QUARTERLY COMMUNITY POLICING REPORT

FISCAL YEAR 2017, QTR. 3

"INVESTING IN OUR YOUTH, IS AN INVESTMENT IN OUR FUTURE."

FEATURING SOUTHERN DIVISION'S GIRL SQUAD

SAN DIEGO POLICE DEPARTMENT
CHIEF OF POLICE
SHELLEY ZIMMERMAN

As the Chief of Police for America's Finest City, I am pleased to present to you the San Diego Police Department's FY2017 Third Quarter Community Policing Report. This report highlights the many ways we collaborate with our community to set the national model for community policing.

Public Safety is a shared responsibility between our police officers, professional civilian staff, volunteers and the community whom we so proudly serve. Community policing provides the greatest opportunity for keeping our streets safe. Our community partnerships are essential for designing and implementing crime prevention strategies and problem solving measures. It is the police and the community working together to address crime fighting and quality of life issues that fosters the highest level of public trust and safety. This working relationship has helped San Diego keep its reputation as one of the safest large cities in the United States.

I am extremely proud of the men and women of the San Diego Police Department for the tremendous work they do each day. I am equally proud of our great citizens here in San Diego. Together we are making a positive difference in our city. This report illustrates all the hard work and community involvement our officers do every day. From our Better-A-Block events to our Coffee With a Cop, we are committed to working together with our community to ensure San Diego remains America's Finest City.

Shelley Zimmerman

MEET SOUTHERN DIVISION'S GIRL SQUAD

One day, while partners on patrol, Officers Esmeralda Sanchez and Aida Liufau started a conversation that would ultimately influence the lives of 9 young women, the community, and themselves. Those talks led to the development of what is known today as the Southern Division Girl Squad Program. It is aimed at girls 12-18 years old within Southern Division and teaches them life skills, confidence, and provides a safe place for open discussions.

Often, a patrol officer is the first person our communities meet when they call for help. Officers Sanchez and Liufau realized they were responding time and time again to radio calls involving young, teenage girls making poor life choices. They wanted to help these girls as they had been helped. Both officers grew up having strong family support and positive female role models. This support system helped mold them into the women they have become and guided them to the career they ultimately chose. They are grateful for the opportunities they have been given and want to give back to the community they proudly serve each day.

To invite participants into the program, Officers Sanchez and Liufau hosted open houses at Southern Division and distributed flyers to the local middle schools and high schools. They met with school counselors to coordinate informational sessions. The girls interested in joining the program completed an application and were interviewed.

Girl Squad currently serves 9 girls and is overseen by female sergeants and officers at Southern Division. Meetings are held each month and offers an opportunity for the teens to discuss topics relevant to their daily lives. Each meeting includes open discussion, group activities, and public speaking. Presentations and discussions cover topics such as self-esteem, body image, healthy lifestyle choices, bullying, leadership, teamwork, networking, work ethic, and interview skills.

Girl Squad is in its inaugural year and will run from July 2016-July 2017. At the end of the program, the girls will plan and participate in a community event prior to graduating and receiving a certificate of completion and community service hours.

The mission of the Southern Division Girl Squad Program is; enhance self-confidence and empowerment among teenage girls; improve and build strong character; and enhance the participant's responsibility as citizens and leaders.

By working together, we can build a stronger community and make a difference in the lives of those we proudly serve.

No police department is large enough to keep a community safe on its own. Effective crime prevention requires the active support of citizens and a partnership between police and the community. The San Diego Police Department is dedicated to developing, building, and maintaining community partnerships throughout the city. Our Community Policing efforts are the foundation of those partnerships.

We accomplish our community policing strategy in a variety of ways but most can be put into four categories:

- I. Community Partnerships – The meetings we have to discuss public safety, crime statistics, and quality of life issues.
- II. Community Involvement – The events we participate in throughout the city to foster community relationships. Our ride-along program is an integral part of this.
- III. Community Outreach – The ways we provide awareness, education, and information to the community about public safety, crime trends, and crime prevention.
- IV. Community Givebacks – The volunteering and charity efforts we participate in inside and outside our normal work hours.

Below highlights many of the ways we have attended and/or participated in community events during the third quarter of FY17, January 1, 2017 through March 31, 2017:

I.	Community Partnerships:	496
II.	Community Involvement :	443
III.	Community Outreach:	218
IV.	Community Giveback:	16

Community Involvement

Volunteer Services – No police department is large enough to keep a community safe on its own. Effective crime prevention requires the active support of citizens and a partnership between police and the community. Community policing is an important foundation of the San Diego Police Department. What makes San Diego's approach to community policing unique is the extent to which the police department has made volunteers an integral component of its program.

The San Diego Police Department is viewed as a leading force in law enforcement innovations occurring across North America. The Department's adult and youth volunteer workforce has approximately 700 members. These volunteers play a vital role in the department's vision to engage the community in a problem solving partnership that will reduce crime and positively affect the quality of life in all communities.

The San Diego Police Department has used volunteers for a wide variety of job assignments for many years. Programs throughout the Department are considered models in volunteerism in the public sector. Volunteers are essential to Department operations. They help provide a level of customer service that could not be achieved by the Department's staff alone. Volunteers represent all segments of society. The variety of functions performed by this police department affords opportunities for people with varied interests and skills. The San Diego Police Department's Volunteers in Policing (VIP) program offers a unique opportunity for citizen volunteers to become actively involved in providing efficient, effective, and responsive service to our community.

The use of volunteers includes Crisis Interventionists, Retired Senior Volunteer Patrols, Volunteers in Policing, Reserve Officers, Police Cadets, and various support staff positions that enhance the organization's effectiveness. This is a result of two decades of change in policing philosophy that has heralded San Diego as a pioneer in many areas of law enforcement.

The San Diego Police Department has a significant resource available in the San Diego community: individuals who are ready, willing, and able to serve as volunteers. In a time of limited financial resources and increasing demands for services, it is important that volunteer opportunities continue to be identified and this resource increasingly utilized.

Currently, The San Diego Police Department has 100 active Crisis Interventionists, 307 RSVPs, 24 Reserve Officers, 60 VIPs, and 55 Cadets. Our RSVPs contributed 27,251 hours this quarter. Crisis Interventionists responded to 169 callouts assisting 797 people, worked 4,400 hours, and were on call and prepared to respond for an additional 2,831.5 hours; our Reserve Officers worked a total of 1400 hours (720 of those hours went directly to Patrol); and our VIPs contributed 3,200 hours.

Ride Along Program (228) – The Ride Along Program is a powerful community involvement tool that enables an officer to showcase to citizens who live, work, or go to school in the officer's area of responsibility the daily duties of a police officer. It enables citizens to get a first-hand look at policing and to better understand the role of the police. It increases the opportunity for more effective problem solving, and it enhances mutual understanding and cooperation and leads to an improved police/community relationship.
