

California Crime Stoppers Conference Tomorrow Crime Stoppers International President Speaking

March 5, 2012

San Diego County Crime Stoppers is hosting the California Crime Stoppers Conference in San Diego this week at the Bahia Hotel. More than 80 representatives from Crime Stoppers programs around the country will be in attendance. The highlight of the event is the involvement of Michael Gordon Gibson, President of Crime Stoppers International. Mr. Gibson is traveling from London to speak at the conference.

The conference begins Tuesday, March 6th at the Bahia at 8:30 am. Sheriff Bill Gore and International President Michael Gordon Gibson will welcome the group. The keynote speaker of the conference is Dayna Herroz, mother of Tori Vienneau and grandmother of Dean Springstube, who were murdered in July 2006. Mrs. Herroz serves on the San Diego County Crime Stoppers Board of Directors.

Crime Stoppers is an international organization with members from 28 countries worldwide. Nearly a million crimes have been solved throughout the world with help from tips to Crime Stoppers. Crime Stoppers program exist in such as Africa, Europe, the Caribbean, North American, and Australia.

California has been on the forefront of new program development with new programs started in Los Angeles, Orange County, Napa, and Merced in just the past two years.

The media is welcome to cover the event opening on Tuesday at 8:30 am or to set up interviews with the International President later in the day.
