The San Diego Public Library was recently awarded a grant to help increase Sex Trafficking Awareness in San Diego communities. The San Ysidro Branch Library was identified as one of seven libraries with communities that have known gang violence, poverty, or a large population of at risk youth targeted for special outreach and awareness campaigns.

We would like to invite you to participate in a community conversation to help guide library staff in a strategic plan to increase public awareness in the San Ysidro community about Sex Trafficking via programs, resources, and services that will aid in accomplishing this mission. This problem can't be solved in one day, but together we can brainstorm and share ideas to educate our community, reach out to those who may be hidden/silent victims, and to let them know that there is hope and ways to end this terrible social crime.
