CULTURAL RESOURCE SUR EY OF

Presidio Hills, Mission Hills and Bankers Hill Areas

of San Diego, California

The Cultural Resource Survey for the above areas was carried out under the terms of the State of California--the Resources Agency, Department of Parks and Recreation Contract. The Contract called for a survey of the above areas.

Separate maps and computer forms have been provided SHPO as well as the City Planning Department of San Diego and SANDAG for the surveys.

The methodology in undertaking the surveys and in procedural matters is nearly the same as that included in prior surveys undertaken for SHPO by myself. What continues to take place is a refinement of the report form data, and the experience on this survey provided new members of the survey teams.

As reflected on the maps provided, the survey area includes Pacific Highway on the West following around on the north to the east on Highway 8. The southern end meets the Middletown Survey at Witherby Street follows up Washington Street and then across to Laurel Street on the South. On the east Balboa Park is the boundary which turns at University Avenue to Lark Street and then down to Highway 8.

The area is quite diverse ranging from the adobe sites of the early 1850's to the commercial structures of more recent times. Within the boundaries are several National Historic Sites and areas including the site of the Spanish Royal Presidio, and a County area set aside for previously doomed buildings called Heritage Park, and the Old Town State Historic Park which includes buildings on the National Register.

We found that as even as the survey was underway there were buildings in the Mission Hills/Bankers Hill area disappearing due to the acquisition of property by developers for condominiums. This is also taking place along some of the canyons. We recommend via this survey that the San Diego Historical Sites Board take some sort of action to discontinue the actions of indiscriminate construction especially along the walls of the beautiful canyons which is gradually but surely encroaching on the residential areas and causing the loss of significant structures. This is especially true in the Maple Canyon area.

As much of the field work as possible was undertaken at first; when enough data had been accumulated through seeing and describing on the DPR 523, the historical researchers then looked for the assessment roll information, current ownership and the historical data.

All data was then fed to the computer which included a pre-prepared and printed form to accomodate the information which involved the title search and directory search information. Then when changes had to be made or additional material placed on the sheets, the data could be added to the discs for printing. The information is now stored, and may be retrieved for printing exclusive of the photos and the specially drawn maps on the reverse of each DPR 523. Two special maps were drawn and provided appropriately for two specific purposes. One map drawn of Heritage Park reflects the some 8 structures which have been moved to this area after threat of demolition. These have been identified, studied and shown on the map. The second map involves an area adjacent to the Old Town State Historical Park which for some years this historian has been indicating should be acquired by the City as an addition to Presidio Park on the north or added to the State Historic Park which it flanks on the south. This area, now a city golf putt putt course has been encroached upon by commercial structures on the south and the West. Beneath the sod are perhaps 20 buildings which pre-date any now shown for the State Park. It is the area in which the Spanish and Mexican people resided after they had worn out the Presidio on the Park in the hillside. It has been somewhat protected by the park and playground, but is a significant piece of historical real estate and some body should take the acquisition of this region seriously.

Sites have been coded on the master computer index sheet; national register areas or buildings have been marked; those which are potential national register sites have been so indicated.

Edward and Celia Streicher are listed here from 1921 until past 1930. Edward Streicher is the owner of the Streicher Shoe Company. Charles Engebretson was named on one document which means since one brother was a grading contractor and one was a builder that he could have built the house.

Harry L. Miller was in the Inspiration Heights Co. Anna C. Brockett owned the property for a short time, but lived across the street. Herman & Addie Drishaus lived there from 1921 - 1924. No information could be found about them. They probably built the house. Harry & Anna Weis retired from the Henry Weis Steel Manufacturing Co. of Elkhart, Indiana, lived there next. John G. & Laura Beck of Ingersoll Candy Co., Secty-Treas., lived there from 1927 and into the '30's. Owner since 1964 is Lewis F. Scarr, a columnist for the SAN DIEGO UNION.

Key distinguishing feature indicates the Tudor style of architecture. Appears to be a rather imposing, brick type structure, almost like that of a fortress. Two to three story structure, with moulded brick trim around French windows. A center door is accentuated by Classical columns. A fanlight appears on the upper story of the front facade. Structure is asymmetrical.

Earliest reference indicating residence here was on 11/20/1911. Title search reveals a H.L. and Marg. Miller sold their home to UTIT. On Feb. 21, 1912, Joseph Weinberger, a native Czechoslavakian, moved to this address. Weinberger practiced medicine with an emphasis in dermatology. He resided there for 3 years until selling it to W. Lubin, 1/28/1915. According to Deed Book 230/83 Lubin sold residence to James Dodds. The occupancy is rather vague until 1920 when it was acquired by a prominent S.D. sttorney. Ralph E. Jenney. After a 25 year legal service during which he rose to state leadership in Democratic circles, he was appointed by President Roosevelt in June 1937 to be a Federal Judge. Jenney was the first Federal Judge ever appointed directly from the San Diego area. This home is presently for sale.

In 1912 Harry L. & Mary Miller of the Inspiration Heights Co. sold lot 10 to Charles E. ARnold, of G.C.Arnold & Son Real Estate Investment and Insurance Co. The following year Mabel R. McCadden, wife of J.A. in the automobiles and supply business, bought the property. In 1913 the Millers sold lot 11 to Edward L.L.Entler, a salesman in the Old Mission Realty Co. A building contract for $5596. was given to the Bert Armstron Co. The McCaddens lived at this address from 1915 to 1922. James McCadden was General Manager of the Tecolote Dome Oil Co. The first occupant found in 9124 was Robert R.Hamilton, wife Claire C., of Hamilton & Lindley Law firm. In 1927 he was Vice Pres. of Stubbs Motor Co.

Jose G.Estudillo,"member of one of the oldest and highest esteemed families" owned this land from 1875-1881 as well as Jose M.later. Estudillo was Treasurer of State in 1876. His family name is a legend in Calif.especially in Old Town; the Casa de Estudillo or "Ramona's Marriage Place"is an historical landmark. The property passed through various hands through the years, including John M.Clark, respected liveryman and horseman. The large rambling house built on a knoll overlooking San Diego Bay is a testimonial to the memory of the Estudillo family who once owned [illegible].

T.O & M.E.Anderson and Mary A. Sterrett owned the property but did not live there. In 1914, Arthur Reynolds and his wife Marie lived at 1969 Puterbaugh.This street name changed several times from Puterbaugh to Alameda Terrace. Mr. Reynolds was listed as a draftsman and later an architect, so he probably designed the house. From 1918 to 1931 John G.Locke and Isabel F. Locke owned the property. He was an authority on whaling ships of New England, having been born in Nantucket. Occupations given for Mr. Locke were auto repair and inventor.

This house was once a grand house owned by the Timken family located at Canyon edge but is now in poor repair. The present owners have lived there since 1964 and are the third owners of the property. The yard is overgrown and strewn with junk. The house was not listed in the San Diego directory until 1927 and was vacant until 1929 when J.S.Morse moved in. This house was "built along bungalow lines". It has a second story which disqualifies it as being a true bungaloid in the sense of the intent of the original designs of the bungalow style. It still, however, retains the basic characteristics of the Bungalow.

Legal Description: Blk.D, lot 1, map 1934 Presidio Hills. The many Spanish Colonial features of this hose make it a perfect example of that style.The front presents a 2 story rectangular structure balanced by an open verande at the left 2nd story and a 1 story wing attached to the right. Both levels are covered by a low pitched red tile roof.The absence of arches distinguishes this house and style from the mission mode.The jewel of the house is its entry: an enriched classical door surround of ornate low relief carving topped by a keystone crest.The color scheme is grey-blue with deep blue doors and windows trimmed in white.The single story wing facade contains deep blue French doors accompanied by full size white shutters.Windows vary in size and include an 8 pane vertical ribbon lighting an interior stairwell.The 2nd level veranda with wooden posts, brackets and railing is directly above a partially open garage through which an enclosed courtyard is visible.

The ornate door, roof, plastered walls, wood-trimmed veranda, color scheme, window pattern, and courtyard all represent prime examples of this style. The site was part of George W. Marston's Presidio Hills properties and the street was named after the first San Diegan Marson extended credit to after he opened his first store in San Diego.

This is a 1 1/2 story stucco, assymmetrical house with a large stucco chimney at one end and red asphalt shingle steep gabled roofs and a conical roof. The main window at gable end of the side wing is sharply arched; two vertical and one horizontal division separate numerous panes of glass. Windows in the central block and turret are long thin vertical strips of 10 panes; two rows of five. The entrance is offset and placed perpendicular to the central block. It is in a recessed arch; the wood door divided by molded panels; four large at the bottom and a cross and a circle shape at the top. A brick walk curves around from the sidewalk, hugging the hose to the entrance.A large oak tree shades and partially obstructs the house.

This large stucco house sits on a stone foundation and has red tiled roofs on both the two story main portion and the smaller wing. The closed porch features cut-out Moorish arches opposite the leaded glass front entry. The entry is approached from the side and is protected by a low wall. The windows are multi-paned, and the upper floor has glass doors opening on a wrought-iron balcony. Beneath the roof peak is a bas relief decoration. Most of the windows have small ledges at bottom. A two car garage is below street level under the main portion of the house.

In January, 1924, Lida Scripps, a pioneer resident of San Diego County, sold lots 1 - 4 to William Templeton Jonnson. Johnson, a partner in the architectural firm of Johnson and Snyder, is perhaps best known for his design of the Serra Museum. Johnson sold the property to Moritz and Christine E. Trepte. Trepte was a building contractor and may have built the house. They lived at 4467 Ampudia St. at least until 1930.

This is a one story rectangular shaped house with wood shake roof and siding. The slightly gabled roof has 3 low slanted dormers with 3 panes of leaded glass windows. A circular driveway leads to the entrance. The entrance is off-center to the right and reached by the opening of the porch. The double doors of the entrance are in a diamond shaped pattern as are all of the windows opening on to the porch and of the dormers. The left third of the house was added in the style of the house with the exception of fixed picture windows. There are 2 chimneys near the gable ends. There is a garage at the driveway entrance.The property is heavily landscaped;an abundance of large eucalyptus trees is to the rear of the house.It a beautiful example of Eastern Shingle Cottage style.

This is a beautiful example of Spanish Colonial styling, combined with graceful Pueblo touches, applied to a small family home. Every treatment is perfectly balanced and all visible entrances and window openings are highlighted with curved ornamentation. The unique entrance tower gives the house a more commanding appearance while sheltering the entrance in privacy. The entry landing patio provides a partial set back from the street for the dining room.

George W. Marston, president of the Marston Co., sold lots 17 and 18 to John M. Purdy in 1912. Purdy was the manager of Armour and Co. In 1913, Purdy sold lot 18 to Alice Hale, probably the wife of Wesley P. Hale, a partner in Wesley-Hale and Co., wholesale coffee. In 1914, the owner was Mary J. Long, who contracted with the firm of B.F. Decker and E.H.Dryer to build on lot 18 for $4,100. Long was the proprietor of the Maple Apartments at 4232 St. James Place until at least 1922. She probably never lived at Arden Way. In 1930, Charles Brown, a real estate broker, owned the property.

Rafter projections extend past the eaves and roof line and present a curved(convex) crown effect over the middle of the veranda-porch roofline: the latter being supported by tapered porch posts atop stone piers. Stone steps lead up the incline from the street connected by a sidewalk to exterior stairwell of stone up to veranda level. To the right of the entry a large blue inside white trimmed fixed middle picture and side paneled window faces street; the left front window appears similar but is obscured by plantings. Rafters extend beyond the eaves and end in carved rounded tips..

A large rectangular two story light cream colored stucco house with wide eaves supported by four large and well spaced carved brackets, under a low pitched hip roof. Pronounced moldings of squared design emphasize the division between stories and emphasize edges throughout. The roof of the long central entry porch is supported by large square bracketed columns, topped with vines partially obscuring the ribbon of square cut outs that circles the balcony on top of the porch roof. Three of the four large front windows contain a fixed large center panel topped by five lights with side sash windows. The left lower front window is one large rectangle topped by eight lights. An oak front door contains three vertical glass panels and repeats the symmetry of the house.

19. BRIEFLY STATE HISTORICAL AND/OR ARCHITECTURAL IMPORTANCE
(INCLUDE DATES,EVENTS,AND PERSON ASSOC. WITH THE SITE.)

This is a very attractive example of a modest Italianate villa style. The large rectangular two story structure is decorated with large well spaced carved roof brackets, moldings, and squared trim maintain the symmetry of design throughout the house. The first and second stories are delineated by a squared, molding design and all edges, including window openings are like treated. Two families, the first of a San Diego newspaper man, Robert Hicks, and the second of his son-in-law, Dr. B.F. Eager, have continuously occupied the house for over 60 years.

In 1912, George W. Marston, president of the Marston Co., sold lots 5 - 8 to the Union Title Co., which sold lots 5 and 6 to Chester Eastman. Eastman, a real estate agent for Crescent Realty Co., sold both lots to Harold E. Swayne in 1913. Swayne, the secretary of San Diego Mutual Fire Insurance Co., sold lot 5 to John H. Roberts, who took a mortgage for $1,000. In 1918, E.J. and Ruth J. Swayne owned lot 51. They sold to Nathan Rigdon, an investment counselor. E.J.Swayne was a partner in the firm of Swayne and Hymer, real estate brokers.

This extremely handsome large Calif. bungalow or bungaloid, is well sited on a large corner. The high pitched cross gable roof is supported by carved brackets with rounded tips. Two center sash and side panel windows dominate the facade. the 3rd story plain version doesn't detract from the impact of the more ornate 2nd story model with its shed type roof projection over the window and slight balcony completing the enclosure effect. Projecting rafaters appear whereever any edge is presented and delineat the division between the 1st and 2nd stories by encircling the house. The porch extends across the entire front supported by mixed brick piers presenting a rough textured appearance. The creamy white horiz. wood siding sets off the dark brown trim and mixed brick porch piers and 3 story chimney at the side. The side also presents a bay window projection topped with a dark brown wooden railing. The prop. is perfectly maintained.

(INCLUDE DATES,EVENTS,AND PERSON ASSOC. WITH THE SITE.)
The house is a significant example of the bungalow or bungaloid with style features being capably applied to a large 2 1/2 story structure.The steep cross gable roof is well supported by the size of the structure and bracket trim.Two large front center windows decorate the facade with the lower,2nd story one enclosed between a projecting shed roof treatment and small balcony.The short projecting rafter theme is repeated throughout to delineate edges and effectively divides the 1st and 2nd floors by encircling the house.The large porch extends across the front with mixed brick rough texture piers.The same brick is used in the 3 story chimney.This is one of the major structures in the area and dominates the surroundings.

The property once belonged to the U.S.Government during WW II and was returend to the city afterwards. The house was built for Leo and Florence Hoffman. In 1954 Raymond Chenhill owned it. His wife Helen was a civic leader for over 20 years who died while on vacation in S. Africa. The next owner, Glen Rock, also had a tragic death when he was pinned under his car after it plunged off the freeway. The house sits at the end of the street at a canyon edge, shaded and serene.

Legal Description: So'westerly 50' of Northeasterly 125' of lot 1, block 505 Old San Diego.

This Gill house reflects the Mission Style with its use of arched windows throughout 2 large rect. medium gable roofs intersect to form an L shape. Another block nestles in the intersection which is the entrance. It is white stucco with asphalt shingle roof and brown trim. The roof line protrudes at the eaves exposing support blocks and smooth rafters. Brown trim accents the large arched windows, set in slightly recessed arches with 12 pane casement type opening windows with screens. 4 such windows can be seen on different wings from the facade. The entrance had a porch added because of the 2' added when moved. The door is set in a recessed arch with a large arched single pane double door with 1 radiating side light. The house is unfinished in its new setting and unlandscaped at this time. It exemplifies the Gill style of combining cubic forms with mission arch style. It has clean lines and the beauty of simplicity.

This is an unique house for many reasons.It is an Irving Gill design moved from 6th Ave. in Nov. 1978 on the same dy the Klauber house(on 6th Ave..) was razed.It was orig- finally built for the Ruckers and known as the Rucker House.It was divided in two and set on the present lot. A Calif.bungalow was demolished to accomodate the Gill.Mr. Rivera, the present owner, prepared the lot by excavating a basement.The house sits 2' higher than originally so steps and porches had to be added to accomodate the change. Some windows in the rear have been changed but the overall design of the house has bee preserved.The interior is a series of arches and blocks with plain redwood paneling, characteristic of Gill.The Rivera family has been working on it for 2 years, Mr. Rivera doing the work himself,they have just moved in and have a completion date of 1 year.

The house was built from the whim of a Mr. Anderson, who had travelled extensively throughout Mexico. It was built to his specifications including specially made over-sized tile inlayed in the interior arches. Details, such as the olive tree, symbolic of the Spanish Conquest, was planted in the center of the interior patio. It is very old and was dying when the present owners bought the house. They ar nurturing it back to health.

The Melcher house was designed by the owner, Frank Melcher who was a contractor from the midwest. His granddaughter Verlayne Robinson, director of the Mission Hills Pre-School says that Mr. Melcher built many of the homes in the Mission Hills-Presidio area. The house was custom built to his specifications. Coming from the midwest, Mr. Melcher claimed he never wanted to chop firewood again. To the disappointment of the present owner, he put in a false fireplace and chimney. Incongruously, he imported marble and tile to create a beautiful facade. Also the master bedroom and bath took up the entire 2nd story which has now been remodeled. The 2nd owner, an elderly woman, had glue poured in the window wells to keep them shut. She willed the house to her secretary. The 4th and present owners are Dr. and Mrs. R. Massengill who have 3 children.

This is a simple, 2 story box-like symmetrical house of white stucco exterior with dark gray roof. The roof has a very slight pitch. Upper story windows consist of 3 double hung sash; two 8 over 8 and one 6 over 6 with gray shutters. Ornamentation of the Colonial type is below the smaller central window. Two large multi-paned bay windows flank the molded wood entrance opening with molded panel door. Two lanterns are to each side of the door. A sectioned red brick wall is in front of the windows and entrance. A curved cement walkway leads to the entrance. It is devoid of much landscaping and there is no chimney.

Two real estate agens owned the property, Claude R. Conklin and John C. Rice before Alfred T. Johnson lived there. It can be assumed that he had the house built in 1910. John C. Rice's company, Central Mortgage and Insurance Co. of Pt. Loma probably held a mortgage. Johnson was the local manager of Western Wholesale Drugg Co. The house numbers changed from 104 in 11910 to 1504 in 1913 to 1704 in 1914. The Johnson's moved in 1920 and there is a gap of known occupants until 1922 when Harry Irving Vernier, son of Mme. Ernistine Schumann-Heink, and his wife, Zelda, became residents. Vernier owned Commercial Press.

Three early owners who did not reside at that address were Claude R. Conklin, real estate, Chauncy Vedder, Edward N. Sawyer, social and industrial officer of the Salvation Army. Alpheus N. Gaston, real estate and Vice Pres. of the Gaston & Carlisle Building Co. was first owner to live at the address. He probably built the house for himself in 1912. From 1916 to 1921 no names of residencts could be found. In 1922 Hyman Effron and wife, Annie, moved in and lived there until 1943. He owned Effron's Men's, Women's, and Children's Shoes and Ready to Wear at 743 5th St. which was moved to 8th & C in 1973. The present owner James B. Simonds is Vice Pres. of San Diego Bindery.

The first owner of the property to reside here was Thomas O. Burger and his wife Hollie in 1914. He was a physician and surgeon and one of the founders of the American Surgical Association. He was also founder of the Pacific Coast Surgical Association and on the Board of the San Diego Zoological Society. In World War I he was a member of the Army Medical Corps. Commander and Mrs. James C. Masters lived here one year, 1926. They remained in San Diego many years. Mary F. Cunning lived in the house 2 years and may have owned it for a longer time. She was the member of a pioneer family and lived in San Diego from 1917 to her death in 1945.

Augustus W. and Fanny J. Goodrich bought lot 6 from the Union Title Co. in March, 1913. In 1920, Charles Goodrich, probably their son, sold the property to Louis H. Provost, owner of the Golden Lion Tavern and Grill. Provost may have sold to Elmer J. Johnson, a salesman who lived at 2255 Ft. Stockton Dr. Records show that Johnson sold to the University Avenue Bank in 1923. By 1930, Charles C.J. and Jennie E. Donaldson owned the property.

An early owner of the land was Daniel K. Adams, a member of the Common Council of the City of San Diego, and superintendent of the Department of Streets and Public Bldgs. Thomas S. Parker and his wife, Catherine, bought the property in 1915 and lived at 1797 Ft. STockton until the house was ready for occupancy. They lived at this address in 1916 and 1917. Jesse George and wife Anna owned and lived in the house for 4 years. He was an attorney in George & McCoy. From 1920 to 1930 Edgar Schiller, a pharacist and branch manager with the Monarch Drug Co. lived there and owned it. Today it is owned and occupied by the Pres. of Peoples Fish Co.,Cosimo & Sarah Busalacchi.

The property was developed for F.A.Gray, East coast hair dye manufacturer. He selected Wm.H.Wheeler, noted S.D. architect, to design the house. Wheeler had executed the imposing brick house next door, at 2174 Guy St. Many of Wheeler's previous works such as the Balboa Theater(1924), S.D.Athletic Club(1926), and Coliseum Athletic Club(1926), incorporated the use of high relief ornamentation. This process was used on the Gray house which gives it an intriguingly mystical aura. Wheeler designed many prominent homes, churches, commercial buildings in S.D. and Amy Templeton Johnson's church in Los Angeles. He was also an accomplished opera singer and actor. His son, Richard George Wheeler, is a noted architect in S.D. today.

The lot this house sits on was once part of a larger parcel owned by Eli Gifford, gentleman horse racer,and was partitioned in 1894. Godfrey L.Stobeck, realtor & insurance man, commissioned Wm.H.Wheeler, renowned S.D.architect to build this house in 1925.The house was erected in 1926. W.Wheeler was the creator of many well known buildings in San Diego and Los Angeles. In San Diego he designed the Balboa Theater, 1924, Home for Needy Children, 1924, San Diego Athletic Club, 1926, Coliseum Athletic Club, 1926, and a number of churches, homes and commercial buildings.He also built the famous Amy Templeton Johnson church in Los Angeles.Mr.Wheeler was also an accomplished opera singer and actor. His son Richard G.Wheeler is a noted contemporary architect in San Diego.

Deteriorating large rectangular frame house with exposed structrural framing, gently pitched gable roof projects with stick like pointed rafter ends; consistently sized wood siding wall surfaces. Adobe-stone mixture foundation exposed. Roof front facade features cut out design and corner brackets have carved rounded tips. An enclosed veranda across the width of the house is accessible by wooden exterior stairs. The front and southwest facade windows feature center sash with diagonal wood trim design of the upper third. The northeast facade contains three double hung windows, and the front a dormer vent window. There is an apparent lean-to addition at the rear.

Large Western Stick family home, occupied by the Bell family from 1906 through the late 1960's. Exposed structural framing, stick like pointed rafters, carved rounded roof brackets, cut out design in roof front facade, enclosed veranda and wood siding are all uniform features of this style. Its location adjacent to Old Town State Park and its age anc continuous occupancy indicate a lot of San Diego history passed by. Used recently as Baptist Church but allowed to fall into decay.

Legal Description: Blk 480, lot 1, misc. map 40,Old S.D
This prefabricated wood frame two story house was shipped around the horn from Portland,Me. and assembled with pegs at its first site in 1851. All the window and door openings are bilaterally symmetrical,the upper story contains 2 double hung 4 light sash windows with shutters,and the 1st floor has a centered larger version of the same window and shutter design. Two entrances flank the large 1st floor window, 1 to parlor and office combination and 1 to a hall and stairway.Greek doric cols.(3) support the portico which extends across the front in the classic temple form, with a roof ridge running front to back.All door and window openings are trabeated and the wooden siding is maintained in the traditional whitish color with green shutters.Trim picket fence and yard with brick triangular flower bed complete the New England appearance.This is the only known remaining example of these prefabricated houses from the 1850's in So.Calif.The house was lovingly maintained and stored,moved to present site in 1962 and furnished with original Pendleton furniture.

First purchased by S.D. leading pioneer civic leader, Juan Bandini, for daughter and spouse. Later famous tenants incl. "father of far western humor" Lt. George Horatio Derby, 1853-1855, followed by County Clerk & Recorder George Pendleton. Derby wrote for the S.D. Herald under pen names while in residence, thus honoring the site in the Hist. Amer. Bldgs. Survy under "literature" theme. Pendleton conducted his officers at the site. The Pendleton family furniture has been restored to the site. From 1880-1936 the home was occupied by Esther Smith Kerren, a 1853 born daughter of the u Spanish and Amer. pioneers, who was buried in a cemetary plot left her by the famous Fr. Ubach, priest of Old Town and RAMONA fame. Threatened by a freeway in 1962 the house was saved by the Readings, a foundation, and County Bd. of Supervisors. The house moved gracefully in spite of its age.

The charm of this tiny bungalow is enhanced by the knowledge that it was once a stable. The detailing of the gable front, the starburst design and porch love seat were all added to create an original and unforgetable little home. San Diego directories first list an address in 1925. It's a small humble, weed infested abode that seems to be swallowed up by the buildings around it.

This farm-style house has had 2 prominent families as its owner. The honorable Chas. F. O'Neal, mayor of S.D. in 1910 owned the land for a time. In 1925 Frank & May Marcy arrived, bought the land and built the home. Frank was an engineer, inventor, & philanthropist. May was an author, civic and social leader. They collected antiques which they displayed in their home. The next & current occupant is the Thomas W. Sefton family. Mr. Sefton is the great-grandson of the founder of S.D. Trust & Savings, 1889. His wife Donna is the daughter of former mayor Harley Knox. Mr. Sefton, Pres. of the Bank is an avid collector of memorabilia such as Buddy L toys, Laurel & Hardy films and model railroads; he has some of the finest pieces in the world. To this bounty is added a minature outdoor train which carries trash cans from the hose to the street. The Sefton name is one of the most esteemed in the history of S.D. Keeping with tradition, Thomas was voted Mr. San Diego 1972-1973.

Few Prairie style houses in San Diego were built as a direct influence of the Chicago school. The builders of the early twentieth century suburbs probably borrowed their designs from the "Inland Architect", or other such publications. This house exemplifies solidness of the Prairie style which adapts itself well to Western living.

In 1909, the Kelley Investment Co. sold lots 1 - 4 to Matthew E. Kelly. There are notices of completion filed in 1918 by the Adelphi Security Co. for various parts of lots one and two. This property is probably the north 45' and the south 48' and was owned by Walter A. Groff in 1918. In 1930, Abraham Bresler and his wife Anna lived at 4145 Hermosa Way. Bresler was a druggist.

Harvey D. Allen bought lots 32 and 33 from the Southern Title Guaranty Co. in 1916. Allen was the owner of Allen's Dairy and Creamery. Allen sold the S.10' of 32 and 33 to Robert Cameron Stone, who is listed in the City Directory of 1918 as living at 4411 Hermosa Way. In 1920, Stone sold his property to Lottie Buck Porterfield, wife of William H. Porterfield, publisher of the SAN DIEGO SUN newspaper. The Porterfield's apparently never lived there, but used it as a rental property.

In 1920, Harvey D. and Stella Allen owned all the lots in Allen Terrace. Allen was the owner of Allen's Dairy and lived in Mission Valley. William H. and Gertrude P. Geistweit, Jr. bought lot 7 and the E.40' of lot 8. Geistweit was a physician who specialized in diseases of the ear, nose and throat. He may have built the house because his residence was 4480 Hermosa Way in the 1924 City Directory. In 1930, Robert B. Burch, a lawyer, lived there.

Ralph and Nettie Hurlburt sold this property to Carl and Agnes Wolfe in 1920. Apparently neither couple lived at 4490 Hermosa Way. The Wolfes sold in 1923 to Rudolf and Helen Jolderma, who sold in 1926 to Wirt G. Bowman, the managing director of Villa Coronado Corporation, a real estate company. The property may have been a rental during this time. From 1927 to 1931, C.G. and Evora Foote lived there. He was a physician and may have owned the property.

In 1910, Mary L. Keeler bought the property from the Union Title and Trust Co. Two years later, she sold it to Chauncy Vedder. In 1916, S.H. and Agnes Newell were the owners. They took a $3,500. mortgage with Morris B.Irvin, a money lender. The Newells may have built the home, but probably never lived there, because S.H. is listed as a resident of the Golden West Hotel in the 1917, 1918 and 1919 City Directories.

It is more than likely that this structure's architectural theme was due to Mr. H. Philip Anewalt who owned the property in 1934. Also a notice of completion filed in the same year lends to the estimated construction date. Mr. Anewalt was engaged in a real estate business in San Diego for nine years, he specialized in property management. Mr. Anewalt died in 1974 here in San Diego, at the age of 76 and had a long career as a civic and educational leader.

Early owners were Mrs. Harriett E. Tebbetts and Mrs. Charlotte L.P.Stearns.They never lived at this address, but when Mrs. Tebbetts moved out of 2251 Pine St.,Mrs.Stearns moved in.Perhaps they were mother and daughter.Mrs.Stearns was a very active civic worker and served on several commissions and died at the Pine St.address in 1935.Melville H.Fleming,an attorney,owned the property but lived at 2250 B.St. Apparently the house was built for John James Coker, a lawyer,as the address first appears in 1927 with his family residence.They resided there into the 30's.

The history of this church began in 1911 at the corners of Falcon and Douglas streets. In 1915 it was established at its present location which had been an olive orchard previously. On 1/2/43 the church held a gathering to celebrate the burning of their trust deed signifying their freedom from debt. At that time, over a period of 30 yrs. 13 pastoral appointments had been made.The church cost $22,000. to build. considerable damage was done to the basement in the early 50's when 2 small boys started a fire.It was one of the first churches in Mission Hills.The beautiful stained glass was imported from Europe.

James Trembath, a carpenter, sold this property in 1909 to Kate Sessions, a San Diego pioneer, who planted Balboa Park and many San Diego canyons. Sessions sold the property to William Templeton Johnson, a famous San Diego architect, who designed the Serra Museum and the Museum of Natural History. Johnson held the property from 1912 to 1923, and may have built the house. Johnson sold to Mae Lincoln Clarke Bogan, who sold in 1925 to Katherine Ostrander. Ostrander sold in 1942 to Eugene and Louise Coloman. He was a mechanic at Consolidated Aircraft Corp.

Early owners Nathan and Hattie Rigdon had extensive holdings in the area. In the next block now stand the Rigdon Apartments. In 1910 Norton and Ada C. Langford bought the property and owned it until 1923. They probably had the house built. Norton was a township Justice Court Reporter. Ada, the member of a pioneer family, had once been an opera singer in New York City. The Langford's sold to John & Mary Ellen Thomas who purchased it for rental income. He was owner of the Cresent Realty Co. and she was a S.D. pioneer family member. A navy dentist, James L. Brown and his wife Mabel rented the house. Today the house is owned by the Swansons, members of the San Diego Symphony.

Pauline Douglas, widow of Charles T. Douglas, owned the property and lived at 1527 Lewis for several years. Douglas sold this property in 1911 to Edith Hoff, proprietor of the Hotel Keystone. Hoff and her family did not reside at this address until 1913 so she probably had the house built. Her husband, Lewis E., was a rancher. In 1914 Barney L. & Meta Meeden bought the property. Barney was foreman of Fairchild, Gilmore & Wilton Co., paving contractors and later became an inspector in the City Operating Dept. Their son Felix, a mechanic for at Sinclair's Ford Agency also lived there. Meta continued to live there after her husband's death. In 1929 Burdette Cleary, a salesman for Monolith Portland Midwest Co. and his wife Muriel lived there. Present owners are employees of P.S.A.

use with center hipped dormer and off center hipped ch.Window treatment: the dormer window is short, broad multi-paned. A square bay with double hung, vertically panes is to the right on the second story; a simple uble hung window is above the portico roof. The 1st story ndow is single sash with side panels. All windows have a uarish appearance and are framed by a wide strip of flat oc trim. The wood front door with lights is enshrined beath a portico with square columns and square capitals.The rtico roof is peaked and hipped repeating the theme esblished by the roof and dormer.The portico once extended the east side of the house and was enclosed.The extant rtico is partialy enclosed.The present state is painted eam with orange trim.

This home was built by Earle E.Barr,a paint.contractor in 1910.He & his wife,Frances,a music teacher,lived there until their deaths in 1975.Their son Chuck,sold the house in 1976 & it was changed to commercial use.Lewis St.was one of the main streets of Mission Hills in the early 1900's; the 1st street car went to Lewis & Stephens Sts.The Barr house was 1 of the 1st homes to go up and still remain.The style was popular from 1890-1910.It is typical to West Coast cities experiencing a population growth.The Barr house,although void of classical ornamentation,is a good example of the flattened orderly look with flush planes. The protruding roof lines are unique to this house.

The entrance of the building is situated on the corner of Stephens and Lewis Streets. It is a one story white stucco structure with an Espadana style parapet at the corner.The roof line continues with an angular design the length of both sides of the building.A molded plaster circle with [illegible] is in the center of the curved parapet with the words "Mission Hills Liquor" below. An overhang of red Mission [illegible] is above the window area of the liquor store. A canvas awning extends the rest of the way on Lewis St. shading the window area of the other commercial tenants.Windows are fixed picture windows following the contour of the angular corner and extend the length of the building on Lewis St. The windows have wide stucco frames with the panes vertically divided.The entrance is recessed and situated to the right of the immediate corner.

This property was sold in 1921 by Wm.Simpson to Kate O. Sessions, pioneer,horticulturist,and the"Mother of Balboa Park".She had a nursery on this site from 1903-14.Many of the larger trees in the area are attributed to her planting.In 1914 she moved her nursery to Pacific Beach.Mathias F.Heller,grocer,acquired the property from Miss.Sessions. He had his son,who was Sec./Treas. of Pacific Building Co. remove and/or remodel the extant buildings and the present corner building.Mission Hills Liquor is the result.His 42 store chain was Safeway which he sold in 1929.He was a member of the Rotary Club,Elks, on the Bd. of Directors of Red Cross,YMCA,Boys Club,and S.D.Trust & Savings and Union Title Co. He operated the 1st Cash & Carry grocery in S.D. in 1892.

Legal Description: Presidio Hills lot 6, block C.
This is a U shape,low gable,one story white stucco Calif. style Spanish Colonial house with large Mission tile on the roof. The exterior finish is fan troweled.The roof tiles are stacked thickly to give a haphazard effect. The roof elevations vary slightly and the roof line protrudes and recesses which give the overall effect of many small bungalows grouped together.The tiles overhang the eaves and are supported by a rough hewn solid wood rafters and wood brack supports, unpainted.Three low, square,stucco chimneys are interspersed;one on the center block and two on the N. elevation.The patio is red brick.Window treatment varies; majority are plain picture windows with slides.S.elevation block has wood stained surrounding double sash windows and the entrance has 10 paned double doors. The front elevation has 2 casement windows protected by ornate wrought iron grills.A 1 car garage;wooden gate;wrought iron fence and stucco wall hide most of the interior view.

(INCLUDE DATES,EVENTS,AND PERSON ASSOC. WITH THE SITE.)

The property prior to 1921 belonged to pioneer Leo M. Schiller. Edward T. and Rose Guzman purchased the lots in 1924. Edward founded and was the mayor of Guzman, Okla. He was a real estate investor known for elegant and lavish entertaining. In 1926 Grace and Guilford Whitney bought the property and built the present house in 1927. Guilford was president of Whitney & Co., a variety store founded in 1905. He was a noted civic and business leader for more than 50 years. He was most noted for spearheading private enterprise participation in the community concourse. His wife, Grace, was a social and cultural leader in the city.

The house was originally in the gingerbread Victorian Monterey Cottage style with large porches encompassing the front and sides of the house. Today the house appears to be of the 20's vintage with stark, clean lines. The interior and exterior of the house was remodeled once, perhaps twice in it lifetime. It is 2 stories with a flat roof and one f-center chimney.Second story windows are casement,one to ach side of a central balcony with balcony with multi-paned door and sidelights.A series of 3 screened picture windows are to either side of the 1st floor centrally located entrance. The entrance has a recessed porch, multi-paned double doors and sidelights.The house sits on a knoll with a steep flight of steps leading to the entrance.A retaining wall surrounds the front property and lines the stairway.The small extant garage was once the "back house" of the Villa.The exterior is cream stucco with brown trim.

This single story Mission style residence is located on a cul-de-sac, and is exceptionally pure in form. A clean low arched roof line, with an arched porch over the front door, one chimney, white stucco siding. A small garage is attached to the side, and the back of the structure seems edge on a canyon.

Before 1931 the land was owned by George and Alice Kiewit. They resided at 4414 Ampudia. He had retired from the Omaha Contracting Firm of Peter Kiewit & Sons, builders of the Nebraska State Capitol Building and the Union Depot in Omaha. The house, completed in 1931, was built and lived in by Lt. Commander Lloyd. R. Gray, and his wife Edith. During World War II, while stationed in Washington D.C, they authorized the use of the house by the Fine Arts Gallery to house the exhibits displaced by the Navy's use of the gallery in Balboa Park.

Lida Scripps owned the land and sold it in 1924 to William Templeton Johnson, the well known architect of the Natural History Museum in Balboa Park. In 1925 he sold to Lydia & Etta Schweider. Perhaps he drew up the plans for the house as it was completed in 1926 by contractor Arthur E. Keyes. The Schweider sisters planted a very elaborate garden in the walled yard. They donated a painting to the Fine Arts Gallery in 1968. Katherine Pinney, widow of C.C.Pinney, lived at this address in the 40's. The present owner occupant is Jean Streicher.

Lawrence R & Georgia Hewett Green built this house the same year the bought the lot. The house is very large and extremely grand compared to the other homes in the vicinity. Mr. Green was a philanthropist and civic leader who died in 1971. They also had a residence in Escondido where he was a citrus grower. He was one of the founders of Palomar Hospital, trustee of Claremont Men's College, and was voted "Escodido Man of the Year" in 1958. The present owners have owned the house since 1974; they own Pottery Village in Old Town. The house sits on a knoll and has an expansive front year. with a double entry circular drive.

This long, graceful Mission style residence is dominated by a central circular entry tower with a low round flat domed red tile roof. The remainder of the low pitched gable roof stretches equidistantly from the tower and is covered with the same, apparently original, red tile. The smooth white plastered wall surfaces complete the clean appearance. The entry tower houses a large recessed and arched entrance accessible by curved red stairs complimented by a low curved stucco railing. An arcaded gallery extends to the right of the tower with three large arch openings. The left wing is balanced by a bay window and slightly projecting bay roof line at the corner. No alterations apparent.

19. BRIEFLY STATE HISTORICAL AND/OR ARCHITECTURAL IMPORTANCE
(INCLUDE DATES,EVENTS,AND PERSON ASSOC. WITH THE SITE.)

An extremely clean and comfortable example of Mission style, dominated by large circular entry tower bisecting the long rectangular single story structure. Original red tile roof appears slightly multicolored. Large arches enclose gallery to right of tower, molded trim, canales, sconces and wall surfaces complete the graceful Mission effect. When George W.Marston laid out this "highest-type subdivision in the early 30's,he wanted the streets to follow the old cow trails along the ridges of the Presidio Hills. Presidion Drive, therefore, follows the historic trail from Arista St. to Old Town.

Legal Description: Presidio Hills, block Bk, lot 1.
The site of this lowlevel U shaped structure is a corner lot with an Easterly rounded corner. The house completely occupies the lot with the open end of the U facing West. Within the center, two twos-story projections are visible with arched window openings and interior capped chimneys. The low pitched roof on both levels is multicolored and authentic, apparently original.Cypress an cactus compliment this building. A diamond patterned carved wooden door and turned spindle wooden window grills complete the Spanish Colonial features. The architectural style of this building is best described as a copy of the Spanish Colonial structures built betwen 1600 and 1840, a style that was successfully adapted to this graceful corner site in 1934. No alterations are apparent from the street.

This structure appears to be a 1934 copy of the original Spanish Colonial structure of the 1600-1840 period. On a corner lot it is an enclosed U shape with the open end of the U shielded by the side of the property.The street facade is a single story rambling white stucco wall structure with a multishaded red tile roof, curving around the corner from the northernmost corner of the lot to the southernmost. Two 2 story projections of the building are apparently interior elements of that poriton of the U shaped buiding along the back of the lot line. Arched window openings and capped chimneys grace the 2 story portion. George W. Marston was the original developer of this subdivision.

Both the plan and the stories are irregular in this attractive home situated in the middle of the lot. The major two story portion is covered by a low pitched red tile roof, with the tiling repeated only on the small entrance portico and the small projecting East balcony. Partially curved red stone entrance stairs, enclosed by a solid stucco railing, lead to the westerly facing entrance portico with south and west flat arches with rounded corners. Six sets of canales including one on the garage are visible from the street; turned spindle wooden window grilles and balcony railings complete the Spanish Colonial features. Both the southwesterly and southeasterly corners of the structure are single story fala roofed pueblo style squares. The small second story balcony rests upon projecting rafters and supports its red tile roof with square posts.

An attractive example of a Spanish Colonial family home, built two years after Spanish colonial architecture became the craze in Southern California. The addition of brief pueblo touches enables the house to blend from its position on a slight incline to the street. The structure is visually pleasing from all angles and is complimented by the dominance of similarly styled homes in the neighborhood.

Large two story rectangular structure with additional wing diagonally attached at Southwestern corner. Low pitched red tile roof over smooth white stucco walls with recessed second story balcony doorway over recessed entrance on first level. A small enclosed portico at the entry begins the decorative horizontal band delineating the stories which wraps from entrance easterly around side of the house.
This band is decorated with squared off blue rafters and scalloped projecting edging. The blue(light) trim is repeated with the upper level wooden shutters. Wooden turned spindle window grills remain on at least one ground floor window. The diagonal side wind houses a large center pointed arched window which looks suspiciously modern.

A very attractive example of the large Spanish Colonial family home popular after 1925. Decorative features include a carved square arched horizontal band delineating the two stories, a large decorative carved arch on the otherwise blank side(Eastern) wall, and a large center pointed arched window in front. Wrought iron railings and light fixtures complete the trim. This home was built for Dr. C.O. Tanner and lived in by his family for many years thereafter. Evidently successful, Dr. Tanner was able to take his family on an extended European tour in the late depression.

The land that this house now occupies once belonged to George W.Marston,pioneer citizen and philanthropist of San Diego. His many philanthropic gifts are a viable part of San Diego life today. He was the donor of Presidio Park, adjacent to this house on Presidio Drive. He also named the developments of Presidio Hills and Mission Hills. In 1937 he became an honorary member of AIA for his influence in developing the Spanish-Calif. type of architecture. The house was built in 1938 for I.M.Schulman, owner of Globe Furn.Co.and Globe Outfitting Co. Schulman was famous for taking 20,000 mile buying trips and for a 126 yard hole-in-one on 12/16/34.Of the present owners, Mrs. A.L. Ward was named outstanding volunteer in 1951 as a reward for her services to her community.

This structure is a large two story Mission style residence with red tile roof, gray stucco siding, arched, circular and square windows. The site is elevated almost 8' above the sidewalk with concrete stairs leading up to a small porch. Arched wooden door with stained glass on either side. Granite brick work enclosed a small garden area close to the structure. A row of citrus trees, and some juniper bushes decorate the front with an extensive front lawn retained by a four course brick wall running the full length of the property.

This two story clapboard house probably sits on columns. It features a two story octagonal bay window with a cone-shaped roof. The front porch is open, shed roofed, and supported by classic wooden columns. The porch has a stick balustrade, and is approached by straight steps. The window next to the door has a leaded glass upper panel. All the windows are double hung except in the bay. They are panels and are probably not original.There is a one story side bay window.

Thomas Whaley arrived in San Diego in 1851 and, as friends of Lewis and Maurice Franklin, opened a store. He began construction of the house and store in 1856 and it was completed in 1858. The large room on the north was the County Court Room in 1869-70. Also, it has been used as a billiard room, dairy, kindergarten, Sunday school, store and residence. In 1868, Thomas W. Tanner leased the 2nd floor for theatrical productions and 3 rooms on the 2nd floor for records storage. In 1870, the records were moved to New Town. Whaley moved to New Town but did not prosper. Lillian Whaley, his daughter, lived there until 1953 when County was asked to buy it.

Early owners were Cave J. Conts, 1852, M.M. Sexton in 1854 and O.S. Witherby in 1857. In 1910 Joseph Hazell, a city boiler inspector, and wife Frances, sold the property to M. Hall. There were several M.Halls but one Michael F. Hall was in real estate. In 1912, James W. Parkinson, postmaster and grocer, contracted with the John Hart Construction Co. for the construction of a building worth $3,150.

The church history began on 11/21/1858 as the Adobe Chapel at 3950 Conde St.A second church was started in 1869 but never realized due to a shift in population and other factors.The present church was built near the old foundation using its brick under direction of Rev.Joseph Mesny A donation by Ellen Scripps in 1917 completed the appointments of the interior and the first service was 7/22/17. In the bell tower hangs one of the original Mission bells.Architecturally the church combines the rounded lines of the Mission style with the ornate decorative spirit of Spanish Colonial.The church has been a major focal point for San Diegans throughout the Spanish, Mexican and Amer.periods.

The land, originally owned by the UTI company was sold in 1908 to George Phipps, a furniture store owner and former orange grower who made headlines in the 1870's with his farm in the Chollas Valley. In 1910, the property's first homeowner, Percival E. Woods, a veteran of the Spanish-American War, bought the house. He had been elected to the City Council the prev. year and served a total of 4 years as Superintendant of the Finance and Ways and Means Dept. He lived there until 1913 when he moved to Los Angeles.

Legal Description: Block 7, lots 10,11 port. Mission Hills. This rectangular stucco home features a low pitched, red-tiled roof, except for a middle wing perpendicular to the street, which has a high peaked tiled roof whose gable end faces the street. Under the gable the wall is filled by a large, multi-paned arched window. The main entry is to the side of this wing and is fronted by a patio protected by a low wall. The wall has a tall wooden gate which is probably an addition. The pergola or lathe house which fronts the remaining third of the facade is also an addition.

Martin German, an auto repairman, sold to Fred N. Forster, cashier for Western Lumber Co., in 1913. Forster contracted in 1931 with the Mead-Haskell Co., Mortgage Loans and Insurance, and with the Whiting-Mead Co., hardware and building supplies. Forster apparently sold the property or used it as a rental after the construction of the house because Dwight A. Jackson, an electrical engineer, is listed as residing at 1778 Sutter in the 1935 City Directory.

A classic example of this style, well sited on a curved corner lot. Horizontal band of five continuous windows wraps around the right corner to side chimney. Smooth stucco wall finish ends in straight edges along flat roof with step set back. A balcony extends across the left front to the exterior staircase, both of which are highlighted by pipe railing. Dormer vents appear in the front and side wall surfaces. The front door's circular glass and the square drain spouts over the garage at the left front complete the ornamentation, familiar to this style.

A large and beautifully maintained two story wood frame structure with uniform siding throughout the wall surfaces. A gable roof and paired sash windows face the street. The roof projects over a shed dormer facing easterly housing two casement windows flanked by fixed side glass panels. The roof slope further extends easterly over a side veranda supporting a small balcony with a carved wood railing, resting on supporting piers. The exposed fieldstone foundation, painted white, shares the facade with wood exterior stairs leading to the side veranda and the entry therefrom. Large sash windows in groups of three and four complete the facade. A large star pine and century plants appear to date from construction of house. No alterations are apparent, well maintained.

This was the family home of S.D. pioneers and remains with their descendents. The late Sue Edwards came to S.D. in 1874 after birth during a family visit to Texas. Her father, Wm Justice had led a wagon train overland in 1867, homesteaded a home in San Marcos and served on the County Bd. of Supervisors around 1900. Mrs. Edwards taught school in Palomar until her marriage to Samuel E. Edwards who had arrived in S.D. in 1896. Samuel served the county for 42 year starting as a messenger boy and retiring in 1939 as Courthouse Custodian. The Edwards daughter is now in residence at this home. Architecturally it is a perfect large Calif. bungalow with little or no alteration.

The combination of Pueblo and Mission features are utilized to fill the lot without the appearance of overcrowding. The walled courtyard adjacent to the sidewalk provides an attractive setback and the arched and recessed entry contributes to the privacy of the site. The Pueblo roof and wall features distinguish the structure from the pure Mission style residences in the vicinity. The house has been a continuously occupied single family residence since 1927.

Legal Description: Block 9, lots 17 & 18, Middletown Add. This Mission style residence presents two stories fronting on the street and three descending down the hill in back. A red tile center gable roof covers the second story, and is repeated as a westerly offset gable roof over the first story. The unique features include an arched rescessed entry, canales over the left front facade, and archivolt trim at the left front corner over the garage. The original sash windows present 4 over 4 lights. Paired monterey pines enhance the site. Alterations are apparent in an addition to the second story and two of the street fronting windows.

This rectangular stucco house has a red tiled, high-peaked gabled roof. The centered entryway is partially enclosed by a parapeted porch with archways on the facade and adjacent side. The facade archway features fluted Morrish columns. The Moorish influence is also seen in the bas-relief stucco trim which frames the upper portion of two arched casement windows on the left facade. These windows are protected by a bracketed wooden lathe structure. A low solid balustrade stands in front of these windows. There is a large arched casement window at right facade. There is a two story flat-roofed rear portion of the house which may be an addition. Almost all its windows are louvered.

This large-square, two-story stucco home has a hipped roof with overhanging, bracketed eaves and roof gables. A shed-roofed, bracketed frieze separates the first floor from the second. The entryway is recessed. The multi-paned glass and wood door is flanked by leaded glass windows. The entry is approached by straight steps. All windows have leaded glass upper panels and are surrounded by half-timbered trim. There is an exterior brick chimney on the side of the house. A low cut-stone wall encircles the perimeter of the property on two sides. The entry, steps and part of the wall are covered by a climbing vine. The yard is heavily planted.

19. BRIEFLY STATE HISTORICAL AND/OR ARCHITECTURAL IMPORTANCE
(INCLUDE DATES,EVENTS,AND PERSON ASSOC. WITH THE SITE.)

This beautiful home was almost certainly built by William Templeton Johnson because it is typical of his architectural style and because he lived there from 1921 until almost 1933. Mr. Johnson was one of San Diego's most famous architects. His designs include the Serra Museum and the Museum of Natural History. In 1935, Mrs. Mildred Holmstein occupied the house, and from 1944 to 1948 Thomas P. Faulconer, a salesman for T.N. Faulconer Real Estate Co., lived there.

A long rectangular adobe and timber structure recreated from its original site in 1964. An attempt to re-use the original building material was made. It was originally 2 rooms and 3 more were added as the family grew. The recessed lintels above the doors & windows are rough hewn wood. Ornamental shutters are to each side. Windows are flat, double sashed with 20 small panes in the upper & 1 solid pane below. A wrought iron grate covers them. A small storage room was added to the N. end and a dutch door to the right of the main entrance. About 1870 a frame structure was added to the front but razed when moved. The original roof beams extend beyond the porch supporting a red tiled shed roof which forms a veranda. Calif. State Park Commission plaque designating this as Historical Landmark #60.

Casa de Lopez, the oldest residence in S.D.was dismanteled and reconstructed in 1964 to accomodate a freeway.A succession of important figures occupied the casa through the Spanish, Mexican and American period, adding to thee folklore. In addition to the prominent Lopez family lived Juan Matias Moreno, Secty. to Pio Pico, Calif.'s last Mexican governor; Gov.Pico's mother; the wife of Juan Maria Osuna, 1st alcalde of the pueblo of San Diego; and Fr. Ubach, immortalized as Fr. Gaspar in Helen Hunt Jackson's novel Ramona.Resident Prudencia Moreno spied Gen.. Fremont's troops in 1846 and sounded a warning. The "Casa Larga entertained many prominent pioneers from S.D. and Calif. It is a fine replica of a proud adobe.

Built for Mrs. Emmett as a rooming house and restaurant. The wedding breakfast of Sr. Luis Serrano was held at the Emmett House. Sold to Mrs. Dentler, Fra. Ubach's housekeeper who ran it until the County took it for back taxes. It was made into the first county hospital. During WW II it was torn down by H.M.Hall Co. and the materials were used to build a one story home on Twiggs St. This house was condemned in 1949. City designated site #36, Nov.6, 1970.

Edward H. and Sarah J. Requa bought this property in 1911. In 1912, they transferred it to their son, Richard S. Requa, and his wife, Viola. Richard S. Requa was one of San Diego's most famous architects, and he probably designed the house. Requa was the principle architect for the 1935 Exposition. The Requas sold the home in 1920 to Lucy Grace Lacy, who lived there at least until 1935.

Legal Description: Portions of Blocks 55,56,61,62,66,67,71, & 72 of Old San Diego addition.
This site was originally composed of eight residential blocks within what is commonly described as Old Town. Established as a frontier outpost by the Spanish in 1769, this area, down slope from Alta California's first presidio, became the Pueblo of San Diego. By the 1860's, Horton had begun to build New Town and much of this area in Old Town was vacated and allowed to fall into ruin. In the 1930's, George Marston, in the process of rebuilding the Presidio, trucked in tons of soil from the Mission Valley area covering these adobe ruins, sixteen of them, and created the golf course which remains to this day. Today, only one structure, the "Carillo House", remains standing and is used as the pro-shop.

This NE section of Old Town represents a significant portion of S.D.early Historic Period.Discovered and colonized by the Spanish in the 1770's,this area experienced construction of adobe structures by the Mexicans during the early 1800's.Estimates are that at least 16 adobe or wood structures existed prior to the further development by t George Marston in the 1930's.12 of these structures have been identified as to their owners and their use.Prominent names as Carrillo,Lopez,Marron,Serrano,Soto,Lyons,Hinton & Brown are represented by these preserved adobe ruins.See attached.

MAP OF THE PRESIDIO GOLF COURSE AREA

It is important to alert the City of San Diego Planning Department, the local Historic Site Board and concerned citizens of San Diego, as to the urgent need for recognizing the Presidio Hills Golf Course area as a significant historic district. Those unfamiliar with this area, from an historic standpoint, fail to realize that underneath this golf course are the remains of approximately sixteen adobe structures. Given this unfamiliarity, little is done to preserve this rich archaeological resource. Future development of this area must be accompanied with prudent Historic Sites Archaeology and a future preservation plan. Sensitive reconstruction of these historic buildings would allow for re-occupation of this valuable land and would, hopefully, lead to having this area incorporated into the Old Town State Park for the benefit of all who visit.

19. BRIEFLY STATE HISTORICAL AND/OR ARCHITECTURAL IMPORTANCE
(INCLUDE DATES, EVENTS, AND PERSON ASSOC. WITH THE SITE.)

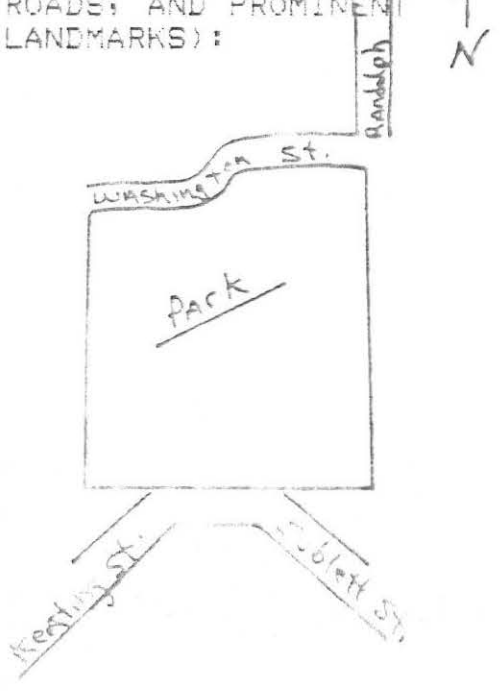

The second Catholic cemetery of San Diego was established in 1874 or 1876. The city granted the land to the Immaculate Conception parish. Many of the earliest and most important pioneers of San Diego were among the 1650 known to have been buried there. Most notable are Father Ubach, Cave J. Couts, Ysidora Bandini de Couts, Maria Guadalupe de Smith and Serafino Stewart Serrano. Many burials took place between 1880 and the final one in 1920. The cemetery fell into disrepair and the city resumed title during the 1930's. The WPA restored the grounds and built an adobe wall around the cemetery. Vandalism and neglect again took its toll and in 1971 it was turned into San Diego's 2nd Pioneer Park. The City of San Diego had originally purchased the land from Joseph S. Manasser before giving it to the church.

Sara T. Parson, acting as executor of the estate of Bertha Pucher, sold lot G to Theodore M. Smith in 1913. Smith worked as a draftsman for William Templeton Johnson, one of San Diego's most famous architects. Smith may have built the house. In the 1921 city directry Edward K. and Effie R. Beddall list their residence as 2295 Whitman. Robert L. and Frances Roberts bought the property in 1922. Roberts was a clerk for the U.S. Post Office. They held the property until 1934, but apparently used it as a rental property.

7B: BRIEFLY DESCRIBE THE PRESENT PHYSICAL DESCRIPTION OF STRUCTURE AND DESCRIBE ANY MAJOR ALTERATIONS FROM ITS ORIGINAL CONDITION.

The rolling and hilly park land, covered with a variety of plantings, was created to preserve the historic significance of the site on which European culture first came to the Pacific Coast. Historic sites include the location of the great palm tree on Taylor Street and the rolling mounds under which are situated early construction. In 1929 the ruins were covered with earth. Modern addition include the Serra Museum, which houses an historic collection, the large cross constructed of tiles and dedicated to Father Serra, the Putnam Statues, and the Lookout.

The San Diego Presidio was founded July 16, 1769, with Spanish and Mexican soldiers garrisoned there. Father Serra's church was built within its walls. The settlement became the base of exploration into the interior as well as northward. Presidio ruins were covered in 1929. Development of the park was largely the result of the efforts of George W. Marston. California Landmark #59, designated Mar. 7, 1968; Nat'l Register Hist. Site Board, Feb. 29, 1968; Dedication of the park, July 16, 1929.

The men of Galvez who died of scurvy on their way to San Diego were buried here. The cemetery was used before the Presidio was built and was also used after it was built. Surrounded by a wooden fence with no markers, there are no records of who was buried there. In 1930 a bulldozer disturbed several graves. They were reburied at Mt. Hope. In 1935 a garden with fountains and paths, enclosed in a low adobe wall, was built. Remains of it can be seen. Some of it was excavated for freeway construction. City designated site #44, Dec. 4, 1970.

California Historical Lanomark #54., City Designated site #3, Feb. 15, 1968. Site first used as a fort in 1838. Earthworks were thrown up. Early in 1846 it was known as Fort Dupont. On January 29, 1847, the Mormon Battalion ended their march here. In July 29, 1846, Col. John C. Fremont, Major Pierson B. Reading, Kit Carson and the rest of the Fremont California Battalion landed. Large casks were filled with sand and placed close together. Earth was thrown up around the outside. A ditch was dug around the outside with a gate and draw bridge constructed. Twelve guns were mounted.

HERITAGE PARK NARRATIVE

Narrative:1
When demolition of the Sherman-Gilbert house was planned, a concerned group of citizens formed the Save Our Heritage Organization, in the hope that the Victorian mansion could be saved. The group proposed the formation of an historic park and persuaded the City and County to assist in funding. In 1970, the County acquired 7.8 acres at the corner of Harney and Juan Streets and the following year the Sherman-Gilbert house was situated in what was to be called Heritage Park. Other structures scheduled for demolition, the Bushyhead, Christian, and Burton houses, arrived in the park in 1976 as part of the County's Bicentennial Project. The Sembis Cottage, Temple Beth Israel, and the McConaughy house later joined these buildings, giving a cross-section of architectural styles as well as providing a glimpse of life in early San Diego. Heritage Park, not just a museum, accommodates a variety of specialty shops and a restaurant.

Historic Site #8-City of San Diego, Aug.6, 1969.
John Sherman, a real estate dealer and cousin of William Tecumseh Sherman, built the house at 139 Fir St. in 1887. Designed by Comstock & Trotsche, it cost $20,000. to build. Title was transferred to W.E. Allis, Sherman's uncle in 1891 for $15,000. In 1897 the property was acquired by Mrs. Augusta E. Gilbert, widow of Alfred Hyde Gilbert, who had been engaged in the lumber business. Her children, Gertrude & Bess remained in the house until their deaths, Gertrude in 1947 and Bess in 1965. Gertrude was in charge of music for the 1915 Exposition and spear-headad a drive to raise funds to repair the Exposition buildings in Balboa Park. Acquired by the Save Our Heritage Organization the house was donated to the County in 1971 and moved to Heritage Park.

Site # 114 City of San Diego, November 5, 1976.
Built in 1887 at 1569 Union St. by John McConaughy and his son,James for $3500. John came from Siskiyou County where he had been an important pioneer. He established the first regular passenger and freight lines in San Diego County operating between San Diego and Julian.Son James took over the business.James had established the first long distance phone lines in Calif. between Marysville & Grass Valley. The house was purchased by Arthur C.Keating in 1888 for $9500.He had amassed wealth before coming to San Diego and did not live in the house.The same year he sold to his sister-in-law, Fanny Keating, for $9000.She gave the house to the Episcopal Church to be used as a hospital.It was restored and converted to law offices before being moved to Heritage Park in 1981.

Originally located at 232 Cedar St. the house was built as a boarding house by Edward Wilkerson Bushyhead, who lived next door. Part Cherokee Indian, he became an early San Diego Sheriff, and part owner of the SAN DIEGO UNION, having learned his trade in Oklahoma printing the "CHERØ-KEE ADVOCATE". In 1898 Henry Stanton, first secretary of the Real Estate Association, bought it. James H. Cannon became owner in 1905. In 1911, Mary A. Stimson owned it. Her husband Burt was a clerk of the Panama Calif. Exposition. From 1912 a mortgage was held by Fred A. Heilbyron who received title in 1932. Heilbron was concerned with bringing Colorado River water to San Diego. After his death in 1973 the house passed to a partnership and then donated to Save Our Heritage Organization. It was relocated to Heritage Park in 1976.

Two story plus attic, modified rectangular shaped wooden house. One story porch extends across most of the front. It is decorated in characteristic Victorian ornamentation. The remainder of the house has few Victorian touches except some fish scale design in the front roof gable on the left front. On the left side of the building are 2 porches, one on each story - the one on the first floor extending outward like a bay. The multigabled roof is covered with wood shingles. The siding is ship-lap. A small cornice decoration defines the second floor level and a larger one surrounds the top of the seond floor.

Harfield Timberlake Christian acquired the land in an estate settlement in 1885 & built the house in 1889 at 1940 3rd. Ave. He was in the abstract business forming H.T. Christian & Co. Active in political life, he was a U.S. Commissioner & Pres. of the S.D. Title Insurance Guarantee & Trust Co. at his death, and owned considerable property. In 1893 Christian sold to Joseph F. Carey, an insurance executive. George Julian Leovy, a prominent attorney, rented the house from 1907-1916. Carey deeded the house to his wife, Hettie, who founded the Free Industrial School. In 1910 the owner became Frances D. Murtha, part owner of a clothing store, but he did no live there. In 1923 title went to W.E. & Mary E. Thomas who had rented rooms there. It was divided into apartments and Dr. William C. & Joan B. Winter, affiliated with the S.D. Diabetes Assoc. bought it in 1973 and it was moved to Heritage Park in 1976.

The 3 room cottage is representative of the typical middle class Victorian shelter. Probably built from mail order plans it has cast iron window catches, and only 1 closet. It lacks stained glass windows but has Eastlake style railing on the small porch located to the right front in the "L" shaped building. Two fish scale shingled gables adorn the house. Windows are 6 feet high. No fireplace was built in the house.

Located at 1536 Second Ave., the cottage was probably constructed by Eugene Senlis in 1893. His wife, Lena, had purchased the property from Charles Dauer, who was owner of the Combination Store and County Treasurer. Senlis had come to San Diego in 1887 and became a partner for Kate Sessions. In 1924 Senlis sold to Josephine Burks, a clerk at Holzwasser, Inc. In 1939 Effal Greta Read purchased it for rental income. It was divided into a duplex in 1940. In 1978 it was moved to Heritage Park after being donated by Will Hippen, Jr. to SOHO.
