SAN DIEGO HELPS DISABLED VETERANS WITH HOME IMPROVEMENTS Home Improvements for Our Heroes (HifOH) Pilot Program to Assist with ADA Modifications

San Diego, CA: San Diego has a long, proud history of supporting the United States military, and is called home to over 100,000 active duty military personnel and approximately 240,000 veterans. Many of these brave men and women have made sacrifices to keep our nation safe. Some of nearly 35,000 disabled veterans in San Diego now require accessibility improvements in their homes.

To improve the quality of life for disabled veterans, the City of San Diego is offering up to $1,000 for home improvements. Funding is limited and will be granted on a first-come, first-served basis. All applicants must be pre-screened. To begin the submittal process, visit <https://www.sandiego.gov/citycouncil/cd6/HifOH>.

“I’m pleased to partner with our City’s Development Services Department on this pilot program that helps our disabled veterans with home modifications that make their lives easier,” stated Councilmember Chris Cate. “It is our duty to help those who have sacrificed so much for our freedom.”

Sample home modifications include, but are not limited to, wheelchair ramps, plumbing and electrical, chair lifts, hallway widening, door widening, and bathtub to shower conversions, to note a few.
