The cutting-edge technology identifies and determines how freeway, arterial, and transit networks can be managed together to improve mobility and maximize system efficiency. The project covers a 20-mile section of I-15 from just north of SR 52 in the City of San Diego to SR 78 in the City of Escondido, including the state-of-the-art I-15 Express Lanes and major arterial routes on either side of I-15 within a couple miles of the freeway. The ICM system went live in early 2013. Detour signs on arterial streets will be implemented in summer 2015. Caltrans changeable message signs (CMS) will direct travelers off the freeway during major incidents and 49 signs on arterial streets in the cities of Escondido, Poway, and San Diego will direct drivers to the appropriate detour.
