

The San Diego
Union-Tribune.

Letters to the editor

August 5, 2006

San Diego's thirst for reclaimed water

The authors state that nature recycles water. Are bureaucrats so arrogant as to believe that they can clean water as well as nature? Even if "toilet-to-tap" could work, which common sense makes highly doubtful, one would require faith that the bureaucratic machinery would operate correctly. This is the same bureaucracy that has dumped tons of sewage into our beach waters. Shall we trust them with our drinking water?

A committee recommended "toilet-to-tap." The city also appointed the board of trustees of the city's pension fund. Shall we trust committees? The City Council has totally mismanaged its fiscal affairs. Shall we trust it with our health? No!

STEVE GREEN

Santee