The Khmer Rouge slaughtered nearly two million people in the late 1970s and the Killing Fields of Cambodia remained largely unexplained until an unassuming, yet cunning, investigative journalist spent a decade gaining the trust of the men and women who perpetrated the massacres--from foot soldiers who slit throats to Pol Pot's right-hand man, the notorious Brother Number Two.

This special event is a collaboration with P.O.V., PBS' award-winning nonfiction film series. www.pbs.org/pov
