notify the owners or the persons having charge of such a building, that fire escapes are required, and such owners or occupants shall have ten days in which to commenct construction of such fire escapes, and if such construction is not started within ten days, all parts of the building above the second floor shall be vacated immediately. The posting of a notice on the building in a conspicuous spot by the building inspector shall be construed as meeting the requirements of this section as to notification.

Upon the completion of any fire escape, notice shall be given the building inspector and he shall inspect such fire escapes and if he finds the same to be constructed in accordance with this ordinance, he shall issue a certificate to that effect without charge, but if such work shall have been done without a permit having first been procured, he shall collect a fee of ten dollars, and no fire escape shall be construed as meeting the requirements of this ordinance until such a certificate has been issued.

Fire escapes must be constructed in conformity with the following specifications:

There must be a balcony at each floor connected directly with a window or door, such balcony to be not less than 40" in width or less than 8'0" in length. All parts of fire escapes must be of wrought iron or steel construction. Balconies, Ladders and all parts of fire escapes must be firmly secured to the building, and must be designed to stand a live load of not less than 100 lbs. per sq. ft. and the building inspector may if he wishes, require the testing of any part of such fire escape, with a load of two hundred pounds per square foot. Balconies must be provided with an outside rail of iron or steel pipe or iron angles, the top rail to be 2'10" above the platform of the balcony, and the space between this rail and the balcony platform must be filled in with slats or rods placed not farther than 9" apart. The opening through the floor of balcony must be at least 20"x40", but no fire escape stairway shall be less than 18" in width. The treads must not have a rise of over 12", and must be 4" wide. No stairway shall have an inclination of less than 4", horizontally to 12" vertically, and there must be a landing at least 20" wide at the top and bottom of the stairway. The stairway must be provided with a hand rail at each side of not less than one inch gas pipe, which must be continuous from the top balcony to the lowest. From the top balcony, there shall be an iron goose neck ladder extending from the balcony to and above the roof of the building, this ladder to be prattically parallel with the wall, and not less than 15" wide. The sides of the ladder must be at least $\frac{1}{2}$ "x2" iron or steel bars and the rungs not less than $\frac{5}{8}$ " diameter, placed not more than 14" apart. This ladder must be securely fastened to the wall, the roof and the balcony, and well braced in such a way as to be perfectly rigid. Where there is a wide overhanging cornice, this ladder must be carried up through the cornice in a line parallel to the wall, and must not be built out around the cornice. Hole through cornice to be large enough to allow easy passage for a man.

Inside of the building there must be a light with a red globe or lantern indicating the location of every fire escape, on such lantern, the words, "Fire Escape" must be plainly outlined, in letters not less than 6" in height, and this light must be kept burning continuously throughout the night when such building is occupied.

Every building four or five stories in height, shall have outside of the exterior walls or imbedded therein (outside preferred), one metallic stand pipe, at least four inches in diameter, extending from a point four feet six inches over the sidewalk up to and over the roof. At each story there shall be a branch with a $2\frac{1}{2}$ " gate valve, and there shall be a two way $2\frac{1}{2}$ " Siamese steamer connection attached to the lower end of such stand pipe. The upper end of the stand pipe shall extend above the roof, and terminate in two three inch gate valves provided with reducers from three inches to $2\frac{1}{2}$ " each, provided with a cap and chain.

Every building six or seven stories in height, shall have a stand pipe as specified above, except that it must be at least 5" in diameter, and have a four way $2\frac{1}{2}$ " Siamese inlet attached at the lower end and in each story there shall be a three inch gate valve provided with a reducer to $2\frac{1}{2}$ ", to have a cap and chain, and the roof connection shall be a three way Siamese provided with 3" gate valves with reducers to $2\frac{1}{2}$ ", each with cap and chain. Buildings over eight stories or more in height, must have a similar stand pipe which must be at least 6" in diameter, with connections at the bottom and every floor and roof as specified for six and seven story buildings.

Every building where stand pipes are required shall have stand pipe in connection with every fire escape required, provided that buildings of class A Construction over three stories in height shall have at least one stand pipe for every one hundred feet of street or alley frontage or fractional part thereof.

The fire department shall inspect and test all stand pipes when they consider it necessary, and any defect therein shall be remedied immediately by the owner. All stand pipes hereafter located must meet with the approval of the fire department.

On the inside of every building, over two stories in height, excepting dwellings and churches, there shall be a stand pipe extending from a connection to the city water main (such connection to be not less in diameter than that of the stand pipe) and ending above the roof of the building, and to be installed as follows:

Buildings three stories in height shall have stand pipes not less than 2" interior diameter. Buildings four stories and over, stand pipes with an interior diameter of 3". Stand pipes shall have $1\frac{1}{2}$ " hose connection and gate valve on each floor and roof, and attached to each hose connection, there shall be enough good $1\frac{1}{2}$ " hose and nozzle to reach all parts of the floor. The location of such stand pipes shall be subject to the approval of the building inspector. In case the height of the building renders the available water pressure insufficient to throw a reasonable stream, such stand pipes shall be connected to a tank of not less than one thousand gallons capacity, this tank to be located upon the roof and kept filled with water in such a manner as to furnish a good stream of water for extinguishing fires. Tests of any such stand pipes may be required at the request of the chief of the fire department.

All stand pipes either inside or outside, must be of galvanized iron and the size of threads and couplings for hose and valve connections must meet the approval and the specifications of the fire department, and all Siamese and base connections to be of San Diego Fire Department Standard. Stand pipes must be capable of standing a hydrostatic pressure of three hundred pounds to the square inch throughout their entire length.

All stand pipes to be kept filled and under pressure and ready for instant use at all times. This section shall apply to buildings already erected or to be erected.

Before a permit shall be issued for any buildings requiring stand pipes, the location of such stand pipes must be marked on the plans.

Every building already erected or to be erected having a basement which is used or to be used for the storage of merchandise, shall be provided with ground floor pipe casing holes, constructed in and through the floor of the first story of the building as follows:-

Pipe casing holes must extend from the level of the floor through and below the ceiling of the basement, or below the bottom of the floor joists, if there is no ceiling, and to be so constructed as to enable the fire department to put water circulating nozzle through for the prompt extinguishing of any fire occurring in the basement. These holes must not be less than 8" in the clear in diameter, and must be provided with a metal cover flush with the floor. Both the cover and the casing of the hole to be constructed of non-corrosive metal. Both the construction and the location of such holes shall be subject to the approval of the chief of the fire department, and there shall be at least one such inlet hole for every fifty feet of width or depth of the building, but there will not be more than one hole required for every one thousand square feet of ground floor area, unless the basement is divided into rooms of smaller area.

No obstruction shall be placed over such inlet holes and any materials stored in the basement shall be kept clear of such holes in such a way as not to interfere with the proper working of the water circulating nozzle used by the fire department.

The chief of the fire department shall notify the owners of all buildings now erected which will come under the provisions of this section, to place ground floor pipe casing holes within thirty days of such notice. In case of any building to be erected which would come under the provisions of this section, no permit shall be granted until these pipe casing holes are properly located and shown on the plans of the first floor.

Automatic sprinkler systems will be required on all floors of large warehouses of future construction, and also in the cellars or basements of class A, B or C buildings within the fire limits.

Every automatic sprinkler system must have a steamer equipment on the outside of the building as approved by the fire department.

Section 27. Every building used as a theatre or for public entertainments must be built to conform with the requirements of this section.

Any building already built which is to be used or is used for theatrical purposes or public entertainments, must conform with the requirements of this section regarding seating, aisles, stairways, and other means of exit and entrance and means of fighting fire.

No building shall be open to the public for theatrical purposes until such shall be approved in writing by the building inspector, and the chief of the fire department and such approval shall be given only when all requirements as set forth in this section shall have been met.

There shall be exits provided on both sides of the auditorium, connecting either with an open court, street or exit corridor, as described therein. Where such corridor is used, such corridor must run the full length of the auditorium, and connect directly with the street and there must be ^{no} connection between the main entrance or lobby, and this corridor. Such corridor must be separated from the auditorium by a fire proof wall, and where the corridor is enclosed in the building, the ceiling and both sides of the corridor must be made of fire proof construction. There must be at least two exits on each side of the building from the main floor, and two exits on each side of each balcony or gallery. Each exit shall be at least 5'0" in width in the clear. Where there are balconies or galleries above the level of the floor of this exit corridor there shall be staircases (fire escapes), extending from the exits in the balcony, starting from a landing not less than four feet in width, connected directly with the exit in the gallery or balcony. Such staircases shall have risers not over 8½" high and treads not less than 9" net width. The staircase from the topmost balcony to the one next below must be at least 30" wide in the clear, and must increase 6" in width below each balcony.

Where the seating capacity of the auditorium exceeds one thousand people, this width of these stairways must be increased 6" for every increase in the seating capacity of eight hundred people or fraction thereof. All of these stairways and landings must be constructed of absolutely fire proof material, and must be designed to sustain a live load of two hundred pounds per square foot. Where a theatre is built inside and forming part of another building, these exits may open directly into corridors in the other part of the building, but there must be a fire wall between the auditorium proper and such part of building and all stairways and corridors which serve as exits, must meet the requirements of this section as to size. The floor of exit corridors as specified herein, must be carried their full length without steps, but a gradient of not less than 1 in. 12, may be used to make up for difference of levels. The exit corridor must be not less than 7'0" in width where the seating capacity of the theatre is one thousand people, and 10'0" in width when one thousand is exceeded.

Nothing shall be built above the roof of the stage, which must be left open to the sky but the auditorium and parts of the theatre used by the audience if enclosed in fire proof construction, may form part of a building used for offices, stores, or apartments, provided that the walls of the auditorium be carried up solidly to and through the roof, excepting as exits are provided.

Nothing shall prevent a roof garden, art, gallery, or rooms for office purposes being placed above a theatre, provided, that the ceiling or roof of the theatre proper is made of fire proof materials, and that the structure built above is constructed of fire proof materials. But no part of any theatre building shall be used for carrying on any business dealing in any article or material dangerous to life or for manufacturing purposes, and no lodging accommodations shall be allowed in any part of the building communicating with the auditorium or the stage. All doors in every part of the theatre used by the public, must be made to swing outwardly, and all doors which can be used for exit purposes, must be left unlocked during performances, allowing clear passage way to the street in each case. Panic bolts may be used on doors provided the doors are so fastened as to yield at a very slight push outward.

No workshop, stage or general property room shall be allowed above the auditorium or stage, or in any of the fly galleries, but all such rooms shall be located in the rear or at the side of the stage, and in such cases must be separated from the stage, by a fire proof wall and the entrances to such rooms guarded by automatic fire doors. A fire wall built of masonry shall separate the auditorium from the stage and extend at least 4'0" above the stage roof.

Above the proscenium opening, there shall be a steel or reinforced concrete girder of sufficient strength to safely support the load above. If of steel, this girder must be fire proofed with masonry not less than 4" in thickness or 2" of concrete. The frame around the proscenium opening must be made entirely of fire proof materials and if metal is used, it must be backed solidly.

The proscenium opening shall be provided with a fire proof or metal curtain approved by the building inspector. This curtain shall overlap the proscenium wall at top and both sides, and run in iron grooves or channels not less than 6" deep. This runway to be securely fastened to the fire wall in such a way as not to allow the passage of fire and to extend not less than 3'0" above the top of the curtain when raised to its highest point. This fire proof curtain is to be suspended by iron or steel cables passing over suitable fire proof pulleys, and the excess weight of the curtain is to be overcome by a check rope of cotton or hemp extending to the floor on both sides of the stage and to the fly gallery so arranged that the cutting of the rope at any of these points will release the curtain, and allow it to fall at its normal rate of speed. This curtain shall be lowered after each act, and at the close of the performance

If the curtain is of asbestos, it must be reinforced with wire, and at the bottom of the curtain must be placed a rigid metallic rod or bar of the proper weight, properly fastened, to carry the curtain down. In any case, the curtain must be of such a weight when released, to drop of its own weight. There shall be no door-way through the proscenium wall from the auditorium above the level of the first floor. Any doorway through the proscenium wall must be provided with self-closing fire doors on each side so hung as to easily be opened from either side of the wall at all times. Above the stage, there shall be constructed one or more ventilators of incombustible material near the center of the stage above the highest point of the roof. The combined areas of these ventilators must equal ten per cent. of the area enclosed within the stage walls. The openings in this ventilator must equal the area specified above, and must be so closed by valves, louvers or dampers as to open automatically when released. A hemp or cotton cord shall control these dampers, and this cord shall be carried to each side of the opening in the proscenium wall, and to the fly galleries, and shall be so arranged that when the cord is cut, at any of these points, the ventilators will open automatically to their full extent. There shall be a fusible link inserted in this cord at a point at or near the bottom of the ventilator.

All that part of the stage that is not used for the presentation of a scene, shall be built of fire proof construction. All partitions of dressing rooms and passageways and all other partitions on or about the sides of the stage, shall be constructed of fire proof materials, and all shelving and cupboards and property rooms, dressing rooms or other stage rooms, shall be constructed of fire proof material. None of the windows opening through the outside walls of the stage, shall have fixed sash or iron grills or bars, or be locked shut by any means, unless the same are arranged to open easily from the inside, and are kept unlocked during performances. There shall be a window or door opening directly from ^{the} fly gallery through the outside wall of the stage as a fire escape, or some other exit. There shall be placed upon the stage of every theatre an approved fire alarm box to be connected directly with the City fire alarm system, such installation to be approved by the chief of the Fire Department.

The auditorium proper shall be separated from the entrance vestibule by walls built of fire proof materials. All stair cases for the use of the audience shall be enclosed in walls of fire proof materials, and the openings to such staircases from each tier shall be full width of staircase. No door shall open directly upon a flight of stairs, but upon a landing at least the width of the door.

The ceiling of the auditorium shall be formed of fire proof materials, as must also be the ceiling under each gallery. all plastering in the auditorium, ^{or any room used in connection with the auditorium} must be on metal lath or masonry, and all partitions in any of the rooms used by the audience in connection with the auditorium must be constructed of fire proof materials and wood wainscoting or a covering of canvas or other combustible material must not be on the walls and ceiling of such rooms.

All galleries and balconies must be so constructed between the gallery floor and the ceiling below that all open spaces are thoroughly fire stopped and can be easily inspected. No space may be over 36 sq. ft. in area without a fire stop. All gallery structural members must be fire proof or mill construction, and subject to Building Inspector's approval.

Wood sounding boards may be constructed over the orchestra pit when the same extends back of and below the hanging of the stage, but such a sounding board must be fire stopped by a masonry wall back of it. All seats in the auditorium excepting those contained in boxes, shall not be less than 30" from back to back, and not less than 18" from center to center, and firmly secured to the floor, and no seat shall have more than six seats intervening between it and an aisle on either side. No seats shall be allowed ^{in the aisles,} nor shall anyone be allowed to stand or seat themselves in the aisle during the performance excepting employees of the theatre or City. Platforms in galleries formed to receive seats, shall not be more than 24" in height of riser or less than 30" in width of platform.

Aisles With seats on both sides must be not less than three feet wide at any point, and must increase in width toward the exits at the ratio of $1\frac{1}{2}$ " to five running feet. Aisles with seats on one side only, must begin not less than 2'6" wide, and must have the same increase in width towards the exits.

Wherever possible, to overcome differences of level, gradients or inclined planes shall be used in place of steps.

Every theatre accommodating more than three hundred persons shall have at least two exits, five hundred persons at least three exits.

Entrance or exit stairways must be not less than 5'0" in width, when intended for the use of the public, and where the seating capacity of the theatre exceeds five hundred persons, there must be an aggregate of 20" added to the exit widths for each additional one hundred people or fraction thereof. Balconies or galleries above the first gallery or balcony, must be provided with distinct places of exit and entrance, but a common place of exit and entrance may serve for a main floor and first gallery, provided it be of the aggregate capacity of the outlets from these floors.

No passage leading to the foot of any stairway communicating with any entrance or exit shall be less than 4'0" in width at any point. This clause not applying to the emergency exits in the exit corridor.

ORDINANCE NO. 4676.

AN ORDINANCE PROVIDING FOR THE ERECTION AND MAINTENANCE OF A TEMPORARY JAIL.

BE IT ORDAINED BY the Common Council of the City of San Diego, as follows:--

Section 1. The Common Council shall, by resolution immediately upon this ordinance going into effect, appoint an agent of the City of San Diego for the purposes hereinafter mentioned, namely:--

The selection of a site for the construction of a proper jail or place of detention, for the construction of such jail as is necessary or proper under the circumstances hereinafter named, and for the incarceration therein of such prisoners as may be taken or committed thereto by the lawful authority of the County of San Diego, or the City of San Diego, and for said purposes to incur on the part of the City whatever indebtedness may be necessary.

Said agent is hereby instructed to cooperate with an agent for San Diego County, to be appointed by the Board of Supervisors of San Diego County, and said two agents shall cooperate in the said selection of the proper place and the construction of a jail or place of detention hereinabove described.

Said Jail or place of detention is required to be constructed and completed at the earliest possible moment in order to relieve the congestion of prisoners in the County Jail and in the City Jail, which congestion is in consequence of the great number of arrests which have been and are continuing to be made for disturbance of the public peace, for vagrancy and for the violation of that certain ordinance of the City of San Diego, entitled, "An Ordinance Prohibiting Public Speaking or Singing within certain boundaries."

The site for said prison or place of detention may be selected on such lands or lots of the City of San Diego, as may be by said Committee selected, and the County of San Diego may occupy such site in company with the City for the rental of One Dollar per annum.

Section 2. There is hereby appropriated out of the Public Building Fund of the City of San Diego for the purpose of carrying out and fulfilling the City's part in the construction of said jail or place of detention, the sum of Two Thousand Dollars, ($2000.00), or so much thereof as may be found necessary, and said agent of said City is hereby authorized and empowered to draw requisitions on the Department of Finance, Ways and Means and against the money hereby appropriated for such expenditures as shall be proper, and the same shall be paid as other claims are paid in due course of the City's business.

Section 3. There is at this time a great congestion of Prisoners in the City Jail of said City, and also in the County Jail, of said County, far beyond the capacity of said jails, or either or both of them, to confine consistent with the preservation of their health and well-being. Said prisoners have, in each instance, demanded a trial by jury, and, owing to the length of time required in each of such trials, it is impossible for such demand to be complied with with such speed as to keep said jails, or either of them, free from congestion, or to relieve said congestion; and this ordinance is for the purpose of enabling the City to enforce the ordinances of the City and to administer the justice of the city within its boundaries, and is one of urgency and for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health and safety, and shall take effect immediately upon its passage and approval by the Mayor.

Four by two, or any other heel outlet fitting will not be allowed to act as waste pipe or vent through the two-inch opening, except on vertical lines or stacks, excepting where, under architectural conditions, the space is limited, double sanitary tees will not be allowed, except on vertical lines or stacks. Where, by architectural conditions, it is not practicable to use "Y's" or to comply with the rules as to manner of venting, then these rules must be complied with as nearly as practicable, and the exceptions must meet with the approval of the Plumbing Inspector.

21. All intersecting of back vents is to be 3 feet or more above the floor line of the fixture which the vents are serving, except where double fittings are desired.

22. All thread brass nipples are not allowed. The octagon shoulder brass nipples are allowed, (known as the Chicago nipple.)

23. Cesspools and septic tanks are to be 20 feet or more from all buildings. The waste from the tank may be of 4 stone, if desired.

24. No soil or waste of any kind shall be built into brick, stone or concrete walls; when necessary to conceal pipes of this class, they must run in suitable recesses or channels.

25. The durham system of Plumbing may be used in all bonafide three story buildings other than residences; all wrought pipeing both waste and vents must be galvanized, cast iron pipe and fittings as provided in Section 3 sub-section 3, may be used in Durham. Lines of soil or waste burried in the ground must be extra heavy cast iron.

26. When wrought iron pipe is used for waste, soil or sewer pipe, it shall be of the quality known as "standard" (thickness), and all changes of direction shall be made with "Y" 1-16, 1-6 or 1/8 fittings, threaded on the inside, and so constructed as to form a bore uniform with the pipe, without any burrs or recesses. All pipe must be properly reamed to remove burr. Only recessed, full-bore sockets will be permitted. No ordinary plain socket or fitting is allowed. Cleanout plugs shall have brass threads. All Union couplings and connections shall be made with right and left threads. No caulked or lead joints are allowed on Durham, except where joined to cast-iron soil-vents.

27. All joints in wrought iron soil or waste pipes shall be screwed up until the end of pipe touches or butts against the shoulder of fittings. No short turn 90-degree bends are to be used, all long turn.

28. Fixtures-Number To Each Soil-Pipe and Waste Pipe. The number of fixtures that may be connected with each soil pipe connecting any building with the public sewer shall be to water closets, or 200 small fixtures, or so many closets and so many small fixtures as to make up the above quantity, calculating four small fixtures, such as sinks, baths, basins, wash-trays, urinals or hoppers to one closet. If there are more plumbing fixtures in a building than the terms of this ordinance allow to be attached to a 4-inch soil pipe, then the main soil-pipe shall be 5 inches or 6 inches in the building, and shall be equally divided on all stacks. The same means shall be followed if the number of fixtures shall require additional soil-pipe. Each 4-inch soil-pipe shall connect separately with the 5-inch or 6-inch soil. The number of fixtures to each 2-inch waste pipe shall not exceed 16, and to 1½ inch waste, nor more than three fixtures; if sink waste, only 8, or at the ratio of 2 basins to one sink one 2-inch waste line.

29. Hoppers are not allowed inside of private residences. Slop sinks are allowed inside of residences and must be enamled.

32. When galvanized pipes are joined to vertical waste pipes with a lead caulked joint, the vent must have a coupling screwed on before being caulked to waste or soil-pipe. This applies to vertical lines only.

SECTION IV.

VENTS.

1. In All New Buildings, (except buildings having a flat roof and fire wall), and buildings built of one thickness of one-inch lumber, every line of vent and soil-pipe must run to the roof and thence continue under the roof, with the same degree of elevation as the roof, to a point twelve (12) inches from the highest point of the roof, and thence run through the roof perpendicularly and terminate at an elevation equal to the highest point of the roof. If the roof is so flat that at least a sixth bend can not be used, then the said vents are to run up under the roof, as near the same degree of elevation as the roof as possible, and terminate as above stated.

2. ROOF. The opening of every vent above the roof must be located at least two feet from all chimneys, and six feet from water tanks, air-shafts, or any other openings of any building, which would be reached by measurement on a line or lines drawn horizontally from such opening of pipe such vent to any chimney, water tank, air-shaft, or any other opening of any building, and at least six feet from all points of intersection, to be determined by measurement on a line or lines drawn horizontally from such points which would be intersected were any chimney, water-tank, air-shaft or other opening of any building, extended perpendicularly to the point or points of intersection with such line or lines of measurement. Every line of vent and soil-pipe must extend full bore to an elevation equal to the highest point of the main ridge of the building, as hereinafter provided, in which case said vent and soil-pipe shall extend two (2) feet above the fire-walls, if coming out of roof; if in fire-wall, then 12 inches above wall. If the roof is to be used as a roof garden or for sleeping purposes all vents must be carried up at least nine feet.

3. In all buildings built of one thickness of one-inch lumber, and in all old buildings (except buildings having a flat roof and fireproof walls), where new plumbing is put in, every vent and soil-pipe may run perpendicularly from the sewer or fixture to an elevation equal to a point 24 inches below the highest point of the roof. In case the owner of any new building should prefer the vents to run up perpendicularly from the sewer to 12 inches below the highest point of the roof, they may be so constructed, upon ^{the} written request of the owner, and attached to the plans of the work to be done, on file in the Health Office, and said request shall have the signature of the owner or his bona Fide agent, other than the plumber or building contractor.

4. In every building having a water closet there shall be at least one four (4) inch castiron pipe running from the sewer to a point equal to the height of the main ridge of the building.

All vents shall be standard soil-pipe, or galvanized pipe with galvanized or cast fittings.

5. When there is only one water closet on a 4-inch stack, the stack will vent said closet. If there is more than one closet on a stack, each and every closet shall be vented with a two (2) inch vent, except where top closet is within 2 feet of stack. In no case shall the water seal of trap be located more than 2 feet from the perpendicular vent. In case an adjacent building located within twenty-five (25) feet of said pipe, extends one or more stories higher than the building in which the said soil or vent pipes are located, then the said pipe must be carried three (3) feet above all openings or gutters of the highest building, located within 25 feet of such pipe, and securely fastened by proper guys and supports, so as to prevent them.

Where this ordinance refers to buildings built of one thickness of one-inch boards, this must be taken that the main building is built of one-inch boards, and will not be taken for additions built of one thickness of boards on stud and plaster buildings built of one-inch boards.

6. Traps must be protected from syphonage by special airpipes of lead, galvanized wrought iron or cast iron or brass of a size not less than the trap they serve, and if to supply air to a water closet, not less than two inches in diameter. At the end of all horizontal runs of vent pipes a screwed plug shall be placed. At the bottom of all vertical lines where sediment is liable to collect a suitable drip plug, not less than one foot long, shall be placed. If the plug is at the foot of vertical concealed vent, then it shall be so placed as to admit of repairs. In no case shall these plugs and drips be of a size less than the vent they serve. Foot vents are necessary at base of all four-inch stacks that do not have a base over the soil-pipe. All branch vents shall be connected with main vents at an angle of 45 degrees or 60 degrees, and vents must be run at an angle of 45 degrees or 60 degrees.

7. Where, by architectural conditions, it is not practicable to comply strictly with these rules, and venting has to be done under the floor, and the available space is limited, then all rules shall be complied with as nearly as practicable. Connections of batteries of vents may be run nearly horizontal at fall of $1/8$ of an inch to the foot, or more, if possible, and the main vent shall have foot vent to soil or waste pipe.

8. In case of a chimney coming out of the highest ridge of the roof, at the intersection of the ridge and hips, with the plumbing fixtures at the end of the building in a line with the ridge, the vents may come out of the roof two feet from the chimney down the roof and continue up perpendicularly to the highest ridge of the roof. This, however, will not apply where the vents go up at right angles with the ridge, inside the line formed by the hip of roof; in this case, the vents shall be angled off so as to pass the chimney and go through the roof within twelve (12) inches from the highest point of the roof two (2) feet from the chimney, or come out on rear roof two feet from chimney between hips.

9. Vents must be taken off not more than one inch below water seal of traps they are serving, except in case of toilets and urinals of syphonic action. All intersecting of back vents is to be 3 feet or more above the floor line of the fixture which the vents are serving, except where double fittings are desired.

10. When combined, the vent pipes must be increased in size, according to the following table. Branch vents serving water closets shall not be of a size less than defined in the following table:

TABLE OF SIZES OF VENTS - BRANCH VENTS, SIZES OF VENTS AND FIXTURES ALLOWED.

One to four small fixtures on $1\frac{1}{2}$ inch vent.

One to four water closets, or sixteen small fixtures, into a 2-inch vent.

Four to twelve water closets, or 48 small fixtures into a $2\frac{1}{2}$ inch vent.

Twenty-five water closets, or 100 small fixtures, into a 3-inch vent.

Fifty water closets, 200 fixtures into a 4-inch vent.

NOTE:- The term "Branch Vent" as here applied shall be understood to mean all that vent pipe located between the fixtures served and the point where the vent joins and intersects with the main vertical vent.

11. $1\frac{1}{2}$ -inch vents may be carried to the height of 50 feet. above 50 feet, it shall be 2 inches to the height of 100 feet. Two-inch vents may run to a height of 100 feet; above 100 feet, $2\frac{1}{2}$ inches to 150.

12. 2½-inch vents may be run for a height of 150 feet; when required longer, then increased to 3-inch from there on.

DRAINS FOR DECKS, LIGHT WELL AND OTHERS

13. All deck drains must be properly trapped and vented, and be suitably supplied with water from the nearest suitable fixture, and must be connected into sewer drain and soil waste and conform with the requirements of these rules and regulations.

14. A trap must be placed as close to the deck drain as practicable, and in no case shall it be more than two feet distant from the drainage outlet of the deck served.

15. Cleanouts must be provided on the sewer side of the trap serving a deck and be made accessible. The size of the deck drain shall be made of a diameter satisfactory to the Plumbing Inspector.

16. In all cases where a deck is drained through a trap as required by these rules, and the trap is supplied from a fixture, then the trap serving the deck shall be vented with a vent pipe not less than two inches, inside diameter.

17. When a deck trap is supplied from a fixture, then the waste of the fixture must connect with the inlet side of the deck's trap, and, provided the entire wastage or outlet leg of the trap to the fixture serving the deck's trap does not exceed five feet in length, then the fixture supplying the deck's trap need not be vented, but if in excess of five feet, then the supplying fixture must be vented separately, and when there are no available fixtures, deck traps shall have hose bibb to supply deck trap.

ADJACENT BUILDINGS WITH NO OPENINGS.

18. In case of a building situated next to a higher building, if there are no openings in the wall of the higher building, the vents in the lower building need not exceed more than two feet above the fire-wall of the lower building. Vent pipes must be of galvanized wrought iron or case-iron.

NO FLUES FOR SEWER VENTILATION.

19. No brick, sheet metal or earthenware flue shall be used as a sewer ventilation, neither shall any chimney flue be used for this purpose.

SECTION V. —

1. When two or more closets of syphonic action only discharge immediately into a horizontal branch and thence into a vertical soil line carried through the roof as a vent, the Inspector of Plumbing may authorize the omission of the separate trap vents and the substitution therefor of an extension of the branch line not less than three inches or more than four inches in diameter, to be re-connected to the main vent or carried through the roof independently, as he may determine.

When two or more urnials of syphonic action only discharge immediately into a three-inch horizontal bbranch and thence into a vettical soil line carried through the roof as a vent, the Inspector of Plumbing may authorize the omission of the separate trap vents and the substitution therefor of an extension of the branch line not less than three inches, to be reconnected to the main vent or carried through the roof independently, as he may determine.

2. A house or building shall be defined as an architectural structure covered with one roof and enclosing walls, porches, or the continuation of porch roofs from building to building shall be considered as a portion of the main structure.

3. CLEAN-OUTS---Heavy brass male thread clean-outs of at least one-eighth of an inch in the thickness in/cover, the same to have a solid cast square head, shall be placed at the end of each horizontal line of drain pipe. In no case shall the clean-out provided for the main horizontal line of cast-iron drain pipe be of a diameter less than four inches. In all other drains the clean cuts shall be of the same size as the pipes they serve.

All clean-outs shall be accessible, either extended through wall or kept back twelve inches from wall.

On waste pipe runs of four feet or less, unless necessary to use $\frac{1}{4}$ bends, clean-outs will not be required.

Clean-outs shall be placed at the base of each stack, soil, or waste pipe.

In all changes in direction of $\frac{1}{4}$, 1-6 or 1/8 pitch in horizontal soil or waste pipe, a clean-out is necessary.

When water closets are supplied from tanks, the down or flush pipe shall in no case be less than $1\frac{1}{4}$ inches inside diameter. When a water closet is connected to the soil-pipe by and through a lead bend, then the outlet side of the bend must be properly wiped to a brass furrule, and the furrule be properly caulked into receiving hub. When a water closet is not connected to the soil-pipe by a lead bend, then it may be connected by and through a lead pipe extension, which shall be properly wiped to a heavy brass furrule, and the furrule be properly caulked into the receiving hub. When, under the two preceding paragraphs of this section, closets are connected by and through lead pipe, they shall be set in putty with red lead and pure linseed oil. A Brass floor flange shall be used with lead bend flanged over

The Plumbing Inspector shall have the right to demand such water or other test as he may deem necessary. When a system of plumbing has been tested in sections, then there shall be another test made after the various lines have been connected together, and this last shall be with water pressure to the highest point of work. When new work is put in old buildings and it is not practical to test new work, both new and old must be tested. The smoke or peppermint test shall be made any time whenever demanded by the Plumbing Inspector.

4. Y's and T openings or other openings, left for future use, when testing in rough, must be plugged with iron or brass plugs, caulked in permanently.

6. All the provisions of the various paragraphs of this section shall apply to outside and inside pipes of the plumbing system of a building.

7. Work must be ready for inspection when notice is sent to inspector. The failure on the part of the Master Plumber to make application for first and final inspections, or a violation of any part of the rules of the board of Health in the construction of any plumbing work, or failure to correct the fault after notifications, will be deemed sufficient cause to have his license suspended for such length of time as the Board of Health may deem proper. No Master Plumber shall construct or alter a system of plumbing during the time of his suspension.

ORDINANCE NO. 4774.

AMENDING SECTIONS 15 and 18 of ORDINANCE NO. 4533,

AND REPEALING ORDINANCE NO. 4588 OF THE ORDINANCES

OF THE CITY OF SAN DIEGO.

BE IT ORDAINED By the Common Council of the City of San Diego, as follows:

Section 1. That section 15 of ordinance No. 4533 of the ordinances of the City of San Diego, be amended to read as follows:

"Section 15. The gas piping in every building shall be tested air-tight, first when roughing-in is completed, and second when the entire building is completed and the work ready for gas fixtures. These tests must equal fifteen pounds air test per square inch, or thirty inch mercury column pressure, and hold for at least fifteen minutes."

Also that Section 18 of said ordinance No. 4533 be amended to read as follows:

"Section 18. Risers must be carried up inside of walls where they will be protected from the elements, and end so that the meter and stop cock will be readily accessible.

Vestibule walls are considered outside walls.

No risers shall be less than three-quarters of an inch in diameter. No concealed piping smaller than one-half inch in diameter will be allowed.

All piping, where practicable, shall grade back to the riser and the riser drained to the meter.

Where a trap is unavoidable, a "T" nipple and cap must be placed at the lowest point and left so it will be accessible for removing condensations.

Gasket unions must not be used in concealed work.

No gas-fitters cement, or patching of any kind is permissible.

All risers for a one or two story building shall extend to the basement, where all meters must be set.

Where a building is three stories or over in height, the meters may be set on the various floors, provided they are in a public hall.

Where two or more meters are set on a single service pipe, a stop cock must be placed on the surface in an accessible position at or near the foundation wall.

Risers must be so run that meters will not set more than 7 feet, 6 inches from floor.

Meters must not be set under a store window, in the top of a closet, or in any confined place where danger might arise of an explosion while setting or removing the meter or from escaping gas.

Meters must be set in a reasonably dry and warm place, but not over any heating apparatus; and when practicable, meters are to be set in a room made for the purpose of containing meters.

Ready access to the meter and stop cock must be maintained at all times. If meters are set under a building, an opening shall be left at the dial of the meter at least two feet square. If meters are set under a building at any distance from the outside wall or foundation, then an opening must be left which will admit a man's body; said opening to be not less than two feet by two feet.

All meters shall be provided with a stop cock.

The meter or meters set by the firm, person or corporation furnishing gas to the City of San Diego, or its inhabitants, shall be at a point or place designated by some duly authorized person, in the employ of such firm, person or corporation.

Service lines shall enter the property of the consumer of gas at a point or place indicated by the person, firm or corporation furnishing gas as aforesaid.

All service lines supplying theatre buildings, hotels, apartment houses, churches, or public halls, or which supply buildings in which the meter or meters are not easily accessible to the outside of the building, shall be provided, by the person, firm or corporation furnishing the gas, with a cut-off which shall meet the approval of the Inspector of Gas and Electricity and the Chief of the Fire Department, and which shall be located at the curb line.

Applications for inspection must be made at the office of the Inspector of Gas and Electricity. The inspector will, thereafter, at his earliest convenience, make such inspection.

It shall be the duty of the contractor installing gas pipes or fixtures, before applying for inspection, to put air pressure of not less than 15 pounds per square inch upon all runs of pipe, and by means of a suitable pressure guage, prove them tight. In case the inspector shall find said pipe or gas appliance to be faulty, or in a leaky condition, he shall notify the contractor to correct same, and shall collect in advance, from such contractor the sum of One Dollar ($1.00) for each and every run of pipe on which re-inspection required and when such work has been found satisfactory, he shall issue his certificate therefor.

By W. E. Bartlett Deputy.

I Hereby Certify that the above and foregoing is a full, true and correct copy of Ordinance No. 4807 of the ordinances of the City of San Diego, California, as adopted by the Common Council of said City on the 24th day of July, 1912, and as approved by the Mayor of said City on the 3rd day of August, 1912.

City Clerk of the City of San Diego, California,

By Hugh A. Sanders Deputy.

ORDINANCE NO. 4808.

AN ORDINANCE PRESCRIBING CERTAIN REGULATIONS FOR THE LAYING OF SIDEWALKS AND CURBS IN THE CITY OF SAN DIEGO, CALIFORNIA.....

BE IT ORDAINED By the Common Council of the City of San Diego, as follows:

Section 1. That it shall be and is hereby declared to be unlawful for any person to lay or put in place any sidewalk or curb in or upon any street in the City of San Diego, California, without first obtaining permission so to do from the Common Council of said City. Any person desiring to construct a sidewalk or curb upon any street in the said City of San Diego shall make application in writing to the said Common Council for permission so to do; said application shall state the place where said sidewalk or curb is to be laid, and the number of feet of said sidewalk or curb to be constructed.

Said applicant shall furnish and deliver to the said Common Council a bond payable to the said City of San Diego in the penal sum of two hundred dollars ($200.00); with two sufficient sureties, to be approved by the said Common Council, as security for the removal of all debris and surplus material from the street in said City, when the said work shall have been constructed, and also as security that said sidewalk and curb shall be laid to the official grade of said street, and according to the specifications therefor prescribed by the ordinances of the said City of San Diego, and also as security that that portion of the said sidewalk not paved shall be graded to the official grade thereof.

That in the event any person giving such bond, or his assigns, shall fail for a period of fifteen days, after the completion of said work, to remove said debris or surplus material from said street or to grade the unpaved portion of said sidewalk to the official grade thereof, the said Common Council shall cause said debris to be removed from said street, or the unpaved portion of said sidewalk to be graded to its official grade (as the case may be) and said person giving said bond, and the sureties thereon, shall be liable to said city, in a civil action, upon said bond, for the expenses so incurred, and in the event that said person giving said bond shall fail to construct said sidewalk or curb to the official grade of said street, or according to the specifications therefor prescribed by the ordinances of the said City of San Diego, and shall fail or refuse for a period of ten days, after having been notified by the owner of the property, in front of which and for whom said work is being done, or his agent, to put and construct said sidewalk or curb to the official grade of said street, or according to the specifications therefor prescribed by the ordinances of the said City of San Diego, then the said owner may put and construct or cause to be put and constructed said work to the official grade of said street, and the said person giving said bond and the sureties thereon shall be liable upon said bond for all costs and expenses incurred by the owner of said property in putting and constructing said work to the official grade of said street, or according to the specifications therefor prescribed by the ordinances of the said City of San Diego, (as the case may be), and also for all damages suffered by said owner on account thereof.

Every Bond so executed under the provisions of this ordinance is in force and obligatory upon the principal and sureties therein, to and for the said City of San Diego, and to and for the use and benefit of all persons who may be injured or aggrieved by the person giving said bond failing to remove said debris and surplus material or to construct said work to the official grade of said street, or according to the specifications therefor prescribed by the ordinances of the said City of San Diego, or to grade the unpaved portion of said sidewalk to the official grade thereof; and any person so injured or aggrieved may bring suit upon such bond in his own name, without any assignment thereof; no such bond is void on the first recovery of a judgment thereon, but suit may be afterwards brought, from time to time, and judgment recovered thereon by the said City of San Diego, or by any person to whom a right of action has accrued against the principal and the sureties of said bond, until the whole penalty of said bond is exhausted; whenever such bond does not contain the substantial matter or conditions required by this ordinance, or there are any defects in the approval or filing of said bond, it is not void so as to discharge such person giving such bond, and his sureties, but they are equitably bound to the City of San Diego or any party interested, and the said City or any such party may, by a civil action in court, suggest the defect in such bond, approval, or filing, and recover the proper and equitable demand or damages from the principal of such bond and the persons who intended to become and were included as sureties in such bond. In the event that the said Common Council shall find and determine, after having given the contractor an opportunity to be heard, that such contractor has violated any of the provisions, conditions, or obligations of such bond, either by failing to construct such work to the official grade of the street, or according to the said specifications therefor, or by failing to grade the unpaved portion of the sidewalk to the official grade thereof, or by failing to so remove such debris or surplus material, the said Bureau of Public Works shall not thereafter issue any permit to the person giving such bond for doing any other work, or for any such work to be done by such contractor, unless specifically authorized so to do by said Common Council.

Upon said application being made and said bond being so furnished the Bureau of Public Works shall issue a permit to the applicant for the construction of the work described in the application, and shall immediately notify the City Engineer of said City of the issuance of such permit, and thereafter the said City Engineer shall set the grade stakes for the construction of the said work, which stakes shall be to the official grade of said street; and thereafter said work shall be constructed according to the said grade stakes and according to the official grade of said street, and according to the specifications prescribed for doing such work by the ordinances of said City in force at the time such work is done, and not otherwise; and the unpaved portion of said sidewalk shall be graded to the official grade thereof.

After said work shall have been so constructed, the said City Engineer shall survey the same for the purpose of ascertaining whether said work has been constructed to the official grade of said street, and that the unpaved portion of said sidewalk has been graded to its official grade, and according to the stakes set therefor. If the said City Engineer shall find that the said work has been constructed according to the official grade of said street, and that the unpaved portion of said sidewalk has been graded to the official grade, he shall issue, to the person for whom the said work has been constructed, a certificate in writing certifying that fact, that he shall not issue any certificate if he finds that the said work has not been constructed according to the official grade of said street, and the unpaved portion of said sidewalk has been graded to the official grade thereof.

Provided, however, that no permits shall be issued by the said Bureau of Public Works for the construction of bituminous rock or asphalt sidewalks or wooden curbs; not shall a permit be issued by said Bureau of Public Works for the construction of a concrete or other sidewalk or curb after a resolution of intention has been issued by the Common Council of said City to sidewalk or curb that portion of the street upon which the applicant desires to construct such sidewalk or curb, without special permission having been first had and obtained from the Common Council of said City.

The said City Engineer shall charge the regular fees for making such survey and setting such stakes as prescribed by the ordinances of this City, except that no extra fees shall be charged for checking up work after the completion thereof.

This ordinance shall not apply to work done under a contract by the Superintendent of Streets under the general street law of the State of California, where an assessment is to be levied therefor.

Section 2. That it shall be and is hereby declared to be unlawful for any person, constructing any sidewalk or curb under any permit issued by the Bureau of Public Works of said City, as herein provided, to fail or refuse, for a period of fifteen days after the completion of said work, to remove from said street upon which said work has been constructed, all debris or surplus material, or to lay or construct any sidewalk or curb other than to the official grade of the said street, or not according to the specifications therefor prescribed by the ordinances of the said City of San Diego, or to fail or refuse to grade the unpaved portion of said sidewalk to the official grade thereof; provided, that the provisions of this ordinance shall not require the grading of that portion of the sidewalk between the inside line of the sidewalk and the property line occupied by any building, retaining wall, fence, or by any obstruction other than the natural earth, Provided, further, that the provisions of this ordinance shall not apply to any work where permits for doing such work have already been obtained from the Bureau of Public Works, provided that such work for which permits have already been so obtained shall be constructed and completed within ninety days from and after the passage and approval of this ordinance.

Section 3. That whenever the said Common Council shall determine that any street shall be permanently improved, which shall include the construction of sidewalks and curbs, the said Common Council shall fix a time within which the owners of property fronting on said street may construct such sidewalks and curbs in front of their property by private contract; that it shall be the duty of the City Engineer of said City, immediately thereafter to prepare a profile of the sidewalks of that portion of said street so determined to be sidewalked and curbed, which profile shall be kept on file in the office of the said City Engineer, who shall furnish to any person, applying therefor, an estimate of the number of cubic yards of excavation or embankment which it will be necessary to make in bringing any portion of the sidewalk of said street to its official grade; that when the said time so fixed within which the said property owners may do their own work, as hereinbefore provided, has elapsed, it shall be the duty of the said City Engineer to furnish the said Common Council with a detailed report showing the amount of sidewalking and curbing yet remaining to be done on the said street or portion thereof, so determined to be improved.

Section 4. That when the said Common Council has decided upon the improvement of a street or portion thereof, and has fixed the time within which property owners may do their own work, as hereinbefore provided, it shall be the duty of the City Clerk of said City to advertise the fact that said improvement has been decided upon, and that property owners desiring to construct sidewalks and curbs by private contract must complete said work on or before the date fixed by the said Common Council; and also that said work must be constructed in accordance with the provisions of the ordinances of the said City of San Diego regulating the construction and providing specifications for such work. Said advertisement shall be published in the City official newspaper of said City not to exceed three times, when the time within which property owners may do their own work, as hereinbefore provided, has elapsed, it shall be the duty of the said City Clerk to inform the said Common Council of that fact.

Section 5. That all ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith be and the same are hereby repealed.

Section 6. That any person violating any of the provisions of section 1 or section 2 of this ordinance shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding the sum of Two hundred Dollars ($200.00) or by imprisonment in the City Jail of said City for a period of not exceeding one hundred days (100), or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Section 7. That this ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after the thirty-first day after its passage and approval.

Section 8. That the City Clerk of the said City of San Diego, be, and he is hereby authorized and directed immediately after the approval of this ordinance, to publish or cause the same to be published once in the city official newspaper of said City, to-wit: the San Diego Evening Tribune.
