00:18:24 Katie Witherspoon: Hi Diane - only panelists can share their audio and video. if you have a question or comment, please raise your hand!

00:21:45 Katie Witherspoon: The joys of working from home!

00:26:57 Katie Witherspoon: +1 408 638 0968

00:27:05 Katie Witherspoon: Meeting ID: 965 2945 9120

00:27:11 Katie Witherspoon: Thank you Petr!

00:28:53 Katie Witherspoon: 006392

00:37:46 Andy Wiese: Discussion of open space will be the subject of the CPU meeting in July!

00:38:17 Richard Quinonez: Good to know thank you Andy.

00:39:16 Andy Wiese: You're most welcome!

00:42:23 Katie Witherspoon: menti.com

00:43:07 Andy Wiese: Code # 38 55 98

00:48:35 Andy Wiese: HI Peter, the city draws a distinction among its various park types... RC is a natural park/ open space park. And as Katie just said while I was typing... we're going to focus on the developed / community parks tonight

00:50:32 Andy Wiese: We also have Torrey Pines City Park which I believe is a regional resource based park, and that park type isn't a focus either... but if you have comments on either type, you can put them in the comments here. We will be discussion open space in particular at next month's meeting!

00:50:48 Andy Wiese: Welcome Veronica

00:52:03 Andy Wiese: Welcome Martin!

00:52:26 Andy Wiese: ... and Scott! Thanks for joining us tonight.

00:53:42 Katie Witherspoon: we will be back to the polling shortly

00:53:54 Deanna Ratnikova: It was devastating when the parks were completely closed for about a month

00:54:24 Andy Wiese: Noted, Peter.

00:56:46 Richard Quinonez: I have observed very good behavior overall, in regards to people wearing masks and observing the social distancing rules at Marcy Park. I go there everyday and am also very glad it is now open.

01:04:42 Diane Ahern: Love Laurie Phillips idea for public art in public parks. Great opportunity here.

01:35:06 Dusty Reisch: Gullstrand/Cather

01:35:30 Andy Wiese: Dinosaur Park!

01:47:06 Katie Witherspoon: Hi Isabelle, yes we are

01:48:29 Vahid Zakeri: I would like to see access to Rose Canyon from the west end of Governor Drive.

01:48:49 Andy Wiese: Hi Vahid, Noted.

01:49:27 Katie Witherspoon: Hi Keith - that is part of the concept that we are looking into.

01:49:54 Andy Wiese: Thanks Rebecca, I'd like to look into that!

01:51:43 Katie Witherspoon: thanks for the idea, Jemma!

01:52:26 Andy Wiese: I agree, Martin, this is an opportunity for more sustainable, ecologically resilient design and urban greening like we are seeing in the Silicon Valley region ... to bring the 'canyon' space out into the community, and enhance trees for shade, plants for native pollinators, bioswales for clean water, native trees for carbon sequestration, clean air, etc!

01:52:42 Isabelle Kay: That is great regarding understanding a watershed — especially south of Costa Verde

01:53:04 Isabelle Kay: Too much paved surface in the presentation

01:53:15 Andy Wiese: See for example: Urban Ecological Planning Guide for Santa Clara Valley

- 01:54:09 Andy Wiese: A great place to breathe, to look out over quiet open space, passive recreation for community members of all ages!
- 01:54:27 Isabelle Kay: Can we take advantage of the desire of people to be stewards?
- 01:55:38 Andy Wiese: Separate spaces for rest and relaxation.
- 01:56:42 Diane Ahern: I like the idea of linear parks in Rose Canyon to provide better access for those with limited mobility.
- 02:04:25 Isabelle Kay: Great suggestion Laurie!
- 02:04:36 Andy Wiese: Very interesting idea, Laurie!
- 02:04:51 Tom Cartier: Accent greater access to canyons. Please consider emergency egress in plan.
- 02:04:57 Isabelle Kay: Regarding the canyon SE of Regents Road south terminus.
- 02:05:14 Andy Wiese: You are right about that potential... I'm sure that the birds have noticed...
- 02:05:39 Isabelle Kay: Great Joann! Yes, and more permeable surfaces...
- 02:06:34 Tom Cartier: Need to address dog park, now they poop on fields where kids play!!!
- 02:06:41 Andy Wiese: I agree with Joanne that yes, soft, naturalistic, DG, native planting that takes advantage of the slopes, the views and brings more available community park space to the neighborhoods on both sides of RCyn
- 02:07:22 Dusty Reisch: Dog parks are a must!
- 02:08:16 Katie Witherspoon: again, email is katiew@sandiego.gov
- 02:08:34 Isabelle Kay: Cheers!
