INTRODUCTION

Over a period of several years, members of the San Diego Genealogical Society and other volunteers went to the office of the Mt. Hope Cemetery and carefully transcribed the burial records from handwritten ledgers. The records were then typed and published in issues of the San Diego Leaves and Saplings by the San Diego Genealogical Society. This volume contains photocopies of pages from that publication reproduced here in book form. Please ignore numbers at the bottom on these pages. The numbers at the top left or right corner of each page should be consecutive and represent a continuing series of pages of cemetery records published by the society.

The names in this book, except for persons buried in the Chinese section, are grouped by the first letter of the surname. The Chinese section will be found at the end of the burial listings. We hope to create an every name index for this book and will have it available for you in the future.

November Speaker In Review Fraternal Association Records For Genealogical Use

Presented by Melinda E. Kashuba, Ph.D.

Melinda Kashuba was a very entertaining speaker, and her topic was very important to anyone whose ancestors belonged to these types of groups. It was obvious that many thought so, because the room was full in spite of the change of location.

Through our research many of us will find that we have ancestors who belonged to some type of group at some point in their lives, even if the information is not common knowledge today.

Melinda pointed out to us that there were over 70,000 fraternal and social organizations operating in 1907, this is in the United States alone. There were many different types of organizations, a few examples are: Brotherhood Associations, Immigrant Aid or Ethnic Organizations, Religious, Military or Charitable Organizations. There were Odd Fellows, Masons, Elks and many more than could be listed in this column.

Many of these groups kept records of their members and events. These records could contain some or all of the following information: name or name changes (if an immigrant); date of admission; level of membership attained; lists of transfers, suspensions or disciplinary actions; sponsors; vital statistics; health information; death payment information; and obituaries. Vital statistics, etc. will be found for most groups that offered some type of insurance was to their members.

Melinda wanted us to be aware that these groups could be national, state wide or just local, and their records will be kept accordingly. For example, there are no national records for the Masons, because they are a state level group. And the records kept by these groups will differ from one to another, even within the same organization.

A few places to find clues that our ancestors belonged to a group like this. Check old obituaries, insurance policies, tombstones, etc. One suggestion that she made that I think was very important was, that we need to obtain photographs of our ancestors tombstones. If you can't do it yourself, contact the local historical or genealogical society and send them a disposable camera.

Tombstones can be especially helpful, in that they will sometimes include symbols in the design that will lead to a group. She recommended several books that might help determine what the symbols mean are: The Dictionary Of Symbolism by Hans Biedermann; An Illustrated Encyclopaedia Of Traditional Symbols by J. C. Cooper; and An Encyclopaedia Of Freemasonry And Its Kindred Sources by Albert G. Mackey and Charles T. McClenahan.

She suggested several other books if the research was for a particular area. Some of them are: Catalog Of City, County, And State Directories Published In North America; Guide To American Business Directories by Marjorie V. Davis; or A Bibliography Of American County Histories by P. William Filby.

Melinda suggested some good sources if you are searching for information on a particular group. Some of the were: The International Encyclopedia Of Secret Societies And Fraternal Orders by Alan Axelrod; Baird's Manual Of American College Fraternities; and Secret Rituals And Manhood In Victorian America by Marc C. Carnes.

Many of the still existing groups will have Web Sites of their own, and Melinda recommended taking the time to check them out if access to a computer was possible. For example, there are sites for Elks (<http://www.elks.org>), The Grange (<http://www.grange.org>) and the Masons (<http://www.indianamasons.org>). There are many others, and you may even find sites about groups that no longer exist.

Melinda suggested patience when it comes to getting information out of the existing records of these groups. Many of these groups have a limited volunteer staff, and it may take them a while to respond.

First try writing a letter to find out what type of records exist and how to go about obtaining this information. If the group seems reluctant to release information, explain why you want the information and them offer to do something for the group. Make a donation or offer to write a short article about your ancestor for their newsletter.

If the group no longer seems to exist, contact the local historical society in the area of your research and see if they have the records. Even if they do not have the actual records, they may be able to tell you who has.

Melinda sure gave us a lot of new options for finding the organizations that were so very important in our ancestors lives.
