First Honorary Street Name Designation for Legendary Community Leader, Kathleen Harmon

My Council Colleagues and I unanimously passed the City of San Diego's first ever honorary street name designation for Kathleen Harmon, a trailblazer and legendary community leader in Council District 4.

Kathleen Harmon has dedicated herself to making a difference in the 4th Council District by working with various community leaders, churches, and other organizations.

An advocate for education as well as social and economic justice, Ms. Harmon has been in the political arena for over 40 years working with elected officials, administrators, and department officials to ensure that our communities prosper.

I cannot think of any other person more deserving than Kathleen Harmon to receive this designation. I appreciate her and her work very much, and I look forward to the official honorary street name reveal on May 7th.

The honorary street name title will be placed on the 300 block of Welling Way between Madrone and La Sena Avenue in the Skyline-Paradise Hills community. It is the first designation in the city of San Diego after my policy proposal to create a streamline for honorary street names was approved in December.
