DS 1.4.7_182	1943	Union Oil Co., Los Angeles City Map and Vicinity Map; Rand McNally 1943 map codes; shows no airports or military bases; reflects RM's complete masking approach for 1943 products as reflected through correspondence with U.S. office of censorship; cartoon cover shows soldiers, sailors, defense plant workers looking at map
DS 1.4.7_183	1943	ACSC Road Map of Metropolitan Los Angeles, cover code 21341 1-21-43, inside cover code 414 4-41; masked (censored) reprint of 1941 map, but map left grid coordinates in for Lockheed Air Terminal, although erased from map
Box_03_20	1942	Servicemen's Sightseeing Map, Los Angeles City and County, Courtesy of the All-Year Club of Southern California Community Tourist Organization; not masked but includes a war notice regarding availability of attractions
WORLD WAR II CALIFORNIA AREA MAPS - SAN FRANCISCO AREA MAPS

DS 1.4.7_184	1942	Standard Oil Map of San Francisco and East Bay Cities; HMG, 1942 map codes; special notice military statement on cover; shows no airports or navy bases, but does show army forts
DS 1.4.7_185	1943	Union Oil San Francisco City Map, R.M., 1943 codes; shows no airports or military bases; cartoon cover shows sailor, soldier, defense plant worker looking at map
WORLD WAR II CALIFORNIA AREA MAPS - SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA COUNTIES AREA MAPS
DS 1.4.8_186	1943	ACSC Orange County Map, cover code 20349 9-20-43, inside map code 1-7-43; index mistakenly left in some censored air and military facilities; censored version
DS 1.4.8_187	1943	ACSC Orange County Map, cover code 20349 9-20-43, inside map code 1-7-43; non-censored version, index mistakenly eliminated some non-military "T" landmark names
DS 1.4.8_188	1943	ACSC Road Map of Imperial County; cover and inside date codes 415 5-41, but map is censored with index gaps and is masked reprint from 1941 uncensored version
DS 1.4.8_189	1943	ACSC Road Map of Riverside County; cover and inside date codes 394 4-39, but map is censored for bases, dams, aqueducts so it is masked WWII reprint of 1939 uncensored version; riverside airport not masked on the Riverside City inset map
DS 1.4.8_190	1943	ACSC Road Map of San Bernardino County; cover code 419 9-41, inside code 403 3-40, but map is censored for airports, military bases and aqueducts, so it is a WWII reprint, censored from a 1941 non-censored version
DS 1.4.9_191	© 1943	ACSC Road Map of Ventura County; both map codes 417 7-41, but map is censored for airports, military bases, and oil wells/fields, so it is a WWII censored reprint of a 1941 non-censored version
DS 1.4.9_192	© 1943	ACSC Road Map of Santa Barbara County, with codes 413 3-41; but map censored for oil fields, harbor lights, dams (among the oil fields masked was the Ellwood Oil Field shelled by a Japanese submarine on Feb. 23, 1942); this is a censored reprint of a 1941 map
DS 1.4.9_193	© 1943	ACSC Road Map of San Luis Obispo County; map codes 419 9-41; but map is censored for airports and military facilities, so it is a WWII reprint of 1941 non-censored version
DS 1.4.9_194	© 1943	ACSC Road Map of Kern County; map codes 412 2-41, but airports and military facilities masked so WWII reprint of 1941; verso is particularly interesting because it has coordinates for a U.S. Army Bombing range are still in the index (H-15) and range is masked, but not enough so you can still make out lettering on map in faint type; also the Taft Airport is masked on the map, but name and coordinates are still in the index
DS 1.4.9_195	© 1943	ACSC Road Map of Tulare County; map codes 4010 10-40, but military and airports are masked, so map is a WWII masked reprint of 1940 version, Visalia Airport is masked but the name and location were left in the index
