Therapeutic Recreation Services

Therapeutic Recreation Services provides therapeutic recreation programs, leisure education, sports opportunities, and outreach services to people with disabilities, ages 3-adult. Staff plan and conduct an average of 25 recreation programs monthly, as well as special events, and sports tournaments. Therapeutic Recreation Services collaborates with other agencies to sponsor additional recreation and leisure opportunities for all. An estimated 50,000 people annually are served through programs and outreach services. Therapeutic Recreation Services is nationally recognized for many of its adaptive wheelchair sports and recreation programs. Recipients of services include, but not limited to persons with:

- Physical disabilities (spinal cord injuries, cerebral palsy, spina bifida, amputees)
- Developmental disabilities (autism, cognitive impairments, Down syndrome, etc.)
- Learning disabilities
- Blind and visual impairments/Deaf and hard of hearing
- Brain injuries
- Mental illness and behavioral disorders
- People in recovery from drug and/or alcohol abuse
- Injured service members

Therapeutic Recreation Services has a large volunteer program, which features opportunities for individuals to gain experience working with people with disabilities. Many of the recipients of services also volunteer in the program, to gain knowledge and skills for prospective employment. Volunteers provide an average of 20,000 hours of service to the program annually.

Statistics for Fiscal Year 2022:

- 10,000 persons provided outreach services
- 6,500 persons participating in monthly therapeutic recreation programs
- 2,000 persons participating in co-sponsored programs

Beach Power Wheelchair Program

Therapeutic Recreation Services is responsible for the operation of three (3) power beach wheelchairs, located at the Mission Beach Lifeguard Station, 3141 Ocean Front Walk. Staff check-out the chairs to patrons with mobility impairments and instruct them in the safe operation of the chairs. In addition, staff provides information and referral to patrons on accessibility issues and other services available for persons with disabilities. Many of the users are out of town tourists. Usage varies from 30-100 patrons per month, with approximately 200 inquiries answered monthly during peak season.

Inclusion Aides

Therapeutic Recreation Services has taken on the role of assisting Recreation Centers to provide programs to all citizens and meet the requirements set forth by the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA). Children and adults with various types of disabilities should always be welcomed at all Parks and Recreation Programs. Due to the nature of the disabilities, some of these individuals require the assistance of an aide to participate in the activities. Aides provide one-on-one assistance in performing various recreation activities, close supervision of participants, monitor behaviors, and ensure the overall safety of all the participants. Many individuals with disabilities would not be able to participate in recreation center activities and programs without the assistance of an aide. The ADA prohibits staff from requiring individuals to bring an aide to assist in recreation participation, or from charging the person additional fees to hire an aide.

Therapeutic Recreation Services assists with registration, assesses the needs of the individuals, and arranges for reasonable accommodations, including the hiring and training of inclusion aides to provide individual assistance. Therapeutic Recreation Services also provides training to City recreation staff members on how to work with persons with disabilities, as well as technical assistance in program planning and design to assure accessibility for all participants.

In Fiscal Year 2022, approximately 25 children with autism and other developmental disabilities, participated in day camps, dance, soccer, gymnastics, and other classes at 12 different recreation centers throughout the City. Many of these children demonstrated increases in recreation skills, social skills, and appropriate behavior while participating in programs with the assistance of inclusion aides. In addition, children without disabilities demonstrated increased tolerance and sensitivity toward those with differences. New friendships were formed, and parents were extremely pleased that their children with disabilities could finally participate in activities at their neighborhood recreation centers along with siblings and peers.

AgeWell Services

AgeWell Services provides recreation, educational events, and social/outreach services for adults age 55 and older. Services include: information and referral, lunch and learn sessions, health fairs and transportation information. Recreation programs and special events offered include:

Statistics for Fiscal Year 2022:

- 5,500 seniors participated in dances, special events, daily recreation activities, and out of town trips
- 3,000 seniors participated in co-sponsored activities
- 15,000 persons provided information/outreach services and social services assistance

Volunteer Program: AgeWell Services has a large volunteer program, which features opportunities for individuals to gain experience working in an office and at events. Benefits to the senior volunteers include socialization, cognitive stimulation, sense of belonging, use and retention of previously learned skills, pride and feeling of accomplishment, opportunity to give-back to community, decreased isolation, and sense of purpose, which all contribute to independence and healthy living. Approximately 50 volunteers provide over 10,000 hours of service annually.

Senior Lounge: AgeWell Services maintains a senior lounge in Room 105 of the Casa del Prado, located in Balboa Park. The Lounge was first made available to older adults in the 1960's and is provided as a drop-in place of rest and relaxation for older adults visiting Balboa Park. In addition, various social activities are offered daily including card and table games, bingo, and walking groups. Over 500 older adults visit the lounge monthly.

Social Call Program: AgeWell Services oversees a social call program, where older adults receive a friendly phone call (depending on the patron's request, calls are made up to seven days per week) from an AgeWell Services volunteer. Approximately 100 patrons are enrolled in the Social Call Program.

Parks and Recreation is committed to providing recreational and health and wellness opportunities citywide, in which AgeWell Services' staff are available to assist Parks and Recreation staff on outreaching to their communities to determine community interests and needs, as well as assist with community referrals and program implementation.
