Baby Sign Story Time

When babies learn sign language, they have a powerful communication tool. Frustration and outbursts are lessened, because baby can communicate his or her needs. Learning sign language does not delay speech, but in fact aids speech development. Most baby signers speak earlier than babies who do not learn baby sign language.

Join Jennifer Duncan for this presentation of story time for babies through sign language. The story times are every Tuesday in July at 10:30 a.m.

Beginning on July 13, the North University Community Branch Library will feature hour-long concerts on the outdoor patio. George Svobada, performing on July 13, has been performing, recording and teaching for nearly twenty-five years. In his native Czechoslovakia he taught guitar and music theory and since arriving in the U.S. has been teaching guitar at local universities.

All free concerts begin at 6:30 p.m. and will feature a variety of musical styles. Also in July:

- July 13: George Svobada, classical/flamenco guitarist.
- July 20: Local Condition, Americana, a mix of bluegrass, folk, and depression blues.
- July 27: Bayou Brothers, New Orleans zydeco, blues, and R & B.
